SECRET HUGHES BOOM TRACED TO BARNES

New York Chairman Said to be Urging Convention Support for His Former Enemy.

PENROSE ALSO SUSPECTED

Unwillingness in Pennsylvania to Instruct Delegates Worries Taft Supporters.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—News was received in Washington to-day which considerably disquieted the campaigners, particularly those in the Taft camp. It was to the efect that an underground movement has been in progress for some time looking to the nomination of Justice Hughes of the Supreme Court as a compromise candidate for President. What has really disturbed the managers is the report that New York, Pennsylvania, and possibly New Jersey are being manipulated in the interest of the scheme, and that inroads have been made in those States.

Of course, it is certain that if New York's 90 votes and Pennsylvania's 76 were to be subtracted from the Taft column there would be a complete realignment, to say nothing of the moral effect of such a revolution in the biggest Republican States of the Union. New Jersey has 28 votes, but in her case the moral effect of a switch would far outweigh the numerical consideration.

The news received here to-day, which may or may not be true, is to the effect that William Barnes, Jr., has been sending quietly for different leaders and asking them why they are for Taft.

"Don't you know," Barnes is reported as saying in effect, "that Taft can't be elected any more than Roosevelt can be nominated? Then why not bring out a third candidate who can both be nominated and elected?"

Mr. Barnes's attitude from the beginning has been dubious. For some time it was not known whether he was for Roosevelt or for Taft. At one time it was even reported that he was for Roosevelt. His heart has never been in either cause.

The linking of his name with the rumor that came from New York to-night has upset the Taft managers more than any other feature of the case. They scout the report, but they do not trust Barnes and they are uneasy.

In view of Mr. Barnes's bitter strife with Mr. Hughes when the latter was Governor of New York, the idea that he would do anything at all to advance the Justice's interests may appear absurd. But there are few men now prominent in the Republican Party with whom Barnes has not been at savage odds at some time, and politicians do not usually harbor grudges if the grudges are going to interfere with their purposes. Mr. Barnes showed that when he coquetted with the Roosevelt Presidential boom after bitterly antagonizing the Colonel, and even earlier, when he first prepared to be a Roosevelt man in 1910 and then came out against him.

Boies Penrose, in Pennsylvania, has been almost as much an object of suspicion as Barnes. The Taft managers have observed with wonder the number of Pennsylvania districts, all controlled by Penrose, wherein persons sure to be elected delegates are fulminating against instructions to delegates to the Chicago Convention.

There is McConnell, for instance, in the Lackawanna district, who will surely go to Chicago, and who is telling everybody that there is no sense in giving delegates instructions. Nobody has ever believed that these men would support Roosevelt, and why if they are sincerely for Taft they should object to instructions is a question that has given rise to many a discussion. The idea that Penrose may be in league with those who are scheming to bring Hughes out at the last moment occurred to the Taft and Roosevelt managers long before the news of to-day filtered into Washington.

Ex-Gov. Stokes made a speech yesterday at Trenton and declared that the Republican Party could not afford to nominate any one about whose election there was a reasonable doubt. "All Republicans," the ex-Governor is quoted as saying, "must feel able and willing to rally cheerfully around the candidate chosen. Any other course will lead to disaster."

And he is reported to have declared that "if the man to unite the party can not be found among the candidates, then party patriotism demands that differences be laid aside and a new standard bearer be selected for the struggle."

Some months ago ex-Assistant Postmaster General Perry S. Heath made a Western trip for the purpose of "looking over the ground." He was there about two months, nominally on a pleasure trip, but it was reported that he had really gone West for the purpose of finding out the chances for a third Presidential candidate, if one were brought out. Heath was nominally a Taft man. Whether this trip of his had anything to do with the sudden Hughes outcropping of to-night can not, of course, be said. It is certain, however, that the report received to-night, whether it is premature or not, is not the product of a momentary impulse, and that the Hughes scheme has been under careful consideration for some time. Whether it comes to anything or promptly collapses is a thing which only time can tell.

Nobody charges the Justice with any knowledge of the plan. When he went on the Supreme bench he is said to have promised President Taft to keep out of politics. That may be idle gossip, but whether he made any such promise or not, he has certainly kept aloof from politics ever since. Whatever is being done for him is quite surely being done without his knowledge or concurrence.

WILSON AS A BOOSTER.

Candidate's Name Used to Recommend a Baltimore Boarding House.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Over in Baltimore, by way of getting ready for the Democratic National Convention, they have got out a list of eligible boarding houses. Each one has the name and address and a space opposite for "remarks." One of them, under the head of "remarks," has this:

"This place is recommended by Woodrow Wilson, who once stopped here. Breakfast, 50 cents."

SENT JUDGE BOMB, HE SAYS.

Jacksonville Prisoner Also Declares He Is a Friend of Foulke E. Brandt.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 21.—Fred Newsom, arrested here as a vagrant, told Chief of Detectives Crawford this afternoon that he sent the infernal machine to Judge Rosalsky of New York that came so near ending the jurist's life.

The police are inclined to attach some credence to his story because he confessed to having robbed several homes near here. Search of places where Newsom said loot would be found has resulted in recovery of some of the stolen goods.

Newsom says he is a friend of Foulke E. Brandt, whom Judge Rosalsky sentenced to thirty years in prison. He says the package containing the infernal machine was handed to him by a person whose identity he refuses to divulge and that it already was addressed when he received it. He says he mailed it from Brunswick, Ga.

Newsom also is known by the name of Fred Price.

Special to The New York Times.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., March 21.—Warden Kaiser of Clinton Prison knows nothing of Fred Price of Newsom, who claims to be Foulke E. Brandt's friend. The records of the prison will be investigated fully in the morning to see if Newsom was here during Brandt's term in prison.

Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty was asked last night about Fred Price, alias Fred Newsom, and said he had received no official communication from the Jacksonville authorities. He intimated that if they had placed much credence in Price's statement they would have communicated with the local police immediately. There is nothing in the record room of Police Headquarters, he said, relative to a Fred Price.

Judge Rosalsky's secretary said last night that Judge Rosalsky had not been informed of the arrest of any suspect in the bomb case.

TWO DIE IN TRAIN CRASH.

Open Switch Throws Passenger Train Against a Freight.

Special to The New York Times.

TOMS RIVER, N. J., March 21.—By a head-on collision at Barnegat Pier at 6:05 o'clock this evening between the Long Branch express train on the Pennsylvania Railroad, which left Camden at 4:07 o'clock in the afternoon, and a freight train on a siding, two firemen were killed and three trainmen and two passengers were injured.

THE DEAD.

APPLEGATE, ARTHUR W., 535 Fulton Place, Camden, N. J., fireman of the freight train.

JONES, E. W., Asbury Park, fireman of the passenger train.

THE INJURED.

APPLEGATE, FRANK, Asbury Park, N. J., baggagemaster. Arm and nose broken.

BOUSE, E. E., Long Branch, N. J., engineer on passenger train. Injuries not serious.

JACKSON, HOWARD, a negro, Seaside Park, N. J., passenger. Slightly injured about back.

MEREDITH, C. C., 414 North Third Street, Camden, N. J., engineer of freight train. Badly injured about body.

RODGERS, Mrs. W. H., West Mantoloking, passenger. Injuries slight.

All the injured were taken to the Memorial Hospital, Long Branch, on a special train sent out from Camden.

The freight train had backed upon a switch and, according to the railroad authorities, the switch was left open. The passenger train was running at its usual speed when it crashed into the freight train. Both engines were demolished, and the tender of the passenger train telescoped the baggage car. The passenger train, in addition to the baggage car, consisted of three coaches and a mail car.

TAILORS PLOT FOR MILADY.

Next Fall's Coats Will Be Short to Help Her Look Young.

The cloak and suit designers met yesterday afternoon and evening at the Hotel Astor, and debated a weighty subject. The Chairman stated the question: "How long shall the coat of a woman's suit be for the Fall of 1912?"

Six hundred tailors were anxious to be heard on it. The fortunate few who caught the Chairman's eye delivered long, impassioned speeches.

"Women are determined to look young," said one speaker, "therefore we must make a short coat. A woman in a short coat looks ten years younger than in a long coat. It is impossible to force the market by suddenly making long coats after we have made them 24 and 26 inches for this Spring. Thirty-two inches for the woman of 5 feet 8 inches, and 34 for the taller woman. That is what we should determine on.

"But we should not overlook the skirt. Let us remember the skirt. What does a woman do when she tries on a skirt? Why, she looks at it, and says, 'Sir, that is a two-yard skirt. Cut it down. It will make me look nicer.' And we have to cut down the skirt. With a narrow skirt she cannot wear a long coat. It either flies back and looks ugly or if she buttons it up she can't walk. Let us make the short coat, so all the women can look young and pretty."

The 32-34 coat seemed to have all the better of it.

This is the third convention of the designers and their great aim is to set the style for American clothing without waiting for the verdict of the French designers.

WINTER TAKES A FINAL FLING

With Icy Arm at Youthful, Budding Spring.

Possibly as a rebuke to the published statement on Wednesday that Spring had arrived officially the elements indulged in a final wintry fling yesterday that covered the streets with ice and snow and caused considerable delay to traffic.

The hailstorms of Wednesday night and early yesterday morning caused trouble on the telegraph wires up-State and further West. Both the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies had trouble, but no place was cut off entirely.

Forecaster Scarr of the local United States Weather Bureau did not have any cheering news last night for those who are thinking of taking a trip to the country at the week-end. The average temperature yesterday was 28 degrees, which, he says, was the lowest average for March 21 since 1899. At 11 P. M. it was 25, and may go down to 20 degrees to-day. The storm centre has moved from Western Pennsylvania to Eastern Virginia, and there is a chance for clear and colder weather. The winds will be light. The only cheering note in the somewhat gloomy weather outlook is given out by the Hudson Navigation Company, which announces the starting of its boats to Albany on March 25.

MAYOR TO APPROVE NEW SUBWAY PLANS

Tells Estimate Board He Will Now Sanction Interborough and B. R. T. Proposals.

TO PUSH ENABLING BILL

Legislature Asked to Pass Amendments to Subway Act—No Opposition at 7th Av. Extension Hearing.

Mayor Gaynor announced at the meeting of the Board of Estimate yesterday that he was prepared to approve immediately the rapid transit plans of the Interborough and Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, which are now before the Public Service Commission. For some time he has withheld his sanction from the upper Seventh Avenue and Queensboro Bridge section of the Fifty-ninth Street line proposed by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit, and the new line from Atlantic Avenue, Brooklyn, to Malbone Street, near Prospect Park, which will connect the Fourth Avenue, Brooklyn, subway with the Brighton Beach line of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit.

There are, altogether, President McAneny said, nine sections of the proposed Interborough lines, and seven of those planned by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit which need the Mayor's approval. Mr. Gaynor has requested Joseph Haag, Secretary of the Board of Estimate, to provide him with a list of those which have already passed the board for his immediate approval. The matter came up when a communication of the Public Service Commission recommending to the Board of Estimate the proposals of the Interborough was brought up. The Transit Committee, of which Mr. McAneny is Chairman, was to have reported on them, but was not ready to do so.

"I may say," said Mr. McAneny, "that the committee is unanimous in its general approval of the plans, but it has taken us longer than we expected to complete our report and get out the necessary figures. So I ask that the matter be put over for a week."

Then Mr. McAneny asked unanimous consent for a resolution urging the Legislature to pass at its present session the bill introduced into the Senate by Senator Wagner at the request of the Public Service Commission so amending the Rapid Transit act as to make the proposed agreements with the Interborough and Brooklyn Rapid Transit legal. The resolution set forth that the proposed subway plans would extend rapid-transit facilities to every part of the city and would increase threefold the single-fare area. It declared that the plans were the best possible for the city and then said:

> Whereas, The passage of said act would not commit the city to action of any sort nor limit or restrict the authority of the Public Service Commission and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, merely broadens their powers to the degree deemed necessary; and,
>
> Whereas, The failure of the passage of the said act would leave the rapid transit situation in confusion and put off indefinitely the relief for which the people of the city are waiting, the Legislature is earnestly urged to pass the measure promptly.

The resolution also asks the Corporation Counsel to present this petition at any hearings on the bill. The Mayor announced that the Corporation Counsel had already been instructed to do what he could to facilitate the passage of the measure.

Certain amendments, it was learned yesterday, had been made to the measure since it was introduced at the wish of the Public Service Commission. They were drawn up at Albany, and their exact purport was not known yesterday by the Public Service Commission. The bill was prepared by the counsel of the commission in consultation with Richard Reid Rogers of the Interborough and Charles A. Collin of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit legal force.

It could not be learned yesterday whether in these amendments any changes have been made to meet the criticisms which the bill has encountered. One of the chief points objected to is that the Public Service Commission and the Board of Estimate, acting in harmony, receive authority to dispense with public advertising and letting for the operation of certain new lines. This clause, it is understood, was introduced to place the B. R. T. on the same footing as the Interborough, which, under its contracts with the city, is entitled to get the contract for the operation of certain new lines, which are considered extensions of the old ones, without competiton.

The city officials, who have followed the subway situation closely, were not disposed yesterday to regard these objections as serious. They pointed out that the provisions in the amendments would apply only to such new lines as would be operated by the company already running the old roads. For example, if the city determined on an extension of one of the B. R. T. lines in Brooklyn it would be absurd to suppose that any one else but the B. R. T. would undertake its operation, and consequently the advertising for bids would be a mere matter of form.

Another point on which there has been much criticism is a technical clause, which was inserted in order to make possible the third tracking of the elevated lines on a twenty-five-year franchise with three twenty-year extensions. It is contended by those opposed to the bill that this opens the way for granting to the Manhattan Railroad Company a perpetual franchise for the third tracks as well as for the present lines. The commission contends that such a meaning cannot be fairly read into the clause, and that the rights of the city are sufficiently guarded.

Meanwhile an important step was taken yesterday in the Board of Estimate, which will facilitate the construction of the lower Seventh Avenue Subway by the Interborough and will reduce its cost. A public hearing was held on the proposed extension of Seventh Avenue from Greenwich Street to Carmine Street, the widening of Varick Street from Carmine to Franklin Street, and the extension of Varick Street from Franklin Street to West Broadway. This will provide a thoroughfare under which the Seventh Avenue Subway can get from that avenue to West Broadway. The change will cost $6,000,000. If this plan had not been approved great expense would have been incurred through the necessity of carrying the subway under private property. As it is, the city will pay $3,000,000 and the rest will be raised by assessment. There was no opposition to the plan.

Borough President Connolly introduced yesterday before the Board of Estimate a resolution calling for the opening of the Steinway Tunnel at the earliest possible moment. He declared that the installation of an escalator at Lexington Avenue and Forty-second Street in Manhattan and the opening of the station at Jackson Avenue and Fourth Street in Long Island City were the only things that prevented running the cars. Many property owners in Queens, he pointed out, had spent large sums in expectation of the opening of this route, and would be willing to pay the Interborough to get the tunnel working.

FIRST TROLLEY CAR FROM BOSTON HERE

TRIP DONE IN TWO DAYS

With a Sleep Over Night at New Haven—Journey Pleasant Despite the Storm.

The first trolley car to come through from Boston pulled into the loop at 129th Street and Third Avenue about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, bringing a dozen street railway men, members of the Street Railway Club of Boston, and officials of Eastern lines who have been in Boston attending a meeting of the New England Street Railway Association. In order to make the trip possible, it was necessary to lay several hundred yards of track near Stamford, to connect one line with another.

Trolley trips from Massachusetts to New York have been made by many, but it always necessitated one or more changes of cars. The first through car was the big apple-green private car of L. S. Storrs of the Connecticut Railway Company. No attempt at record breaking was made, for the journey was more one of pleasure than business, and beside the bad weather of yesterday would have precluded any speeding.

The car left Boston on Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock, and came by way of Worcester, Springfield, and Hartford, reaching New Haven at 8 that evening. The party stayed at the Hotel Taft over night, and left at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning. It was snowing then and there were some delays on account of the weather, but they were not long.

Instructions had been telegraphed to Stamford to connect the gap in the lines between Darien and that city. A gang of trackmen started at once on the work, and they were just completing the track laying when the big green car came in sight. There was a little delay at the connecting point, and then the car went slowly over the new-laid tracks and reached the other line without accident.

T. M. McCarter of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey said last night that the car was the first to make the through trip between Boston and New York. He told of the track laying which completed the through connection. It had been a very pleasant journey, he said, in spite of the snowstorm of yesterday. There had been no especial incidents and no accidents.

The trip came about as the result of a discussion on Tuesday night at the end of the association's meeting. The railway men were talking of their home-going, and some of them began to discuss the advantages of trolley traveling. The pleasures of such a ride were compared to faster railroad travel, and one of the group exclaimed, "Well, what's the matter with taking a trolley ride?" The suggestion met with such favor that Mr. Storrs put his car at their disposal and the railroad men made the journey as his guests.

The car is a well-appointed observation car, used by the officials of the line in traveling. Two negro stewards were in attendance, and there were on board those things which gladden the heart on journeys.

When the car arrived at the beginning of Third Avenue, Manhattan, it was switched into the track between the loop, and its passengers quickly disembarked. They left at once, and the car started north again. The railway men went downtown by many routes, a majority going to the Grand Central Station, where they took trains for their homes. They were all delighted with the journey.

Those who made the trip were T. M. McCarter, President of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey; E. C. Foster, President of the Manchester (N. H.) Electric Lighting and Railway Company; C. S. Sargent, Vice President of the Boston Elevated Railroad; H. C. Donecker, Secretary of the American Electrical Association; E. P. Shaw, General Manager of the Boston-Worcester Street Railway Company; C. S. Clark, Secretary of the Massachusetts Street Railway Association; W. A. Trubee, railroad expert of Bridgeport; H. B. Page, General Manager of the Worcester Consolidated Street Railway Company; J. B. Porter, General Manager of the New York & Stamford Railway; J. H. Calhoun, Superintendent of the Westchester Street Railway Company; M. J. Leary, Traffic Manager of the Connecticut Street Railway Company, and J. K. Punderford, General Manager of the Connecticut Company.

UNIONS OFFER REWARD.

Employes on Southern Pacific Seek to Fix Explosion Cause.

Special to The New York Times.

GALVESTON, Texas, March 21.—The various labor unions operating on the Southern Pacific have offered $5,000 reward for identification of the author of the locomotive explosion in the Southern Pacific shops in San Antonio, which resulted in the death of twenty-six people and the injury of forty more.

The representatives of organized labor declare the explosion was an accident, and without reflecting upon the non-union laborers employed in the shops since the institution of the strike several months ago, declare it was not the work or plot of any organized labor or sympathizer. It is declared that the investigation of the railroad and private engineers does not show the catastrophe to be anything more than an explosion due perhaps to carelessness or oversight. The offer of the unions goes to the extent that it will prosecute the guilty person if he be a union man to the limit of the law and defray all expense of such prosecution.

The investigation is still under way, and the board is reserving its decision until the Federal Inspectors have concluded their examination.

HOLD MAN FOR THEFT OF DRUMMOND GEMS

Dan Callahan, Arrested in St. Louis, Is Accused of Robberies Aggregating $250,000.

BETRAYED BY INDEX FINGER

Post Office Inspector Meets Him by Chance in Restaurant—Stole Jewelry of New York Firm.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 21.—An index finger with the first joint missing and the coincident that a Post Office Inspector, who had been trailing him for eighteen months, sat opposite him at a restaurant table, caused the arrest of Daniel Callahan late last night at the Union Station. Federal authorities say Callahan is wanted for complicity in three diamond robberies aggregating $250,000.

Callahan, the police assert, was the leader of the gang which stole $100,000 worth of diamonds from Mrs. Maldwin Drummond's stateroom on the steamer Amerika of the Hamburg-American Line in 1911. He is also said to have led the gang who bound and gagged two men and stole $10,000 worth of jewels from Edward Alberti's store in Chicago in April, 1911. Mrs. Drummond, who was the widow of Marshall Field, Jr., of Chicago, is now abroad, probably at her home in England.

Callahan's capture was effected by Post Office Inspector Bunsen, who arrived in St. Louis from Springfield, Mo., at 8 o'clock last night. Bunsen had been searching for Callahan, but had no reason to believe Callahan was in this part of the country.

Bunsen went to a restaurant across from the station for dinner. Two men sat opposite him at the table. He paid no attention to them at first. One of the men raised his napkin to his lips and Benson noticed that the first joint of the index finger was missing. Callahan had this deformity. Looking closer at the man Bunsen saw a resemblance to photographs of Callahan in the possession of the Post Office Department.

Bunsen finished his dinner, and on leaving the restaurant called Detective Dave O'Brien of the Union Station Squad and ordered the arrest of the men.

Callahan at first denied his identity. At Police Headquarters he said he was George Willis, a clerk of 3,518 Olive Street. His companion gave his name as Charles F. Miller, and said he had just come from Kansas City.

Detectives obtained from the Post Office Inspectors the original of the photograph of Callahan which was printed on circulars calling for his arrest. The photograph was made when Callahan was in Joliet Penitentiary ten years ago. The prisoner then admitted that he was the Callahan described in the circular, and that he had served time at Pontiac and Joliet on robbery charges. He refused to make any statement about the jewelry robberies of which he is now accused.

Crimes with which the police connect Callahan besides those mentioned are:

The robbery of St. Louis Post Office Sub-Station about a year and a half ago. Several arrests were made, following a pistol duel between the robbers and the thieves.

The looting of two sample cases belonging to Sloan & Co. in the store of Spaulding & Co., Chicago, Feb. 7, 1911. The robbers obtained $15,000 and $4,000 was offered for their capture.

The looting of a truck containing boxes of jewelry belonging to Joseph Fahys & Co., Chicago, April 21, 1911. The robbers obtained $8,000; $1,000 reward is outstanding.

The robbery of the Psi Upsilon Fraternity house at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 27, 1911. About $2,000 in jewelry was stolen; reward offered, $1,000.

The robbery of a residence near Boston Oct. 5, 1911, $5,000 in jewelry stolen; reward offered, $2,000.

The stealing of several sample cases of jewelry from the lobby of the Palmer House, Chicago, Oct. 25. The loss was $5,000.

The looting of residences near Germantown, Penn., and Wilkesbarre, Penn., November, 1911. About $25,000 was obtained.

The robbery Jan. 22, 1912, of the jewelry store of D. L. Dover, 211 Second Avenue, Seattle, Wash. About $1,500 worth of gems taken.

These robberies netted Callahan and his pals $144,000, it is said.

The rewards total more than $13,000 and may be paid to Detective David O'Brien, as Federal officers are not permitted to accept rewards.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 21.—Callahan, who is 46 years old, is a native of this city, having been born on the South Side. He has many aliases, and since the theft of the Drummond jewels a search has been prosecuted for him extending over two continents. Callahan slipped into Chicago and robbed the jewelry store of Edward Alberti at 1,246 Milwaukee Avenue. On April 26 four men in an automobile dashed up to Alberti's place, forced nine persons in the store to lie face downward on the floor, bound them hand and foot, ransacked the showcases, and escaped with money and jewelry amounting to nearly $20,000. The robbery occurred at 10 o'clock in the morning, when the street was crowded. The automobile had been stolen the night before.

Of the jewelry stolen $10,000 worth belonged to the New York firm of Strauss & Strauss. These jewels were in two sample cases, which Norman Strauss, a salesman for the company, dropped when the robbers covered him with revolvers.

Martin Thorsen and Albert Humphrey were convicted, the verdict carrying life imprisonment. Upon the trial it was shown that Callahan planned the robbery and he was indicted.

Callahan walked into the jewelry establishment of Spaulding & Co., Michigan Boulevard and Van Buren Street, and picked up two sample cases belonging to Sloan & Co., jewelers of Maiden Lane, New York, containing jewels valued at $20,000.

The Agents of the Hamburg-American Line said yesterday that there were no passengers booked on the Amerika on the voyage when Mrs. Drummond was robbed of her diamonds by the name of Callahan or Miller. There was a man booked in the second cabin as Hermann Mueller, but he did not sail. The passenger list had been thoroughly scrutinized, it was stated, but no tangible clue to the robbery could be obtained.

Mrs. Drummond told the ship's officers that she wore the pearl necklace valued at $55,000, the diamond rings valued at $12,000 and $9,000, respectively, with other jewelry amounting to a total value of $130,000, on the night they were stolen from her cabin. She did not retire before 1 A. M., and her husband placed them for her in a bureau drawer in her cabin which shut with a loud click. Mrs. Drummond was aroused once by a noise during the night, but went to sleep again. In the morning when her maid went to get the jewels to put them away they were gone. The day previous to the robbery she had worn the pearl necklace on deck.

The wooden transom above her cabin door was so arranged that any person standing on the berth in an empty cabin opposite could get the angle of vision on the bureau drawer in Mrs. Drummond's cabin.

The report of the robbery created much excitement at Police Headquarters when the Amerika docked on Sunday afternoon Feb. 11 a year ago. Detectives searched the vessel from truck to keel and the stewards were not allowed ashore. Detectives sailed on the ship to Hamburg, but they failed to discover any trace of the thieves or the stolen jewels.

Mrs. Drummond stayed in New York for a month while inquiries were being made, and finally the insurance company paid $100,000 for which the jewels, including the pearl necklace, were insured.

COLONEL LOSES WISCONSIN.

Roosevelt's Name Will Not Even Be on the Primary Ballot.

Special to The New York Times.

MADISON, Wis., March 21.—Under a ruling of the Secretary of State to-day, Col. Roosevelt will not get the Wisconsin delegation to the National Republican Convention. His name will not be printed upon the ballot to be used at the preferential primary election for the Presidency. Only the names of President Taft and Senator La Follette are to have official recognition.

If Col. Roosevelt's supporters wish to vote for him they will have to write his name in the ballot under the caption "Independent." The La Follette and Taft supporters each have complete slates of delegates in the field, but there is no Roosevelt delegate to be voted on. If the Colonel gets any Badger State convention vote it will be by second choice of men named on the other tickets.

ANTHONY N. BRADY LOSES.

Verdict for $560,000 Against Him Returned by Tennessee Court.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 21.—Judgment for $560,000 against Anthony N. Brady of New York was obtained in the Tennessee Supreme Court to-day by W. J. Oliver of this city. The decision is final, agreement having been made to this effect, and Mr. Oliver holds securities guaranteeing payment of the judgment.

The suit was for the recovery of damages alleged to have been sustained when Brady, under contract to the Chattanooga and Tennessee River Power Company to build a lock and dam at Hale's Bar, in the Tennessee River, ordered Mr. Oliver, a sub-contractor, to vacate work before the expiration of the contract time. Mr. Oliver sued for $435,000, the amount he says he expended. Interest was allowed by the court, increasing the judgment to the larger figure.

WIDE HUNT FOR MISSING MAN.

Police on the Lookout for One Who Disappeared on the Pacific Coast.

The police have been asked to assist in the search for William Carson Long, 25 years old, a wealthy young lumberman, who disappeared from North Yakima, Wash., on March 5. He was last seen walking in the direction of Natchez River, near North Yakima. A dragging of the river, which is very shallow, failed to recover the body, and the friends of the missing man now believe that he set out suddenly on a trip to some other part of the country.

Long is 6 feet 2 inches tall and weighs 170 pounds. He has dark hair, dark complexion, and dark-brown eyes. He was employed by the Cascade Lumber Company of North Yakima at the time he disappeared. His father is Theodore K. Long of Chicago. His parents were on a trip to Panama when the young man dropped out of sight.

SPEECH HINGES ON $1,250.

Nature of the Colonel's St. Louis Talk Is Matter of Doubt.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, March 21.—About $1,250 is between Roosevelt and a political speech in St. Louis next Thursday night. It all depends upon the question of who pays for the hall. If the Million Population Club pays the bills Col. Roosevelt will just talk on anything except politics.

Whether he will be permitted to make a political speech will be decided by the Executive Committee of the club which will entertain the former President.

"When I handed Mr. Roosevelt an invitation to be the guest of the club I reminded him that he was not to talk politics, as the club is not a political organization," declared Secretary Otto F. Karbee to-day. "The Colonel, of course, understands the situation and gave the club his promise.

"It is proposed to have the Colonel speak in the armory at Grand and Manchester Avenues. This will cost about $1,250, including rental of the armory, chairs, music, and decorations. I believe the Million Population Club would have no difficulty in raising this sum. If the club defrays the expense and the speech is under the club's auspices Col. Roosevelt will not discuss politics.

"It may be the club will turn the Colonel over to his political friends after the dinner at the Planters' Hotel, in which event they would defray the expenses and the speech undoubtedly would be a political one."

Mr. Karbee declared that Gov. Hadley and Hiram Lloyd, leaders of the Roosevelt third term boom in Missouri, had not consulted with the Million Population Club about the Colonel's entertainment.

ANNOY CARNEGIE'S BEAUTY.

Iron Master's Prettiest Girl Almost Mobbed in the Street.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Penn., March 21.—Virginia Lee, the twenty-year-old blue-eyed, brown-haired stenographer, is to-day the most popular girl in Pittsburgh, if not in the whole country. Since Andrew Carnegie declared her to be "the prettiest girl in the world," Miss Lee has been swamped with marriage proposals from wealthy and poor men, old and young.

Then, too, came a score of telegraphic offers from complexion cream manufacturers, artists, and theatrical managers, all of whom made her flattering propositions. One artist, a New Yorker whose name Miss Lee refused to reveal, offered her $5,000 to pose for him, remarking that "if Andrew Carnegie says you are beautiful, you must be all of that, for Mr. Carnegie knows a beautiful woman when he sees her."

When Miss Lee came along Smithfield Street this morning on her way to work in the Oliver Building, wholly unconscious of the story printed about her, she was met by an army of photographers.

"One moment, Miss, please," they pleaded in a chorus. But Miss Lee concealed her face with her muff and foiled the camera men. It was with considerable difficulty that she avoided the crowds of inquisitive people who gathered about the entrance of the building where she is employed.

This evening when she left the building to go home she was again greeted by an army of photographers, some of whom had traveled here from other cities.

"This is very embarrassing to me," Miss Lee said to-night. "I certainly thank Mr. Carnegie for his compliment, but I am sure that had he known how embarrassing this would prove to me he would have kept his opinion of me all to Mr. Carnegie.

"No, emphatically no, I will not consider any of the propositions made to me by wife-hunters or those desirous of printing my picture on face-cream bottles, or the theatrical managers, or even that New York artist. I'm not so beautiful as all that," she declared, with a show of anger in her big blue eyes.

Miss Lee declined to give the names of the wealthy men who offered to marry her. "I intend working for my living," she said.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 21.—Just what Mr. Carnegie did say in his letter to Miss Lee's father could not be learned to-night, but it was intimated that it was not quite what it has been represented to be. Mr. Carnegie's secretary promised a full statement to-morrow.

ASQUITH REPELS BALFOUR ATTACK

Advances Minimum Wage Bill, Defeating Unionist Motion to Reject.

NO DISSOLUTION AS YET

Balfour Denies He Wants to Upset Government—But Bonar Law May Be Deposed.

3,000,000 ARE NOW IDLE

Misery Throughout Country Increased by Cold — Miners' Leaders Seem More Willing to Compromise.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Friday, March 22.—Events have moved dramatically in England in the last twenty-four hours, and it was thought during yesterday that there would be even more startling developments by midnight.

Premier Asquith's fall was freely predicted, and the Right Hon. A. J. Balfour was prepared, it was said, to accept the King's invitation to take office and carry the country over a crisis which the Liberals had proved themselves incompetent to handle.

As the debate in the House of Commons on the Miners' Minimum Wage bill progressed last evening, however, it became evident that the Government's knell had not yet sounded, and when finally the House divided before rising the Ministerialist majority was found to be 123.

Some prognostications of the Liberals' downfall are still being made, but they lack the enthusiastic confidence of those heard early yesterday in Unionist quarters. Nevertheless, the day's events were of importance in the political history of England.

Bonar Law's Failure.

Mr. Balfour's reappearance as the spokesman of the Opposition marked a crisis within a crisis. It was the practical deposition of Andrew Bonar Law.

The Member for Bootle will be retained in the post of nominal leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons until he can be conveniently and politely shelved, but his limitations have been too apparent and his leadership has been not far removed from a fiasco.

In the emergency the Unionists turned to their old and tried leader, who, when he resigned last year, intimated that his services would be at the disposal of his party should they be required.

The Unionists had not an embarras de choix. There was nobody else in their ranks who had shown the special ability necessary to direct operations. It was Balfour or nobody. His return was welcomed with wild enthusiasm, which was but a poor compliment to the man who was forced to put on his shoes.

The news that Mr. Balfour would move the rejection of the Minimum Wage bill in the House of Commons became known on Wednesday at the close of a day of depression and doubt in the Unionist ranks. It was like a clarion blast, heartening and inspiring.

The party councils had been divided. It was stated that Mr. Balfour had consented to move the rejection of the bill at the request of Mr. Bonar Law. This was a mere form of politeness. The Unionists generally were far from approving the idea of Mr. Law taking such decided action, as they wholeheartedly acclaimed when the moving spirit was Mr. Balfour. Until Mr. Balfour's decision was announced his name had scarcely been mentioned among the rank and file of Unionists. As one Conservative paper phrases it:

"The leader whose strength had been so freely expended in the conflicts of the past few years was not expected to step forward from his retirement and throw himself into the centre of a crisis more grave and more decisive of the fate of England than any within living recollection. But, now that his fortunate resolution has been taken, it is evident at once that this is the hour for Mr. Balfour."

An Indefinite Situation.

Last evening when Mr. Balfour announced in the House of Commons that there would be no dissolution of Parliament in case the Government were overthrown over the Minimum Wage bill, this was practically almost the only definite point from which a view of the situation could be taken, and it indicated how complex that situation was that none of the authorities seemed to agree as to what the upshot would be.

The Liberals expressed confidence that the position of the Government would not be seriously imperiled. One of them said that the Unionists could not possibly accept office at such a critical moment without a reliable Parliamentary majority. Another described it as a purely political move, which was only a side issue in comparison with the momentous issues pending.

Apparently the Unionists were not of one mind in regard to the matter. One politician who is very closely in touch with the Tory leaders stated that not only were the Unionists prepared to take office, but that they had plans ready for coping with the crisis which would insure them a sufficient Parliamentary majority to enable them to carry on the government of the country until the present difficulties were settled and the country could be summoned to elect a new Parliament.

Government's Majority 123.

LONDON, Friday, March 22.—The Right Hon. Arthur J. Balfour's motion for the rejection of the Minimum Wage bill was defeated, and the Government's bill passed its second reading in the House of Commons last night by a majority of 123—a larger majority than the Ministerialists themselves had hoped for. The vote was 348 to 225. The Laborites and Nationalists voted with the Government.

The Prime Minister formally moved the second reading of the bill and then immediately yielded the floor to Mr. Balfour, who, in moving its rejection, temporarily reassumed the leadership of the Opposition.

The debate on the bill served to dissipate much alarm which was created by the announcement on Wednesday night that the Unionists intended to oppose the passage of the measure. It is now evident that the Conservative leaders had no idea of upsetting the Governement, but that they merely desired to wash their hands of responsibility for the bill and had no wish to assume office themselves.

Mr. Balfour pointed out the gravity of the crisis which, he said, had been brought about "by a single organization, acting within its legal powers, threatening to paralyze the whole trade of the country." He declared that the Government, in endeavoring to pass the bill, was deceiving both itself and the House of Commons.

The debate showed that the labor leaders were in a more reasonable mood. Although they tabled a number of amendments, one for the inclusion of the Miners' Federation's schedule of minimum wages, it is believed that they now will be satisfied with, and that the Government will be willing to concede, the inclusion of the 5 shilling ($1.25) and 2 shilling (50 cents) minima.

Altogether the tension has been greatly relaxed, and, although the debate may be carried into next week, it would not be surprising if the Government's original programme were carried out and the bill became a law by Saturday. The Conservatives are not likely to take any official action in the committee stage, which will be concerned for the most part with the Labor amendments.

In the course of last night's debate Austen Chamberlain confessed that the Opposition was not anxious to take office, but said it would not shirk the responsibility if called to office. The bill, he said, stood for a policy of surrender, and would engender similar demands from other trades.

House of Commons Crowded.

The gravity of Great Britain's National peril arising from the labor war was reflected in the tense atmosphere of the House when the bill came up for its second reading. The House had not been so crowded for years. Every gallery was packed.

Mr. Balfour's speech is everywhere regarded as a notable one. "The country," said the ex-Premier, "has never before been faced with a crisis such as this. We are witnessing the new, strange, and portentous spectacle of a single organization, acting within its legal powers, threatening to paralyze the whole trade of the country." He added:

"There is no indication that the leaders of the movement desired to temper the use of their legal powers with any consideration of mercy. Was there ever an American trust at any period of its existence which used or misused the powers given to it by the law to the detriment of private interests and general trade to the extent we are now witnessing?"

Cries of "Yes!" from the Labor benches greeted Mr. Balfour's question.

Mr. Balfour said the Government had hastened under threats to yield to the conditions laid down by the miners. He complained that the Government sanctioned the tearing up of existing agreements without a word of protest, and declared that there was no justification for the Government's attempt to force "this colossal revolution" through the House of Commons in less than a week.

Balfour Doesn't Want Election.

Mr. Balfour concluded by saying that, even assuming that the Government were defeated, there could not be a dissolution, as it was impossible to add the confusion of a general election to the horror of the strike. He intimated that, although the Unionists intended to test the opinion of the House regarding the methods of the Government, they would after that do their best to see that the policy of the Government had its chance.

Premier Asquith, who followed Mr. Balfour, asserted that the Government held an absolutely even balance between the disputants. The Government, he said, had tried by every form of persuasion and argument to negotiate to bring the parties to an agreement, but had failed, and it could not allow the population and industries of the country to starve.

The Government, the Prime Minister said, believed that the Minimum Wage bill was a necessary preliminary to any further steps, "which God forbid should be necessary."

Sir Edward Grey, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, denied that the bill would create trouble in the future. New circumstances had arisen, he said, and the door had been opened with regard to a minimum wage and could not be closed again. It would be futile for Parliament to bury its head in the sand and try to ignore the question. It would not make trade struggles easier to avoid by refusing to face it. Within a few weeks, perhaps days, they would be dealing not with the causes, but with the terrible consequences of the strike. That was why the Government had introduced the bill.

If the bill failed, continued the Foreign Secretary, the Government must protect the nation by every resource in its power, but he appealed to the owners and miners alike to unite in a common-sense spirit of reasonableness and to see that it would not be necessary to resort to those means.

Labor Member's Demand.

William Brace, a Welsh Labor member, said that if the Government would not amend the bill to include the miners' entire schedule it should at least amend it to include their irreducible minima, 5s. for men and 2s. for boys, so that when the miners went before the district boards they would be certain of some definite basis of settlement.

"We want," he said, "a settlement. I believe that if we have a settlement in this way it will be permanent."

He declared that the motion of the Opposition to reject the bill was a futile method of meeting a great crisis, adding: "In a great war we forget party. This is a war fought out in the homes and at the hearths of the people. We shall vote for a second reading, and to-morrow shall move amendments."

Earl Winterton, Conservative, opposed the bill, on the ground that he had been told that it would fail to settle the strike if it were passed, while it offered inducements to the miners to shirk work, and thus reduce the coal output.

The division followed.

The mine owners characterize the Minimum Wage bill as a "blackmailing makeshift." Many of them contend that the passage of the bill will condemn numbers of the less productive collieries to permanent abandonment. They demand radical amendments to the bill, providing specific safeguards and giving the powers of an arbitrator to the Chairmen of the district boards, who, they say, should be appointed by the Lord Chief Justice of England and the Lord Justice General of Scotland within their respective jurisdictions, "because political considerations entered so freely into the Government's proposals." For this reason the owners fear that appointments of Chairmen of district boards by the Board of Trade would possibly be biased.

Situation Becoming Desperate.

Unless the miners resume work at the beginning of next week the dislocation of trade and the distress will become unprecedented. Every day sees further curtailment of business and railway services. On some of the Northern lines all freight trains have been abandoned.

It is announced that the Great Eastern Railway, which up to the present, because of its enormous coal reserve, has been able to maintain a full service, will begin to cut down next week. The big tramway company serving the London suburbs has given its employes notice that if the strike continues it will not be able to run any cars after the end of the month.

From all the great industrial districts come tales of increasing destitution, intensified by the cold and inclement weather, and, in the Northern counties, snow and sleet.

The Paisley Thread Mills were closed down yesterday, letting out 12,000 workers. The ports are all congested by idle shipping. Tonnage amounting to 100,000 is lying idle at the Southampton docks, including the liners Oceanic, Majestic, St. Paul, New York, and Philadelphia.

It is estimated that, besides the 1,000,000 miners on strike, nearly 2,000,000 other persons have now been rendered idle.

The people in many centres daily besiege the offices of the Mayors, where relief is freely distributed. It is thought probable that unless something is quickly done to bring the crisis to an end hunger marches such as that which took place on Wednesday night in Grimsby, where 300 starving men marched to the Town Hall and begged for relief, will become a common sight all over the country.

A pitched battle occurred yesterday at Kirkconnel, Dumfriesshire, between striking miners and the police. Many heads were broken. The police ultimately routed the miners, of whom ten were arrested. The miners, incensed at the non-unionists' resumption of work, had attacked the non-unionists and were beating them severely when the police appeared on the scene. A series of police charges ensued, in which the policemen's clubs were freely used.

IRISH AID TO DRAFT BILL.

Redmond and O'Connor Called in Consultation Over Home Rule.

LONDON, March 21.—That the Home Rule bill has not been yet finally drafted is evident from the fact that the Irish leaders were called into consultation yesterday with the Cabinet committee concerning details of the measure.

The meeting was clothed in secrecy. It leaked out this afternoon that John Redmond and T. P. O'Connor had spent two and a half hours in Premier Asquith's official residence, in Downing Street, wrestling with the Premier, Augustine Birrell, the Irish Secretary, and other members of the Cabinet over the financial provisions of the proposed bill. The difficulties in this respect are understood to be still unsolved.

NO BAIL FOR TOM MANN.

Labor Leader Remanded on Charge of Inciting Troops to Mutiny.

MANCHESTER, March 21.—Tom Mann, the well-known labor leader, was to-day remanded by the Salford Magistrates, before whom he was brought up on a charge of "feloniously, maliciously, and advisedly publishing certain printed mater called The Syndicalist, endeavoring to persuade persons serving in the forces of his Majesty, the King, on land or sea, from their duty and allegiance to his Majesty and inducing the said persons to commit traitorous and mutinous practice."

Bail was refused.

REJECT MINERS' DEMANDS.

But Soft Coal Operators May Consider a Compromise.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 21.—All the demands of the 200,000 miners in the bituminous coal fields of Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois for a 10 per cent. increase in pay and shorter working hours were voted down by the operators to-day.

As a final effort to prevent a prolonged shutdown of the mines after April 1, and possibly a strike, the whole dispute was then referred to a sub-committee. This sub-committee, composed of eight miners' delegates and eight operators, will convene at 9 A. M. to-morrow to consider the possibility of a compromise to be recommended to the general conference.

Both operators and miners declared after the union demands had been refused that the coal situation throughout the country was grave. Intimations were made by John P. White, President of the United Mine Workers of America, that the negotiations here might continue until next Monday, when the union's policy committee will convene.

"The action of the sub-committee will be by no means final," said Mr. White, "it merely may recommend. It may come back with recommendations which neither side will find agreeable. If we reach no agreement by April 1 a strike will automatically follow, for we can't work without an agreement. It will be a question as to just how long a suspension of business will last, for there is bound to be a suspension."

The operators said they did not look upon the reference of the dispute to a sub-committee as holding out any prospect of immediate settlement.

"We have not much encouragement when the operators are on record as refusing the demands and the miners are saying they will not yield," said E. A. Cole of Columbus, Ohio, representing the operators. Reports had been received by Mr. Cole that the bituminous coal already mined would last a month after April 1.

Thomas L. Lewis, former President of the union, said the present critical situation was merely a repetition of what took place every two years when a wage scale was to be drawn up. He thought a settlement would be reached within a few days.

OPERATORS RECRUITING MEN.

600 Men Engaged at Philadelphia for Anthracite Field.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 21.—Belief that the hard coal miners intend to quit work at midnight, March 31, when the three-year contract expires, has led the operators to prepare to protect their collieries in event of trouble, and they are now engageing men to work as guards, cooks, waiters, and firemen in the mining camps.

On the second floor of 15 North Tenth Street, an employment agency is recruiting men for the expected strike. About 600 men have already been accepted.

The cooks are to receive $2.50 a day, and an increase of $1.50 a day if they prove acceptible. The utility men will get $2.50 a day. Transportation to and from the mining camps, board, and lodging, also are offered as inducements.

The employers say that the men who are being engaged now may be called on next week. By Tuesday or Wednesday the first trainload of employes is expected to leave for the colliery districts. The proprietor of a restaurant in West Philadelphia offered to supply forty college students as cooks.

WON'T USE STRIKEBREAKERS.

Anthracite Operators Deny That They Are Engaging Outside Labor.

In connection with the rumors to the effect that the anthracite operators are preparing for a suspension of work on April 1 by engaging strikebreakers to go to the coal fields, the Operators' Committee gave out the following statement yesterday:

> The statements, some of which have been published to the effect that the operators are engaging outside labor against a possible suspension or strike, have no foundation in fact, as far as the principal operators are concerned.
>
> No such action has been taken in the past in like emergencies, nor is contemplated now.

The operators declare that the strikebreaker would not serve their purpose, and say that outside labor would only create more bad feeling in the coal fields.

FOR STATE LABOR COURT.

Senator Griffin Introduces Bill Covering Arbitration in Wage Disputes.

ALBANY, March 21.—A bill creating a court of arbitration to determine disputes between labor and capital was introduced to-day by Senator Griffin. It provides for three Judges at a yearly salary of $6,000, a clerk at $3,000, a deputy and stenographer at $2,000 each, and a Marshal at $1,200.

Provision is made for the registration of all employers, all labor organizations, and the filing of all trade agreements.

Senator Griffin referred to the British coal strike as an example of enormous disturbances that might be prevented by such a tribunal as is proposed by this bill.

ROOSEVELT PLANS QUICK TRIP TO MAINE

Colonel Will Start for Portland Early Saturday Morning and Return Sunday.

CUTS OUT KANSAS CITY

Time Assigned to That City Will Go to St. Louis—Pleased with Carnegie Hall Reception.

Special to The New York Times.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., March 21.—Col. Roosevelt decided to-day to make a flying trip to Portland, Me., on Saturday, and he is now at work on the addresses he is to deliver there. The Colonel will leave New York at 1 o'clock Saturday morning, arriving at Portland at noon. He will start on the return trip early Sunday morning. It is understood that the Roosevelt Committee in Maine is arranging the details of his visit at Portland. There has been considerable Roosevelt sentiment shown in some districts of that State, it is said, and the Portland trip was decided upon because the Colonel wishes to appear in person before the people prior to the primaries next week. Col. Roosevelt would not comment on the dispatches which said that the House of Representatives of Maine had voted against inviting him to make an address before the Legislature.

The Colonel announced to-day, after a long-distance telephone conversation with his campaign manager in Washington—Senator Dixon—that he would not include Kanses City in the Western trip, on which he starts next Tuesday evening. He would devote the time instead to his visit to St. Louis, he said. He also announced that plans are being made for an address either in Detriot or Grand Rapids, Mich.

Col. Roosevelt received many telegrams to-day congratulating him on his address at Carnegie Hall on Wednesday evening. He seemed much pleased with his reception at the meeting. He said in reply to a question that he had seen "Boss" Barnes among his auditors at Carnegie Hall. The fact that the Colonel departed from his prepared address to take a fling at Mr. Barnes went far to put at rest reports that Barnes might evenually throw his support to Roosevelt.

Col. Roosevelt will go to New York to-morrow and spend a few hours at The Outlook office before starting on his trip to Portland.

MORE SPEECHES FOR NEW YORK

Roosevelt Decides to Extend His Trip in This City on Monday Night.

Col. Roosevelt decided yesterday to still further extend his whirlwind speech-making trip in this city next Monday night, which is the eve of Primary Day. He has added two more stopping places to the three which had already been agreed upon. The Colonel feels that about the only chance which is left for the election of delegates to the National Convention on his ticket is for him to make a personal appeal to the voters. Right after the primaries the Colonel will start on his Western trip, and he will probably wait until he is nominated before making any more speeches in the city.

The Colonel's first stop Monday night will be made at 8 o'clock at the Lenox Casino, Lenox Avenue and 116th Street. E. W. Bloomingdale will preside at this meeting, and from there he will go to Maennerchor Hall, 203 East Fifty-sixth Street, where ex-Judge Charles H. Deuel, Chairman of the Roosevelt City Committee, will preside. He will arrive there at 8:45 o'clock. The next stopping place will be the New Star Casino, Lexington Avenue and 107th Street, where Oscar S. Straus will preside. From there the Colonel will go into the Bronx, speaking at Ebling's Casino, 742 St. Ann's Avenue. He will wind up the night's tour with a speech at Niblo's Garden, Third Avenue and 170th Street. Controller Prendergast will be the Chairman of this meeting, and the Colonel will speak at 10:40 o'clock. There will be other speakers at all the meetings.

Ex-Lieut. Gov. Timonthy L. Woodruff, who was classed with President Taft and William Barnes, Jr., by Col. Roosevelt in his Carnegie Hall speech as "oligarchs," said yesterday:

"I suppose one should feel sufficiently complimented to be even mentioned by Col. Roosevelt, regardless of what the Colonel might say of him, especially in view of the fact that he has called lots of folks worse things than oligarchs."

Colored Republicans who favor the nomination of the Colonel have planned to hold a number of mass meetings up to the night before Primary Day. There will be a meeting to-night at the Union Baptist Church, 208 West Sixty-third Street. A grand rally will be held at the Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church, 263 West Twenty-fifth Street, on Monday night, at which a number of prominent colored men will speak.

The Colonel denied yesterday that in his speech at the Carnegie Hall he had referred to President Taft as a "fossil" and an "honest fool." He said his remark had had no reference to the President. His reference to an honest fool, he said, had been made in connection with his remarks about the judiciary, and he added:

"My statement was a reaffirmation of what I said at Denver before the Colorado Legislature about eighteen months ago, and, of course, had no reference of any kind to the President, and could not possibly have had, as those who quoted me well knew."

SEES AN ISSUE IN TOBACCO.

Colonel Hears 900,000 Voters Will Follow "a Square Deal."

Edward L. Andrews of counsel for the Independent Retail Tobacconist Association, who recently addressed a long letter to Col. Roosevelt on the subject of the present Administration's failure to appeal the Tobacco Trust case to the Supreme Court for review after the Circuit Court approved the plans for dissolution, was summoned to The Outlook office yesterday for a personal conference with the author of "My Policies." Mr. Andrews has estimated that there are more than 900,000 voters ready to follow a leader who will stand for a square deal for the independent tobacco interests.

Col. Roosevelt told Mr. Andrews that he had read his letter with a great deal of interest and that he was much interested in the case of the small tobacco merchant. Mr. Andrews called the Colonel's attention to the fact that if his proposal for the recall of decisions of a certain class, affecting the civic welfare of the people, were to become effective it would still be possible for the courts to overrule the legislation providing for the recall, on the ground that it was unconstitutional. The Contributing Editor had thought of that, and responded that it might become necessary to get the Constitution amended.

Col. Roosevelt referred his caller to back issues of The Outlook for more complete information regarding his view of the Tobacco decision. He accepted a copy of resolutions passed by the independent tobacconists, which said, in part:

"We have leagued ourselves together for our mutual protection, and call upon all independent tobacco men throughout the country to unite in an effort to obtain delegates to the coming National Conventions and to see that such delegates give us consideration in the selecting of candidates.

"In the past we have been ignored by our duly elected public servants, and we propose to pursue a course to place men in office who will give proper consideration to every honest public question. We realize that this can only be obtained by united action, and in order to secure our rights we must be vigilant."

TAFT MEN ANGRY AT WARD.

Say Roosevelt Delegates Would Misrepresent Westchester County.

Threats were made yesterday by various Town Committeemen of Westchester County that if William L. Ward attempts to influence the four delegates from Westchester to vote for Col. Roosevelt's nomination at the Chicago Convention the Taft adherents will unite to defeat Mr. Ward next Fall for National Committeeman.

The Taft men are thoroughly angry over the methods used by Mr. Ward in having the names of the four Roosevelt delegates go on the ballots when it was too late for Taft candidates to be nominated.

J. C. Ten Eyck, Chairman of the Third Ward Committee of Yonkers, said yesterday that he knew of but one enrolled Roosevelt voter in his district.

"Westchester will be misrepresented at the convention if the delegates vote for Roosevelt," he said.

William H. Sage of 156 Broadway, Town Committeeman from Scarsdale, said he wrote to Mr. Ward a month ago, telling him that if the delegates voted for Roosevelt and he was nominated, the Republicans of his district would vote at the election for a Democrat, providing a suitable candidate was nominated.

TAFT MEN FEAR A BOLT.

Believe Roosevelt Forces Are Preparing for Rump Convention.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 21.—President Taft's supporters here profess to believe that the Roosevelt champions are preparing an excuse to bolt the Republican National Convention in the event the delegates refuse to nominate Mr. Roosevelt for a third term. Their reason for this belief is the number of contests which Roosevelt men have instituted against delegates bearing instructions for President Taft, contests which, according to the National Taft Bureau, "in a great many cases are without shadow of reason or hope of success."

"So marked has been the policy of the Roosevelt leaders in this respect," says a statement issued by Col. Frank L. Smith, in charge of the Taft headquarters in this city, "that many loyal party men have become imbued with the idea that the radical element contemplates a bolt from the ticket, and the setting up of an independent ticket.

"This in itself has caused considerable uneasiness among a certain element of Republicans who, for various reasons, have identified themselves with the opposition to President Taft, but who, after all, as they themselves express it, are Republicans and propose to do all in their power to bring about the election of the nominee of the Chicago Convention."

HOLDING TEXAS FOR TAFT.

State Chairman Says a Few Plain Words to Officeholders.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—A state of things exists among Texas Republicans that is affording the Roosevelt National Committee food for horrors. Cecil Lyon, in his idealistic method of campaigning, has been calling the roll of the Federal officeholders to shake out money to carry on the Roosevelt canvass. To counteract this, H. F. MacGregor, Chairman of the Taft State Committee, has placed in the Texas newspapers a standing advertisement addressed to the Republican Federal officeholders in the State, in which he says:

"The State Chairman has notified you officially to send him money to defeat President Taft, under whom you hold a commission, and to file your allegiance to him within ten days. This is to notify you that the State Chairman has now no influence in Washington and will not have, if re-elected, after President Taft's triumphant re-election.

"In some other Southern States where complaint was made and where conditions were similar to those in Texas, the President has the Republicans of the State meet in conference and select a committee to make recommendations as to patronage, and you can rest assured that loyal Taft Republicans cannot be slaughtered by the State Chairman.

"The recommendation of Taft Republicans will control the Texas situation in the matter of patronage, and not the recommendations of those engaged in discrediting one of the best Presidents the country has ever had, and who are, by their disloyalty, endangering Republican success nationally."

PREDICT TAFT SWEEP.

Indianapolis Chooses Delegates to State Convention To-day.

Special to The New York Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 21.—The Taft Republicans are expecting to make a clean sweep of delegates to the State Convention in this city to-morrow. Every Taft man in the city has received a postcard to-day urging him to be at the polls. A large number of business men have volunteered to be at the booths till the vote is cast and counted, in order to offset any charge of fraud.

Employes of factories will be allowed time to vote, and store clerks are urged to go to the polls. The Roosevelt men had the option to be represented on the primary boards, but they have taken advantage of the opportunity in only three wards and two townships. In several wards there will be no Roosevelt votes at all.

ROOSEVELT PLAN DEFEATED.

Candidates for Convention Must Go at Bottom of Ballot.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 21.—The Court of Appeals to-day directed the Board of Elections of New York to print the names of candidates for National delegates and alternates at the bottom of the ballot which is to be used at the primaries next Tuesday. The question came before the court on the application of Charles H. Duell, Chairman of the Roosevelt committee, of New York, for an order compelling the board to print the names of delegates to the National Conventions at the top of the list of candidates.

The board had ordered that the names be printed in the middle of the ballot. The courts below refused to interfere with the discretion of the Board of Elections in the absence of a legislative provision prescribing a place on the ballot for such delegates.

The Court of Appeals in supplying the omission of the Legislature says it is a violation of the statute to insert the names of candidates for National delegates in the midst of the list, as has been done.

"We think also," says Judge Hiscock, in writing the opinion of a majority of the court, "that it would be at variance with the statute to prescribe that their names should be printed at the top of the list, for the statute prescribed that the order shall be from 'top to bottom.' This necessarily leaves as the only place where such names can be printed the foot of the ballot."

Senator Loomis created a flurry in the Senate to-day when he announced that he would object to the advancement of all bills until a date had been fixed for considering the "long" primary bill.

Senator Sullivan, whose bill had been the first victim of this programme, made a violent protest. "This is just a little bit of blackmail," he exclaimed. Senator Brackett pleaded with Senator Loomis to relent, and Senator Wagner threatened to call a meeting of the Rules Committee to formulate a plan to extricate the leaders from the parliamentary net. Senator Loomis finally withdrew his objection.

The Dana "short ballot" was consigned to the Committee on Rules when it came up for consideration in the Assembly. Inasmuch as leaders of both parties spoke against the bill, it is generally conceded that it will not appear again this session.

R. C. Morris Joins Taft Bureau.

It was announced at the headquarters of the Eastern branch of the Taft Bureau in the Cambridge Building yesterday that Robert C. Morris had become a member of the advisory board of the Bureau. Mr. Morris is a former member of the Republican County Committee, former President of the Republican Club and Chairman of the Political Reform Committee of the Union League Club.

INDIANA DEMOCRATS NAME GOV. MARSHALL

Instruct Delegates to Present His Name for President at the Baltimore Convention.

THE RIGHT TO 'CUSS' COURTS

Litigants Can Do So, Governor Quotes Lincoln as Saying, While Roosevelt Would Overrule Them.

Special to The New York Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 21.—Indiana Democrats in convention to-day unanimously pledged support to the candidacy of Gov. Thomas R. Marshall for the Democratic Presidential election. The platform adopted instructed the thirty delegates to the Baltimore Convention to "present Gov. Marshall's name as the first and only choice of Indiana Democracy for the nomination for President."

Senators Shively and Kern and State Chairman Taggart and Major George V. Menzies were named as delegates at large. The twenty-six district delegates were selected last night and are all for Gov. Marshall, with the exception of Crawford Fairbank, who announced some time ago that under no circumstances would he vote for him. It is understood that the delegates will invoke the unit rule.

Interest centres principally in the second choice of the delegates, but none of them would state to-day how they intended to vote after the name of Marshall is withdrawn, which is expected to occur after one or two ballots. The delegates from the Third and Seventh Districts are known to be for Harmon, and Taggart, Kern, and Shively are believed to prefer him to Wilson, while Menzies is a Wilson man. The best estimate of the sentiment of the delegation gives Wilson twenty votes, Harmon seven, and Clark the other three.

Samuel M. Ralston of Lebanon was nominated by acclamation to-day for Governor after Lieut. Gov. Frank J. Hall of Rushville had withdrawn from the race on the first ballot. W. P. O'Neill of Mishawka, one of six candidates for Lieutenant Governor, won the nomination on the fourth ballot.

The platform in its leading plank denounces the "protective tariff system as inflicted on the country by the Payne-Aldrich act, which has, through the artificial prices it fosters, carried deprivation into millions of homes and tended to produce conditions of unmerited opulence and undeserved poverty."

To correct tariff abuses "application is demanded of the principle that Custom House taxation shall be limited to the actual necessities of the Government."

The action of the House of Representatives in passing the Sherwood Pension bill is indorsed.

Gov. Marshall, who was temporary chairman of the Convention, in his address deprecated the dragging of a personal opponent into a public speech unless thereby a sharp distinction between views could be drawn.

"With Republican quarrels and controversies, we have nothing to do," he said. "We must appeal to the people of Indiana on the strength of our principles and the integrity of our candidates. We dare not rely upon the weakness of our opposition and it would be cowardly to do so did we dare. Sixty years is but a point in the circle of civilization, yet the last sixty have produced two men whose views will leave an impress upon all time. No liberty lover will ever care to forget the name of Lincoln, and none will be able to forget the name of Roosevelt.

"Lincoln held it to be the inalienable right of an unsuccessful litigant to go down to the tavern and cuss the court. It is the theory of Roosevelt that it is the right of an unsuccessful litigant to go down to the tavern and over-rule the court. Bitterness of spirit and indignation at what I deem to be judicial injustices seize me. Even now, I am chafing under what I conceive to be the unwarranted interference of the courts with my prerogatives. But by sober judgment looking to the permanent good of the people, impells me to insist that the courts must remain free and untrammeled, that we must first seek relief through the remedy we now have and patiently abide the lawful reversal of judicial injustice.

"Until the provisions of our present constitution with reference to officials are tried, and until graver evils arise than have thus far arisen, there is but slight demand for the initiative, referendum and recall."

UNANIMOUS FOR WILSON.

Macomb County, Mich., Instructs Delegates for the New Jersey Man.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Mich., March 21.—The conflicting estimates of the campaign managers for Judson Harmon and Woodrow Wilson in Michigan received their first try out in votes which count to-day and the result was a victory for Wilson.

The Macomb County Convention, to choose delegates to the Democratic State Convention, was the scene of the contest. The convention was unanimous for the New Jersey Governor, and instructed the twenty-eight delegates of the county to work all the time in the interests of Wilson. It was the first Democratic County Convention held this year.

COMBINE AGAINST WILSON?

Harmon and Clark Forces Join Hands, Says Senator Pettigrew.

Special to The New York Times.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 21.—Information said to have come through Senator Pettigrew of South Dakota, who was here to-day, is that a combination has been formed by the Harmon and Clark forces to defeat Wilson.

The plan is to withdraw Harmon from the ticket and put the Harmon organization behind the Clark campaign, thus making the fight between Clark and Wilson. The Bryan forces are supporting Wilson and the Democratic organization of the State is against Wilson.

Epworth League Dinner To-night.

The Epworth Leaguers of the Second General Conference District, which comprises New Jersey, Long Island, Southern New York, and part of Connecticut, will hold their annual dinner to-night at the Broadway Central Hotel. The speakers will be the Rev. Lynn Harold Hough, pastor of Summerfield Methodist Episcopal Church, Brooklyn, who has just accepted a call to Mount Vernon Place Church, Baltimore; Bishop Wilson S. Lewis of China, and Bishop Edwin S. Hughes of San Francisco.

CARNEGIE A TAFT BOOMER.

He Is Sorry "Those Governors" Misled Col. Roosevelt.

Special to The New York Times.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 21.—Expressing the opinion that "if it hadn't been for those Governors Theodore Roosevelt would never have aligned himself against President Taft," Andrew Carnegie to-day declared that the President would be renominated and re-elected without a struggle. Mr. Carnegie deplored the fact of Col. Roosevelt's activity and said he hoped, for the Colonel's sake as well as for the sake of harmony in the party, that the man from Oyster Bay will reconsider his determination to enter the Republican Convention as a seeker after the highest gift of the American people.

Efforts were made to induce Mr. Carnegie to talk on the industrial situation, but he declined.

"The country is doing very well, considering all things," he said. "Whatever is wrong will adjust itself in a manner that will be of benefit to the people as a whole."

"Do you think the Presidential situation is having any effect on conditions?"

"The Presidential situation will adjust itself, too. I am of the opion that all doubt will be allayed soon."

"Have you given any thought to the Roosevelt candidacy?"

"I have, and I am sorry that Mr. Roosevelt has permitted himself to be misled by those Governors. Mr. Roosevelt made us a good President but I do not believe he is fair when he seeks to gain an office which by all precedent belongs to President Taft.

"I have already gone on record as opposing Mr. Roosevelt's candidacy. It is my honest opinion that he is unfair, that he has no right to offer himself as a candidate. Mr. Taft's Administration has been an excellent one. We have found no cause to complain of him. Why should another man come along and try to oust him?"

Maine Not to Invite Roosevelt.

AUGUSTA, Me., March 21.—A resolution inviting former President Roosevelt to address the Democratic Legislature of Maine was offered in the House to-day by Representative Goodwin (Dem.) of Biddeford, who asked for unanimous consent to present the resolution for consideration, but the objection of one member was sufficient to prevent its receipt.

DIRIGIBLES ALMOST STILL.

Correspondent with Turks Tells of Italian Airships' Efficiency.

LONDON, March 21.—Details of the attack by Italian dirigible balloons yesterday on the Turkish camp at Suani-Ben-Aden are given in a dispatch received to-day from a correspondent with the Turkish forces. He says the two Italian dirigibles carried out two reconnaissances over the Turkish lines, dropping bombs as they proceeded.

The airships were under perfect control. They stopped almost still over the coast town of Zanzour, about fourteen miles west of the city of Tripoli, and dropped a bomb into the street. Four persons were killed by the explosion and ten others wounded, all of them non-combatants.

The balloons made a complete tour of the Turkish camps, but a sustained rifle fire from the Turkish infantry compelled them finally to swerve off and disappear.

In the course of their second visit the airships succeeded in dropping thirty bombs, according to the correspondent, who does not give any particulars as to the casualities.

HONDURAS FEARS REVOLT.

President Has Bright's Disease and if He Dies Trouble Is Expected.

PUERTO CORTEZ, Honduras, March 21.—President Manuel Bonilla is afflicted with Bright's disease, and the impression that he cannot live long is general.

In the event of his death, it is realized, an attempt would be made by the Liberals to regain possession of the Government.

Plan Money Trust Attack.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The first point of attack in the proposed investigation of the "Money Trust" will be the Directorates of National banks, according to a decision reached to-day by members of the sub-committee of the Banking and Currency Committee. The object is to ascertain the extent to which there are interlocking Directors and control of the funds of these banks by groups of financiers.

A call will be made upon Controller of the Currency Murray for information along this line, but it will require some time for the preparation of these data. No date has been fixed for the opening of the inquiry.

Kills Himself as His Father Did.

Following the example of his father, who committed suicide eight years ago, Charles H. Lyon, 28 years old, of 168 Sherman Avenue, Newark, took his life last night at the home of his sister, Mrs. W. V. K. Ayres of 68 Sherman Avenue. Mrs. Ayres was upstairs attending a relative who is sick when her brother went to the basement and there shot himself with a revolver. He received an honorable discharge from the United States Army in January after serving three years. He had been unable to get employment and was despondent.

Huguenot Church Is 225 Years Old.

Special to The New York Times.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 21.—The Huguenot Church, the oldest church in South Carolina, will celebrated the two hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of its foundation on April 4. The commemoration service will be conducted by the Rev. C. S. Vedder, pastor of the church. The Rev. W. H. S. Demarest, President of Rutgers College, New Brunswick, N. J., will preach the sermon.

RESCUE 26 MINERS.

Thirty-five Still Unaccounted for in Oklahoma Explosion.

McCURTAIN, Okla., March 21.—Thirty-five men entombed in the Sans Bois mine by an explosion yesterday had not been accounted for early to-night. Twenty-six men had been rescued during the day, and fifty-six bodies had been brought to the surface. Rescue parties still are at work to-night.

Fifteen men rescued to-day were found huddled in a room on the thirteenth level. They rushed there when they heard the explosion and kept themselves alive with an air pump. Searching parties were directed to the room by tappings on the air pipes. The condition of two of the men is serious, but the others seem none the worse for their experience.

When the rescued miners were brought out the scene about the mouth of the shaft was the most pathetic since the explosion. Tom Farrimond, one of those rescued, told of the experiences of himself and his companions.

"We had almost given up hope," he said, "when the rescue party reached us. How we ever got in the room I don't know. As soon as we felt the explosion we rushed to the nearest pump, knowing that we were too far from the entrance to escape. We had just put a curtain over the entrance when a big sheet of flame passed our room and sent a small puff of its deadly breath at us. The minutes seemed like hours as we clung to the pump. We suffered greatly from lack of water."

Financial assistance needed by families of the victims came from all parts of the United States to-day. One contribution of $5,000 was voted by the United Mine Workers of America, District 21, and to-night three carloads of provisions arrived from Fort Smith, Ark., purchased with money contributed in that city.

FOUR BOY RUNAWAYS CAUGHT

Small Bronx Truants Taken Home After Three Days of Adventure.

Four Bronx boys, all under 14 years old, who ran away from home on Monday afternoon, were brought back from Stamford, Conn., yesterday. They had been arrested there on Wednesday for stealing a bicycle at Norwalk. Sentence was suspended on them by Judge Young, who notified their parents.

The boys were William Turkus of 853 Cordwell Avenue, Ruben Eisele of 932 Trinity Avenue, Fred Campanio of 919 Freeman Street, and Walter Steele of 829 Jackson Avenue. They were brought home by the father of the Eisele boy.

The boys said they had played truant for the afternoon session of school on Monday and boarded a New Haven freight train at Oak Point, West Farms. They were put off the train at Bridgeport. From Bridgeport they tramped to Norwalk, where they spent Tuesday night in the police station. Then they took the bicycle. They took turns in riding it to Stamford, where their attempts to sell it led to their arrest.

SUFFRAGISTS STRIKE AT ALL CANDIDATES

Taft, Wilson, and the Colonel Will Regret Dodging the Issue, Declares Dr. Shaw.

DEMAND LEGISLATIVE ACTION

Cooper Union Mass Meeting Congratulates the Chinese Upon Giving Votes to Women.

The Women's Political Union held a mass meeting in Cooper Union last night to demand that a suffrage bill be passed by the Legislature before adjournment. Many prominent members were not present, as they are taking part in the Mohawk Valley suffrage campaign. A telegram from the Secretary, Miss Caroline Lexow, said that there was great indignation felt among the women against the legislators, especially the Senators.

Mrs. Stanton Blatch criticised the legislators scathingly and Dr. Anna Howard Shaw had sharp things to say about the candidates for President for not replying to written demands for statements of their views in regard to suffrage.

Two resolutions were adopted, one demanding that "the Committee on Rules respond to the majority of the Assembly and forthwith report the suffrage measure to the House in order that it may be passed quickly through its various stages and go to the Senate and challenge a free and honest vote in that body." The other congratulates China upon enfranchising its women and putting a Canton woman in what in China is equivalent to our Senate.

A Senator and two Congressmen were expected to address the meeting, but Congressman William L. La Follette of Washington was the only one who came. Dr. John N. Elliott spoke and Rheta Child Dorr told in a spirited manner what the women had done in Colorado.

Mrs. Blatch said, in discussing the relative rights of the sexes to authority, that she had five brothers, and she knew men could not keep a secret as well as women. She told what she had learned of secret legislative action.

"I prophesy," she said, "that never again will a bill be held in Judiciary Committee. The scene when action was being taken upon the women's bill was one of the most disgraceful that has ever disgraced the Senate. All day Senator Wagner was working to bring every one under the heavy hand of Murphy.

"Senator Pollock—unfortunately, he is my Senator, and I am ashamed of him—after promising Senator Stilwell that he would vote for the women, found that he was not feeling well and must spend the time in Washington Park. Imagine a man just out of a hospital after an operation sitting out in a park on the high hills on a March day! When emissaries were sent after him he locked himself in his room." In speaking of Senator Ferris, Mrs. Blatch said:

"Not only can a man not keep a secret but he can tell a falsehood. A woman, if she does not tell the truth, at least does it with some timidity, but the boldness with which a man lies—" In conclusion she said:

"Murphy hasn't been able to elect all his Senators, he can't do everything he wishes. Let us cast defiance in his face." She told the women that it was necessary to have great political insight to win their cause, and one must never lose her temper.

Dr. Shaw, who was called upon to second the resolution regarding the action of the Chinese, said:

"How I wish I had a queue! How I wish my feet had been bound that they might be loosened instead of my head, which cannot be loosened."

The only reply to a request to President Taft for a statement has been received from the President's secretary. The secretary said he had only time to quote from speeches previously made by the President.

The quotations were from speeches made in 1908 and 1909 and reported a debate in which the President, as a boy of 16, spoke for woman suffrage.

"The President has had quite a little experience since then, and he will have quite a little more before next November," said Dr. Shaw.

"Woodrow Wilson was so busy that he had not time to answer. The last time I heard from him he was debating the question with himself. When we feel the pulse of the States where the women vote we will know how long his debate will last.

"Mr. Roosevelt has been so busy studying the life of Lincoln to form a comparison between that gentleman and himself that he has not had time to consider our question. He asked last night in his speech in Carnegie Hall: 'Are the American people fit to govern themselves?' If he believes in the rule of the people he must believe in woman suffrage. We demand that Mr. Roosevelt shall either say what he means or mean what he says, and not sneak back on it in The Outlook. If he does not believe in woman suffrage when he says he believes in government by the people, he is insincere and a mere vote-catching machine.

"That a Presidential candidate will refuse to answer a question presented to him by thousands of women of this State is answer enough to the sentimental twaddle about the silent influence of women. Who are these candidates consulting—the women's missionary societies? The women's clubs? No; and the time has gone by when sentimental gush can be doled out to women and they believe it."

HOUN' SONG FOR SUFFRAGISTS.

It Greets Mrs. C. P. Gilman at the Men's League Dinner.

With an attendance of 50 men and about 350 women the Men's League for Woman's Suffrage of the Nineteenth Assembly District held its first annual dinner last night at the Hotel Marseille, 103d Street and Broadway, with James L. Laidlaw in the chair.

Dr. Charles G. Pease, President of the Non-Smokers' League of America, who has waged a courageous war in Manhattan Island against the cigarette and the stogie, made a few impromptu remarks before the regular programme of speakers was announced, in the course of which he declared that no smoking would be permitted.

Dr. Max Eastman, Secretary of the Men's League for Woman's Suffrage, was the next speaker. He began his address with an attack upon Theodore Roosevelt as the foremost opponent of race suicide, who despite his convictions upon that subject, nevertheless has characterized the equal suffrage question as "not important as compared with the common duties of men and women in our country to-day.

"Theodore Roosevelt," declared the speaker amid enthusiastic applause, "entertains exactly the same position as Emma Goldman on the question of citizenship. He declares that 'life is not saved by politics, but by principle.' He calls himself a progressive, but upon this question he is a reactionary. He depreciates the value of citizenship. Emma Goldman does exactly the same thing, but she goes further and denounces the principle of citizenship for men and women alike. Col. Roosevelt speaks of the sovereign power of motherhood and still denies to mothers the power of political equality."

In the course of his address the speaker alluded to the fact that the greatest argument against woman suffrage in the East is that the majority of women are opposed to it.

"The majority of women in Los Angeles were opposed to the granting of the franchise to their sex," he said, "but when it was once conferred they all took advantage of it, as has been already proved. The fact that women have no knowledge of the political function is certain. They will never have knowledge of that function until they are given the opportunity to employ it."

Prof. Charles Beard of Columbia University, while speaking upon the question of "The Common Man and the Franchise," declared that male franchise in the United States was not common even among whites until 1820. He said that the argument that women could not bear arms if necessary had been disproved by the present Chinese revolution, in which whole regiments of women have taken part.

"Can they clean the streets?" asked some one from a far corner.

"I think that they could even be good 'White Wings,' if necessary," rejoined the speaker.

William C. Amos, President of the Republican Club of the Nineteenth District, pleaded that the position of women in the United States is a mockery on the Declaration of Independence.

"You are citizens," he said, "and yet your position is only equal to that of the insane, paupers, and felons. Napoleon said, 'The mothers of France make the men.' Whether it be in the time of peace or war it has been proved by the record of ages that woman is the power behind the throne."

Mrs. Mary Austin was the first woman speaker. She declared that the "first brick thrown in London will take its place in history beside the first gun fired in the Revolution." She was followed by Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale, who spoke upon the progress made by the cause of suffrage in England, and said that while the tactics used by the militant advocates of the cause may not win sympathy in this country, they had at least "forced upon the lethargic Englishman the urgency of the women's cry."

Other speakers were Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman, who was greeted when she rose to speak with a suffragette war song to the air of the now famous "Houn' Dog Song," which went somewhat as follows:

It makes no difference 'cause I wear a gown,
Yuh gotta stop kickin' my suffrage aroun'.

Mrs. Gilman acknowledged the greeting by stating that the day has already arrived when the "men folks insist upon kickin' aroun' the question of votes for women." With equal suffrage for the sexes in six States, said the speaker, there is little doubt that the first recognition of the cause has been won in the United States.

The other speakers were Miss Marion Burrett, leader of the Nineteenth Assembly District Woman's Suffrage Party, and Miss Elinor McCoy. Souvenirs consisted of yellow and black ballot boxes of paste-board, with the motto "Votes for Women" inscribed upon their lids. Yellow pennants and streamers decorated the walls with the same inscription in glaring black letters. Every diner wore a black and yellow badge.

MRS. TAFT IGNORED SUFFRAGE

But the Women Are Sure She Didn't Mean to Pass Them By.

The Woman Suffragists at the Woman's Industrial Exposition in the New Grand Central Palace made $25 because Mrs. William Howard Taft, the wife of the President, passed them by on her visit to the exhibition on Wednesday. Miss Edna Lewis, the owner of the cat which adorns her insurance booth, saw how downcast the suffragists were, and immediately sent them over a check for $25 which she had just received as a reward of merit for having an attractive booth.

"Of course it was an accident that Mrs. Taft's chair was wheeled in another direction, but I saw how badly the suffragists felt, and as I am a good suffragist myself I sent my check right over."

The check was made payable to Dr. Anna Shaw on account of a life membership in the National Suffrage Association.

"Faithful," Miss Lewis's cat, was presented with a beautiful silver jeweled collar yesterday. The presentation was made by Mrs. Nelson Henry in the George Washington booth, and "Faithful," in her little basket, was brought in by a young man dressed as Washington, in knee breeches and queue.

Mrs. William M. Ivins and Miss Morrison of the Woman Suffrage booth started out last evening on an expedition to "paint the place yellow" with big yellow suffrage banners, and this morning there will be a yellow atmosphere over everything. Of twenty-four banners with which the women started out they returned with only one. At some booths where banners were not taken they were refused only because there was a long list of patronesses in the charitable organizations to which they belonged, and the women at the booth could not take definite action without authority.

Mrs. Ben Ali Haggin, Miss Clara Irvin, Mrs. Grenville Kane, Mrs. Charles O. Maas, Capt. J. W. Munn of Galveston, Texas, Mrs. Van Vechten Olcott, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elliot Warren, Col. Asa Bird Gardiner, and Col. Robert Olyphant were among the visitors at the exhibition yesterday.

TAFT PATRONAGE INQUIRY.

Funds Are Voted to Investigate Charges of Federal Activity.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The Senate Committee on Contingent Expenses to-day agreed to provide funds for the proposed investigation as to "whether Post Office Inspectors are being sent through the country as political emissaries to influence Postmasters to aid in the election of delegates for or against any candidate for the Presidency," to be conducted by the Post Office Committee.

The resolution for an investigation was introduced on March 4 by Senator Bristow. It grew out of a complaint of undue activity of a Post Office Inspector in Alabama for President Taft.

In its report the committee specifically sets forth that it does not undertake to pass upon the merits of the resolution, but merely to provide the funds in case one is ordered.

BARON DEFENDS ITALY'S WAR.

Tripoli Rightfully Hers, Says di San Severino—Praises Marconi.

Baron Bernardo Q. di San Severino, graduate of the Naples University and of the Royal Oriental Institute of Italy, who has been lecturing in this country, delivered an address yesterday afternoon at the Hudson Theatre under the auspices of the League for Political Education.

In his opening remarks the Baron pointed out that Italy had stood by while England, Germany, and France had annexed Egypt and territories in Northern Africa, and that she had a historic right to Tripoli, as it was the domain of Italians' Roman ancestors. This was shown, he said, by the mosaics, statues, pottery, and other traces of Roman civilization which had been unearthed recently by the pickaxes of the Italian soldiers.

The Baron said Italy had been the first Nation to make use of aeroplanes and trained dogs for scouting purposes in actual warfare.

"Italy has clearly shown," he said, "that she appreciates the importance of her mission by building schools and hospitals at Tripoli and opening a railroad to Ain-Zare, now in operation. The steam engine has superseded the camel as a medium of locomotion."

He said that the story of the war in Tripoli would not be complete without mention of the services rendered to his country by Guglielmo Marconi, the inventor of wireless telegraphy, who was present. Mr. Marconi, said the speaker, stayed at the front for two months, in which time he went into the desert and abolished the poles of the wireless station, which were discernible by the enemy, thus doing away with every incumbrance. The warships, the trenches, and the dirigibles were all connected by wireless apparatus.

After the lecture Mr. Marconi sent a 200-word message to Rome by wireless, describing the lecture given at the Hudson Theatre and the good work done by Baron di San Severino in counteracting anti-Italian sentiment aroused by the war. The lecture was attended by the foreign Consuls in New York and prominent Italians in this city.

FOOD EMBARGO STIRS JUAREZ TO PROTEST

Merchants in Mexican City, as Well as in El Paso, Sign Petition to Taft.

MADERISTS USE THE TORCH

Federal Forces Are Destroying All Habitations in South That Would Shelter Rebels.

EL PASO, Texas, March 21.—Business men of Juarez have signed a petition to be forwarded to President Taft, protesting against the inclusion of food and clothing in the embargo on "munitions of war" destined for Mexico.

Small merchants of El Paso, who made a specialty of selling to the Juarez trade, began the circulation of a similar petition.

Among the articles classified by Col. E. Z. Steever as "munitions of war" are: Kerosene, gasolene, hay, saddles, and all food for horses or men. Col. Pascual Orozco, Sr., commanding at Juarez, and Col. Ponce, second in command, declared there was enough corn and beans for the simple needs of the soldiers, and that the embargo would injure only non-combatants.

A dispatch from Chihuahua says Gen. Antonio Rojas will not be sent against Ojinaga but will be ordered to join Gen. Salazar's column, now proceeding slowly in the direction of the force at Torreon. Following the recent occupation of Parral by the rebels, Rosario and Santa Barbara, small towns near by, were occupied to-day by insurrectos.

The Minero Bank of Chihuahua, of which Juan Creel, a brother of Enrique Creel, is manager, will accept most of the 1,200,000 pesos bonds to be issued by the new revolutionary administration of the State.

SAN ANTONIO, March 21.—A decree by Gen. Orozco, declaring President Madero of Mexico subject to execution if captured, was brought here and published to-day by an envoy of Orozco to Emilio Gomez.

Another decree warns Americans that contracts they make with the Madero Government will be void if the present revolution triumphs. Both decrees are dated Chihuahua, March 13.

USING TORCH AGAINST REBELS.

Government Troops Burning All Possible Refuges of Zapatistas.

MEXICO CITY, March 21.—The Government's campaign against Emiliano Zapata and his followers in Southern Mexico is progressing satisfactorily, according to advices to-day from Gen. Juvenico Roble, whose army is operating in Morelos and adjoining States.

Robles is destroying every place of habitation regarded as a rebel refuge, after the women and children are sent to the towns guarded by Federals. Villages have been burned by the Federal troops all along the line of March. Neither hut nor hacienda is spared. There have been no important encounters.

Local authorities in the State of Vera Cruz are trying to trace a band of robbers who it is alleged, robbed the home of a French subject, Count Lafetie, at Coatepec, carrying away several hundred dollars in gold. The French Minister has interested himself in the case.

Rio Grande, Hacienda Fuerte and Sombrerete, in Zacatecas have passed into rebel control in the past two days according to reports from the state capital. The correspondent says that the lack of protection of lives or property has practically depopulated the Northern part of the state.

Zapatistas, 1,500 strong, under the command of Jesus Morales, who was recently proclaimed Governor of Petlalcingo, have captured many small towns near Puebla and are now threatening the important town of Atlixco, where the citizens have armed to repel the attack.

Fourteen of the twenty-three members of the Rural Guard who mutinied Tuesday at Tlalnepantla, ten miles northwest of the Federal district, were shot this morning under the suspension of guarantees. The men were captured by Federal soldiers last night.

CARNEGIE DEFENDS BANKERS

He Says New York Financiers Are Above Suspicion, but Laws Are Bad.

Special to The New York Times.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 21.—An audience that packed the Auditorium Theatre from pit to dome welcomed Andrew Carnegie this afternoon when he delivered an address here on the lack of proper banking laws.

On the stage with Mr. Carnegie were National Democratic Committeemen Norman E. Mack, Lon V. Stephens, ex-Governor of Missouri, and fifty other residents and visitors. Mr. Carnegie was introduced by Col. S. W. Fordyce of St. Louis, and said in part:

"There is not upon the earth to-day, and never was, such a community, fast approaching a hundred million people, as this land of triumphant democracy. But, true as this is, we are in one of the most important fields—that of banking, including our entire monetary system, the nerves of our business world—the most backward of all civilized nations.

"Here we strike what has long been the chief obstacle in the path of consolidation of interests—the supposed dominant influence, the money power of New York and its environments. The commission has wisely recognized this fact.

"Please note carefully this supposed influence has been restricted by it, but first let me say that in times of panic the bank officials of New York, who are the recognized leaders in finance, are men above suspicion. I know many of them personally, and a body of abler and more irreproachable men are not to be found anywhere. The man who reaches a foremost position in financial circles there and is called by his fellows to serve upon the all important panic committee, is a man above all things of undoubted character.

"Nevertheless it is advisable and quite right that in the proposed Reserve Association New York and her neighbors should not occupy the commanding position."

Mr. Carnegie explained the Reserve Commission in detail and made a strong plea for its support.

NEW MOVE TO DIVORCE BREEN

Riding Master's Wife Seeks to File Supplemental Complaint.

Attorneys for Mrs. Ethel Croker Breen filed notice of a motion yesterday in the Supreme Court for permission to file a supplemental complaint in her suit for divorce against John J. Breen, a riding master, who was formerly a groom for Mortimer L. Schiff. The jury which heard Mrs. Breen's evidence in the first trial of her suit for divorce a few weeks ago could not agree and was discharged.

Mrs. Breen wants to make a new charge of infidelity against her husband. The co-respondent in the new charge will not be named. In the first trial, Maude Diehl, a telephone operator, who was mentioned by implication though not by name, appeared in the proceedings to defend her reputation and gave testimony adverse to Mrs. Breen's contentions.

ARIZONA RECALL ADVANCES.

First Reading of Bill for a Referendum Passes Legislature.

PHOENIX, Arizona, March 21.—A resolution for the submission to the people at the next general election of a constitutional amendment providing for the recall of the judiciary passed its first reading to-day in both houses of the Arizona Legislature.

A resolution providing for the ratification of the income tax amendment to the Federal Constitution also passed its first reading in both houses.

WILEY STIRS DRUG MEN.

Calls Them "Dopers," but Afterward Withdraws the Term.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, appearing to-day as a private citizen before the Pure Food Board in advocacy of a regulation guarding strictly the use and sale of opium, morphine, cocaine and other habit-forming drugs, aroused the anger of drug representatives by referring to them as "dopers." A heated argument ensued and for a moment it looked as if blows might be passed.

After several interchanges Dr. Wiley consented to withdraw the term "dopers," but said he would still insist on calling them "manufacturers of poison."

"For that," he added, "is what you yourselves are willing to have these drugs and preparations containing them called."

As soon as the former chief government chemist had used the word "dopers," John J. Queeny of St. Louis, a manufacturer of saccharine jumped to his feet objecting.

"We come here," he declared, "to have a hearing; we are respectable manufacturers and we do not want to be insulted. I think the board should compel Dr. Wiley to withdraw his remark."

"I refuse to withdraw it," came back the doctor.

After further discussion with persons, with whom he said he had had pleasant relations, Dr. Wiley modified his language.

The representatives of the drug manufacturers argued that exception should be made to preparations containing only small portions of opium, morphine, cocaine and the other drugs. They held that there were so many of these preparations scattered through small drug stores all over the country that it would require years and be a heavy expense for the manufacturers to have all marked with skull and cross bones as the regulation of the Pure Food Board would require.

Dr. Wiley declared that the manufacturers had been making the profits and should pay whatever costs were necessary to protect the public from the drug habit.

"May I ask who you represent," said Mr. Hough, of St. Louis, when Dr. Wiley appeared.

"I represent one private citizen," was the reply; "something new at these hearings but which I hope will be frequent in the future.

"As to the drug manufacturers argument that small quantities of opium, morphine and cocaine are not harmful, it would take a million Hague opium conferences to convince me that the small amounts should be allowed. Nothing is better than small doses as a means of fostering the drug habit."

FILIPINO BILL IN.

Jones Will Try to Make It Part of Democratic Programme.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Representative Jones of Virginia, Chairman of the House Committee on Insular Affairs, introduced to-day the bill outlined in THE TIMES yesterday proposing "probationary independence" for the Philippine Islands from July 4, 1913, to July 4, 1921. The bill has the approval of the Democratic members of the committee, and Mr. Jones will endeavor to make it a part of the Democratic legislative programme.

During "qualified independence" the archipelago would operate under a system indentical with that of the United States, the President of the United States having the right of veto over Philippine Island laws.

The right to vote would be given to those in the Philippines who held it prior to the war in 1898, and to those who own and pay taxes on 500 pesos' worth of property, providing they can read and write. The bill would prohibit polygamy.

SAYS COURT CLERKS SWINDLE

Embezzle Funds, Clayton Declares, Urging Law to Reach Them.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Chairman Clayton of the Judiciary Committee declared on the floor of the House to-day that more than twenty clerks of the Federal Courts in the United States were embezzlers of court funds and are retaining their places because the existing law was so framed that they could not be reached. Mr. Clayton urged an amendment of the law to permit the President of the United States to remove such offending clerks.

Representative Goldfogle of New York, Democrat, expressed the astonishment of many members.

"Do I understand that clerks of Federal courts," he asked, "are withholding court money, refusing to make an accounting, and retaining their places?"

"Precisely," said Mr. Clayton; "and it is due to the fact that the President has no power to remove them. The President himself in his letter urging the amendment of the law stated that this condition of things exists."

In response to further questioning Mr. Clayton said he did not know whether the Department of Justice had taken any steps to prosecute the clerks or to recover the money. The bill was passed.

DISCHARGE TRIANGLE OWNERS

Remaining Indictments Against Harris and Blanck to be Quashed.

Justice Seabury, in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court, yesterday directed a jury to discharge Max Harris and Isaac Blanck, the owners of the Triangle Waist Company, where 147 persons lost their lives in a fire on March 25 last, on the ground that the previous trial, which ended in acquittal, had already placed them in jeopardy.

A special jury had been selected, and then Max D. Steuer, the defendants' counsel, and Assistant District Attorney Bostwick announced that the evidence which they intended to submit would be the same as that given before Judge Crain in General Sessions at the first trial of the case. Mr. Steuer maintained that his clients could not be tried again on the same evidence, and Mr. Bostwick opposed the motion, stating that different persons were named in each of the seven manslaughter indictments found against the defendants.

After listening to the arguments from both sides, Justice Seabury instructed the jury to discharge the defendants. This was done, the jury not leaving the box. The other indictments against Harris and Blanck will be quashed, it is understood.

THE MASSAPEQUA DISABLED.

Steamship from Porto Rico Is Being Towed to Havana.

HAVANA, March 21.—The steamer Massapequa of the New York and Porto Rico Line has been disabled at sea, and is being towed to Havana by the German steamer Kronprinzessin Cecilie. A wireless message from the latter steamer received here to-night says she had picked up the Massapequa and was due to arrive at Havana to-morrow morning.

The Massapequa sailed from Porto Rico March 16 for New Orleans.

TRAP IS LAID FOR VIRGINIA OUTLAWS

Gov. Mann Explains Why Censorship Has Been Established on News from Hillsville.

LOOKS FOR CAPTURE SOON

Refuses to Divulge Plans of State Lest It May Put Allens on Guard.

Special to The New York Times.

RICHMOND, Va., March 21.—Gov. Mann issued a statement this afternoon explaining just why a censorship had been established over telegrams sent out from Hillsville, Carroll County, where the Allen clansmen a week ago shot and killed Judge Massie of the Circuit Court, Commonwealth Attorney Foster, and Sheriff Webb.

"I am entirely willing," says the Governor, "for the public to have all the information I possess bearing upon the apprehension of the Carroll County murderers, unless that information is in reference to the plans which have been adopted and the steps which are to be taken for the arrest of the guilty parties, which, if disclosed, would put the parties on notice and thus defeat what the State is undertaking to do. I therefore deem it best to give out such information every day over by own signature.

"I have information which the newspapers have not and cannot get, and I am acting on it with the firm purpose of capturing the men who have committed the horrible crimes in Carroll.

"Important steps have been taken to-day which I expect will result in the arrest of the Allens the last of this or the first of next week. I do not think it proper to say what those steps are, but they are vigorous and, I think, in the right direction.

"In conclusion I feel the responsibility of my position and know that the people of Virginia are looking to me for results, and I assure them that I will not hesitate to use the men and means of Virginia to vindicate the laws of the State. I am, however, going to do this as intelligently as I can from my standpoint, and, while always welcoming advice and suggestions based on knowledge of the situation, will not be swerved from that which I believe to be the right course by either comment or criticism."

HILLSVILLE, Va., March 21.—Sidna Allen and his gang to-day apparently are no nearer capture than they were a week ago, when they rode back to the mountains after the tragedy that blotted out the Circuit Court of Carroll. Nearly every clue run down by searching detectives and possemen has proved to be false, and if a warm trail really has been struck the fugitives have been too wily for their pursuers. Posses have surrounded three different mountain strongholds in which the Allens were believed to have been run to cover, only to find upon closing in that the outlaws either had escaped or had not been cornered at all.

The town was excited to-day over a report that a party of the Allens or their sympathizers rode to a point within three miles of Hillsville last night and placed a notice of their own beside the Governor's posted proclamation offering rewards for the wanted clansmen, dead or alive. This is the notice said to have been posted:

> To those who have made it their concern: We have plenty of arms and bullets. We know how to use them. These hills are an unhealthy place for strangers to visit. Remember this: You can get us in the end, maybe, but we will get you first.

It is said there were a dozen or more in the party which posted this, but whether any of the men charged with the Court House murders were there nobody seems to know.

ROANOKE, Va., March 21.—Floyd Allen, Victor Allen, and Byrd Marion, in jail here charged with complicity in the Hillsville shooting, to-day engaged as counsel N. H. Hairston and R. H. Willis. The lawyers conferred with the prisoners, and will go to Hillsville to-morrow to prepare for the trial. The detectives at Mount Airy, N. C., to-day sought to trace two boys who yesterday bought twenty loaves of bread and some canned goods and then disappeared. The theory is that the boys purchased the provisions for the Allen clansmen.

BRIBERY WITNESS HEARD.

Accused Maryland Official Testifies at a Secret Session.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 21.—The charge of attempted bribery, made by Delegate Smallwood of Prince George's County against John O'Malley, Chief Clerk in the State Land Commissioner's office, was heard in secret this afternoon by the Legislative Investigating Committee. Attorney General Poe advised the secret session.

O'Malley admitted that he had a talk with Smallwood, but said it was only concerning a fish bill before the Legislature.

"After we had talked about the bill," said O'Malley, "I said, just for something to say, 'It's getting pretty hot down here.'

"'Yes; that was a very close vote in the House last night on the local option bill,' he answered. 'I understand they are offering $2,500 for votes.'

"I asked, 'Which side!' He said nothing. Then I said in a jocular way 'I guess both sides are offering it.' We then separated."

Jacob A. Ulman, President of the Distillers' and Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association, says W. F. Cochran's statement about liquor men "converting securities into cash" is a lie, and calls on him to retract or produce proof. W. H. Anderson, Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, said he had been told by another member of an offer to buy his vote.

John O'Malley, who is charged with offering a bribe, is the right hand man of State Senator Gorman and identified with the Democratic machine. The investigating committee will report to the House to-morrow.

FIGHT TO SAVE RICHESON.

Attorney for Condemned Clergyman Will Ask Aid from Foss.

BOSTON, March 21.—Efforts to save Clarence V. T. Richeson, the confessed murderer of Avis Linnell, from death in the electric chair began to-day, when his counsel, William A. Morse, conferred with Gov. Foss. The date set for the execution is May 19.

While Mr. Morse did not present a formal petition for commutation of sentence, he assured himself that such a petition would be received by the Governor, and that it would probably be submitted to the Pardon Committee of the Executive Council for action. It is optional with the Governor whether he shall submit such a petition to the Council.

Mr. Morse said that no petition for commutation would be sent to the Governor for two weeks at least, and he further intimated that the matter would not be pressed until the date of the execution was less than a month away. Richeson's friends hope to obtain a life sentence for him.

TURKS CLAIM BIG VICTORY.

Italians' Losses in a Fight at Bengazi Are Put at 400.

LONDON, Friday, March 22.—A Constantinople dispatch to the Exchange Telegram Company says that the Turkish Minister of War announces a great Turkish victory at Bengazi, Tripoli.

The casualties on the Italian side are given as 400 killed or wounded.

ENDS HER LIFE IN HOTEL.

Woman Makes Doubly Sure with Gas and Chloroform.

Coroner Holtzhauser and the police of the Mercer Street station worked until late last night seeking to learn the identity of a woman found dead in a rocking chair on the fourth floor of the Hotel S. Dennis at Broadway and Eleventh Street, with the end of a gas tube leading from a chandelier at her mouth. The body was sent to the morgue.

The woman had evidently registered at the hotel for the purpose of committing suicide. She had carefully scratched a name from the hand bags she brought with her and had destroyed the makers' names on her clothing and shoes. A maid who found the body at 9 o'clock yesterday morning after detecting an odor of gas, reported that the space around the doors, the keyhole, and the window crevices had been stuffed with paper.

In addition to these precautions, the woman had used chloroform after turning on the gas, and had covered her head with a sheet.

An empty chloroform bottle stood on a table and a sponge, saturated with chloroform, lay on her breast.

In the hotel registrar the woman guest had written "Mrs. Wilson, Philadelphia," but the police believe the name was fictitious. It was written as with a hesitating hand and in much smaller letters than the other names on the register.

In a green leather purse packed in a suitcase the sum of $66.04 was found, while on the table was a silver watch. No one about the hotel had seen Mrs. Wilson since she registered on March 17. She paid for her room in advance and received no callers or mail. She appeared to be about 38 years old. When found she was fully dressed in a blue serge suit, a gray raglan coat and a blue straw hat.

'AUNT BILLY' CO-RESPONDENT

Child So Addresses Young Woman in His Mother's Suit for Divorce.

Dr. Theodore Graham-Rogers, an Inspector for the State Labor Bureau, is being sued for divorce in the Supreme Court. When the case was called before Justice Pendleton yesterday, the 4-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Graham-Rogers recognized a woman seated in the room who has been associated with his father as his assistant and who is named in the complaint. He addressed her as "Aunt Billy." This is the second time that the boy has caused Mrs. Graham-Rogers to suspect her husband.

Miss Elizabeth W. Westingfeld was the young woman in question. She took the stand in her own defense and put an innocent aspect on all her associations with the physician. The case will be continued to-day.

COFFYN'S INJURY UNCERTAIN.

Doctors Do Not Yet Know Whether Aviator's Skull Is Fractured.

At the Presbyterian Hospital last night it was stated that Frank Coffyn, the aviator, and Edwin L. Harvey, secretary to Commissioner Thompson of the Department of Water, Gas, and Electricity, who were injured in an automobile accident in Central Park on Wednesday, were resting well, and were slightly improved.

It was stated that the surgeons were still in doubt as to whether or not Mr. Coffyn's skull had been fractured by his fall of twenty feet from Bridge 3 on the East Driveway to the cement walk below it, and that it will be some time before it can be finally determined whether or not a fracture exists.

Mrs. Coffyn was a visitor at the hospital yesterday morning. She was permitted to spend several hours at her husband's bedside, but all other visitors were refused admission.

SOUGHT SON IN WEST INDIES.

Harvard Junior, Missing Since March 15, Not in Jamaica as Reported.

Among the passengers arriving yesterday from Central America and the West Indies on the United Fruit steamship Metapan was B. M. Pike of Lubec, Me., who has been to Kingston, Jamaica, to search for his son Albion, 21 years old, who disappeared on March 15 while a junior at Harvard. Nothing has been heard of him since. Mr. Pike went to Jamaica on a clue that proved to be false, but says he will not give up the search.

Another passenger on the Metapan was the Rev. W. D. Standfast, accompanied by his wife, who spent two years in Peru establishing a church and mission for the Church of England. He said that the opening of the Panama Canal was the chief topic of conversation in the cities on the west coast of South America, and that the Isthmus might well be called the land of "Great Expectations."

ROCKEFELLER CHARTER LAGS

Opposition to National Incorporation Develops in Committee.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Considerable opposition developed to-day in the House Judiciary Committee to the plan for a Federal charter for the Rockefeller Foundation by means of which the oil magnate plans to have his wealth work for philanthropic and educational purposes after his death.

When the committee met this morning it was expected that some headway would be made toward a favorable report on the bill introduced by Representative Peters, but the committee was forced to adjourn without having made any progress.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE INTERESTS KAISER

Emperor's Adjutant Takes Message of Congratulations to Dr. Marks at Frankfort.

AIMS AT SCIENCE RESEARCH

Institution Said to be the First Ever Established on German Soil for Such a Purpose.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

BERLIN, March 21.—The Kaiser sent one of his adjutants to-day to Dr. Lewis Hart Marks of New York, a young American scientist, who has just established an institute of scientific research at Frankfurt-on-the-Main, to convey his congratulations on this latest development of the "German-American intellectual alliance." The adjutant's inquiries showed lively interest on the Kaiser's part to learn who were the Americans who had contributed $125,000 for endowing Mr. Marks's work in Germany.

The new institute is unique in that it is the first time, it is said, that a foreigner working with foreign support has ever pitched his tent on German soil for scientific research. Mr. Marks's progress will be watched by his German colleagues with the liveliest interest.

Dr. Lewis Hart Marks is a native of New Orleans and is still under 30 years of age. He is a graduate of Tulane University and a member of the Royal Institute for Experimental Teraphy at Frankfort, being the youngest man to whom the honor of membership in the society was ever accorded.

For the last five years Dr. Marks has been the chief assistant of Prof. Ehrlich of Frankfort and co-operated with him in perfecting "606." Last January he went to Berlin to confer with officials and medical authorities regarding the establishment of a great institute of medical research in Germany. He formed a committee of American philanthropists and they promised him $125,000 for the purpose of carrying on original research, especially in regard to blood diseases.

He was in New York the latter part of last year and in an interview said that within the next decade humanity would have the benefit of other great medical discoveries and that specific preparations for the destruction of the parasites of typhoid fever and pneumonia would be available.

KAISER CONFIDES IN CZAR.

Tells Him of Improvement in Anglo-German Relations.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Friday, March 22.—A telegram to The Times from St. Petersburg says it is rumored in Court circles that an autograph letter to the Czar from Emperor William deals exhaustively with the recent improvement in the relations between Germany and Great Britain.

The letter is said to have caused much satisfaction.

VIENNA WILL GUARD KAISER.

Extraordinary Precautions to be Taken on His Visit There To-morrow.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

VIENNA, March 21.—On the occasion of the German Emperor's visit to Vienna Saturday extremely rigorous police measures will be taken, especially about the park and imperial residence of Schönbrunn, which will be entirely closed to the public, a thing which has never been done before.

The reason for this is the fear of Anarchist attempts.

VENICE, March 21.—All suspected persons residing here and in the surrounding towns have been arrested by the police, as the authorities desire to prevent the occurrence of any untoward incident on the occasion of the coming visit of the German Emperor.

Reinforcements of troops have also been assembled here.

KAISER'S WARSHIPS COMING.

Swift Moltke and Two Other Cruisers Will Repay Our Fleet's Visit.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

BERLIN, March 21.—I learn to-night that it is now definitely decided that the new armored cruiser Moltke, accompanied by a smaller cruiser, will cross the ocean in June and join forces with the cruiser Bremen of Germany's Western Atlantic station for the purpose of repaying in New York and other ports the American fleet's visit to Germany in 1911. Prince Adalbert will not participate in the cruise.

The Moltke is a thirty-knot vessel, the fastest in the Kaiser's navy.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Friday, March 22.—The Times's Vienna correspondent says:

"The Hungarian Amoritzen Bank, whose President, M. de Szivak, committed suicide yesterday, has suspended payment. Its exact liabilities are not known. Many of the bills in its portfolio are said to bear forged signatures.

"It is feared that the liquidation will involve not only loss but discredit for some financial and political circles of the Hungarian capital.'"

PROTEST TO YUAN BY FOUR POWERS

America, England, France, and Germany Say Loan Agreement Has Been Broken.

EX-EMPEROR IS NOT PAID

Yuan Says He Has Not Enough Funds for Monthly Allowance and Must Postpone It.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Friday, March 22.—A telegram from Peking to The Times says:

"The Ministers of Great Britain, the United States, France, and Germany are arranging to hand a joint note verbale to President Yuan Shi-Kai protesting against the Anglo-Belgian loan because it violates the conditions stated in the exchange of notes between the President and the 'Four Nations'' Banks on March 9.

"The action of Tang Shao-Yi, who is responsible for the loan, though the President himself signed it, is generally condemned in Peking in strong terms as adding to the country's difficulties by making enemies of powerful banks and exposing the President to the annoyance of protests from foreign Ministers."

LONDON, Friday, March 22.—According to a Peking dispatch to The Daily Telegraph, the Russo-Belgian group of financiers will advance another loan amounting to $45,000,000 when the Nanking Council ratifies the agreement.

The group announces that it is prepared to grant to China accommodation to any extent on the same terms, and it is understood that Premier Tang Shao-Yi purposes to call for $250,000,000 in the course of the year.

TIEN-TSIN, March 21—President Yuan Shi-Kai, has been obliged to postpone the payment of the ex-Emperor's monthly pension.

Pressure was brought to bear on the President, but Yuan pleaded his inability to pay the sum owing to lack of funds.

VOTE FOR CHINESE WOMEN.

Nanking Parliament Decides to Give Them Same Rights as Men.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Equal suffrage was granted to the women of China yesterday by the Parliament at Nanking, according to a cablegram received here to-day. The law will become effective immediately.

Women voters will be subjected to the same restrictions as men and must be able to read and write and also be property owners and at least 20 years old.

Yik Yug-Ying, who has been called the "Mrs. Pankhurst of China," was elected a member of Parliament yesterday from Canton. She is a college graduate.

OXYGEN GAS FOR RUNNERS.

Prof. Lankester Asks if Stockholm Athletes Can't Breathe It in Race.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 21.—In a letter to The London Times Sir Edwin Ray Lankester asks an interesting question. He writes:

"The competitors in the Marathon race at Stockholm will presumably be allowed to consume refreshments as they run. Such was the case when the race took place in London.

"Will you allow me to ask the authorities of the Olympian games to be held in Stockholm to state in your columns whether a competitor will be allowed to breathe, as he runs, oxygen gas from a bag carried by him?

"It would be extremely interesting to see whether such breathing is of material assistance to the runner, and as oxygen gas is not a drug, but as natural an article of consumption as water, there seems to be no reason why the runner should be disqualified for refreshing himself with it as he may with water or soup."

BOOM IN MARCONI SHARES.

London Believes Agreement Has Been Made with United States.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 21. — Enormous transactions took place in Marconi issues on the Stock Exchange to-day, and the old shares, which closed at about 4⅞ yesterday, opened this morning at 5¼ and closed at 5 7-16.

There is strong buying from New York, and it is stated that the result of the visit to the other side of Godfrey Isaacs, Manager of the Marconi Company, will shortly be seen in the announcement of an important agreement with the United States Government.

In the meanwhile Marconi shares are being "talked" considerably higher.

German Company Plans to Erect Seven 500-Foot Towers.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

BERLIN, March 21.—The German Wireless Telegraph Company has completed arrangements with the town of Neumunster, near Kiel, for the erection of a series of seven gigantic wireless towers, which, when completed, will comprise the largest station in the world. Each tower will be 500 feet high. Three towers will be constructed next Summer and the four others later.

The towers will be as high as the central station tower at Nauen, near Potsdam, but each station's equipment will be many times more powerful.

Verdict for Defendants in Her Suit Against The London Times.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 21.—A verdict for the defendants was returned to-day in the action brought by O Hanna San (Harriet Day) against The Times, which said in regard to the plaintiff's vaudeville act that "in a vision of Japan she shows us not Japan, but a bad American imitation."

The hearing of the libel action was begun yesterday before Mr. Justice Darling, who made some remarks in his celebrated humorous-ironical style about the arguments of Miss Day's counsel.

MAJOR BUTT SEES THE POPE.

And Rumors Start in Rome About the Purpose of His Visit.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

ROME, March 21.—The marked cordiality with which Major Archibald W. Butt, personal aid to President Taft, has been received by the Pope, Secretary of State Merry del Val, and Cardinal Rampolla, together with the extreme reserve maintained by Major Butt concerning his conversation, especially with the Papal Secretary of State, has given rise to many reports as to the importance of his visit here and the consequences it may have in the near future in America.

According to some of these reports that are, of course, without verification, Major Butt's visit was connected with the attitude that American Catholics will take in the next Presidential election when, some observers here say, Roosevelt will pay dear for his attitude toward the Pope when in Rome he refused the Vatican's conditions for his visiting the Pontiff.

ROME, March 21—The Pope received today in private audience Major Archibald W. Butt, personal aide to President Taft, who was presented by Mgr. Thomas F. Kennedy, Titular Bishop of Adrianapolis and rector of the American College in Rome. The meeting was of a cordial nature.

Major Butt presented to the Pontiff an autograph letter from President Taft with which the Pope was greatly pleased. He recalled with pleasure the friendly intercourse between the Holy See and Mr. Taft in 1902 when the latter, then Civil Governor of the Philippines, came to Rome to negotiate the question of the Friars' lands in the Philippines.

PARIS, March 21.—Oscar Hammerstein, who has been in Paris searching for fresh talent for his forthcoming season at the London Opera House, has made several captures, the principal being Mme. Augusta Daria, who has been scoring a great success in Paris at the Lyrique Municipale.

She sings with equal facility in English, French, Italian, and German, and will create for Mr. Hammerstein the leading part in the new opera, "Children of the Dawn," which he will produce in the course of the season.

CASE OF BURIAL ALIVE.

Gravediggers Hear Sounds in Coffin—Body Is Found to Have Moved.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, March 21.—A case of supposed premature burial is reported from Medé, near Toulouse. A farmer named Garton was supposed to have died suddenly on Tuesday afternoon. The death certificate being signed, the funeral took place this afternoon.

When the earth was being shoveled on the coffin one of the grave diggers thought that he heard a groan coming from the open grave. The men stopped work, as they also heard sounds, and sent for a doctor. They raised the coffin and wrenched off the lid. The shroud was torn aside, and the gravediggers say it was evident that the body, which was still warm, had moved.

When the doctor arrived he tried artificial respiration, but it was too late.

TRACING SUFFRAGETTE PLOT.

London Officials Have Case Against Them Again Remanded.

LONDON, March 21.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, Mr. and Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, joint editors of Votes for Women, and Mrs. Mabel Tuke, suffragette leader, were again remanded by the magistrate at Bow Street Police Court after a further hearing to-day of the charge of conspiracy and inciting to commit malicious damage to property.

The evidence to-day was devoted to showing the organization of raids from headquarters occupied by the leaders of the Women's Social and Political Union, the wholesale purchase of hammers, &c.

The magistrate agreed to accept bail of $10,000 for Mrs. Mabel Tuke because of her poor health, but refused to release the others accused on bail.

MANY BURGLARIES ALARM BROOKLYN

Flatbush and Stuyvesant Heights Residents Say Lack of Police Is Responsible.

FEAR PROPERTY DECLINE

Ex-Senator Towne's Home Twice Robbed — Thieves Ransack the Apartments of Henry W. Hart.

Residents of the Flatbush, Stuyvesant Heights, and other sections of Brooklyn are worried by the reports of burglaries which have been of frequent occurrence lately. Citizens in Bath Beach and Flatbush have complained to the Police Commissioner about the lack of police protection.

The home of former United States Senator Charles A. Towne of Minnesota, at 1,160 Ocean Avenue, has been robbed twice within the last three months. The first time the thieves were frightened by the ringing of the telephone bell, but got away with property worth $700. They returned last Wednesday night and, finding the coast clear, stole $1,500 worth of clothing, silverware, trinkets, and other articles. Mr. Towne and his wife were visiting his parents at their home, 319 West 143d Street, Manhattan, and did not know about the robbery until their return. The negro servant had also been out that evening.

Mr. Towne has intimated that he is thinking of moving away to a district where burglars do not intrude. Where that section is he did not say. He said yesterday that the police system in Flatbush was "a joke." In his opinion, the lack of police protection is keeping people from buying property there.

Another robbery that was made public yesterday took place at the home of Henry W. Hart, 1,335 Pacific Street, Brooklyn, on Tuesday. Mr. Hart is President of the Hart Publishing Company. Mrs. Hart left the house on Tuesday morning and when she returned at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon she found her apartments on the first floor upset. Everything of value that could be carried off had disappeared. The thieves took jewelry, silverware, and dresses worth $2,000. From the fingerprints on the front door the police believe that one of the robbers was a woman.

Two negroes and a white man held up Arthur Davis of 745 Gates Avenue while he was waiting for a train on the platform of the Manhattan Junction Station of the Broadway elevated line early yesterday morning. One of the men struck him with the butt of a revolver and the others rifled his pockets. They took a gold ring from his finger and some change. Then they heard footsteps on the bridge which leads over the tracks at that station and started to run along the platform.

Two of them ran into the arms of Detective Lowe, who was on the opposite platform and saw the hold-up. Lowe and another detective captured the two negroes, but the third, a white man, escaped. In the Gates Avenue Court the prisoners gave their names as Sunny Baskerville, 21 years old, of Hudson Avenue, and Frank Jackson, 21, of Waverly Avenue.

Neighbors of Assemblyman George Helberger of the Fifth Assembly District, who lives at 451 Willoughby Avenue, learned yesterday that his family is with him in Albany because they fear that burglars who entered their place last week and took $700 worth of articles may return. Mrs. Heiberger and her sister-in-law were home when the robbery was committed, but the thief worked quietly until he gathered his loot. He was then discovered and fled.

AFRAID TO FACE 100 WOMEN.

That's Chicago's Charge Against Frederick T. Martin, Who Abandons Lecture.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 21.—The knowledge that more than 100 women were waiting to hear him speak, when he had expected to address a gathering of men, proved too much for Frederick Townsend Martin of New York to-day, and he lost no time in placing many miles between himself and the women.

Mr. Martin came to Chicago to address the Klio Club. He thought it was an organization of men to whom he was to tell the fads and fancies, sins and foibles, of "the idle rich."

When he learned that it was an organization of society women he didn't even wait to send regrets. He asked some one to telephone them that his train was nine hours late, and that he would be unable to speak. As a matter of fact, he left Chicago for New York shortly after 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

CHILD'S TALE MAY FREE HIM.

Little Girl Testifies for Brother, on Trial for a Shooting.

The death of a kitten, a cigar box, a broken leg, an invitation to New Year's dinner, and the fact that sewing school was not open, are all facts which the defense contends will acquit Daniel Russo, 18 years old, of attempted murder, while the Italian death sign, a spoken threat, a suicide, and a trial for attempted robbery are facts upon which the prosecution hopes to prove the attempted murder.

Russo is the second oldest of a family of four children, two girls and two boys, living at 227 East Ninety-seventh Street. He is charged with shooting Bernard Ettman of 67 East 108th Street on Dec. 28 last. Ettman is the manager of the Harlem Garage, 55 East 108th Street, and was the complainant witness against Russo, his brother Peter, and Chester Clayborne, who were tried on a charge of attempted robbery before Judge Rosalsky on Nov. 15. Peter was convicted, the jury announcing that they had not convicted Daniel because he was the only son left to support his mother.

Immediately after Peter's conviction, Daniel, it is alleged, made the Italian death sign to Ettman and then approached him in the corridor of the Criminal Court Building and said: "I will croak you yet." Later Clayborne attempted to take vengeance upon Ettman, and, failing, committed suicide by throwing a sledge hammer up in the air and letting it fall on his head. Daniel Russo then stepped in, according to Assistant District Attorney O'Malley, went to Ettman's place of business, and shot him.

Lucy Russo, the twelve-year-old sister of the defendant, testified yesterday that her brother was home at 8 o'clock on the morning of the shooting and could not have shot Ettman. When asked how she remembered, she said:

"Well, my kitten died on that day and I buried it in an empty cigar box, a girl friend of mine broke her leg by falling on the ice, my Uncle Fred came and gave us all an invitation to New Year's dinner, and when I went to sewing school it was closed on account of the holidays."

Other witnesses testified to the good character of the defendant, and then Judge Mulqueen adjourned the case until to-day. After he had done so Policeman Ditsch, who arrested Russo, told Mr. O'Malley that after he had testified the defendant had made the Italian death sign to him in court.

MISS NEWBERRY RETURNS.

Her Engagement to Capt. Alleyne Is Confirmed by Her Father.

Among the 327 cabin passengers returning yesterday from Bermuda on the Royal Mail Steam Packet Arcadian was Miss Carol B. Newberry, daughter of Truman H. Newberry of Detroit, former Secretary of the Navy, whose engagement to Capt. W. H. Alleyne of the Queen's Regiment was announced by Marconi wireless in yesterday's TIMES.

Miss Newberry, who was accompanied by her mother, was met at the pier by her father. He confirmed the report of the engagement, but said that they had intended to keep it secret until Sunday and announce it from their home then. He said that Capt. Alleyne was 32 years old, and a fine specimen of the British soldier. He is a polo player, and has spent nine years of his army service in India.

The wedding will take place in June at their home, and the bride will take up her residence in Bermuda after the honeymoon trip.

Another passenger on the Arcadian was William G. McAdoo, who traveled under the name of Robert Pitcher with his friend Henry Weeks. He made himself known to Purser Newman on Wednesday night, and said he did not wish his name to appear on the passenger list.

Passengers who made the round trip on the ship were pleased with the tribute of respect paid by Capt. Custance to the memory of the Maine. At 3 P. M. a gun was fired and the ship stopped while the quartermasters broke the Stars and Stripes at the foretruck and lowered the colors to half mast and also the blue ensign at the taffrail. The ship's bell tolled every 15 seconds until 3:05, when another gun was fired and the flags were slowly raised while the buglers sounded the "last post" and the ship went full speed ahead. The officers and crew stood at attention during the ceremony and the passengers stood bareheaded on the quarter deck.

HYDE TRIAL SET FOR APRIL 1.

District Attorney to Ask for Special Panel of Talesmen.

District Attorney Charles S. Whitman announced last night that he will appear before Justice Seabury, in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court, to-day and ask that a special panel of talesmen be summoned to try ex-City Chamberlain Charles H. Hyde.

The order will be made returnable on April 1, and unless Hyde makes some objection, which will require several days to settle, the trial will be started on that date.

BANDIT MASQUERADES IN WOMAN'S CLOTHES

One of a Pair on Washington Heights So Disguised, Say Two Women Victims.

MISS CLARA CRANE HELD UP

Daughter of the Police Magistrate Relieved of Her Money Near the Rhinecliff Apartments.

Women living in the various apartment houses and hotels in the neighborhood of Riverside Drive and 156th Street are unusually timid about going out alone at night just now because at least two women have been held up and robbed in that district in the last three weeks.

Miss Clara Crane, the daughter of Magistrate Leroy B. Crane, who lives in the Rhinecliff Apartments at Riverside Drive and West 156th Street, was held up by two robbers near her home, between Broadway and Riverside Drive, at 8:30 in the evening two weeks ago. They got a small sum of money from her.

A Miss Dunlop, who is a relative of Frank J. Farrel, President of the New York American League baseball team, was also held up by two footpads just after she had stepped out of the door of the Rhinecliff, where she had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Farrell, one evening about three weeks ago. They took what money she had and a gold bracelet.

Neither Miss Crane nor Miss Dunlop, according to the police of the West 152d Street Station, reported the robberies, and the police don't know whether any other women living on Riverside Drive or in the neighborhood have been held up and robbed.

Miss Crane and Miss Dunlop appear to have been held up by the same two highwaymen. One is a man and the other, they both believe, is a man dressed in woman's clothes.

Miss Crane said yesterday that she was returning home after having dined with a friend downtown. She left the Subway at 157th Street and Broadway, and was walking westward in 156th Street when she was stopped by the pair. They suddenly stepped out of a dark doorway and called to her to stop.

"It was so dark that I couldn't see what either of them looked like," said Miss Crane. "The robber in man's clothes told me to hand over my valuables. They both stood quite close to me, but didn't try to seize me. It was only when they saw me hesitating and looking up and down the street for help that the robber in man's clothes said: 'Hand over your handbag or I'll hit you.'

"He snatched my bag containing $2.30 out of my hand, and he and his companion ran back toward Broadway. The reason I didn't make an outcry was that the loss of the money wasn't worth the inconvenience and notoriety. As soon as I entered the Rhinecliff I told the servants in the lobby, and they ran out and looked for the two robbers, but they had disappeared."

According to the doorman of the Rhinecliff, the robbery of Miss Dunlop occurred about a week previous to that of Miss Crane. Miss Dunlop, after having dined with the Farrells, had left the Rhinecliff for home. A few minutes later she came running back greatly excited, saying that as she was walking through West 156th Street toward the Subway she had been stopped by a man and a woman, who had snatched her hangbag and twisted a gold bracelet off her wrist. The doorman and Mr. Farrell made a vain search for the highwaymen.

COMMUTERS' TRAINS DELAYED

Thousands Held Up When Water Main at Mt. Vernon Bursts.

Trains on the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad were delayed several hours yesterday by the bursting of a big water main under the tracks near the Columbus Avenue station, Mount Vernon. The embankment at that point was so badly weakened by the flow of water that all trains eastbound were run over the main express tracks.

The accident occurred while thousands of commuters were on their way home to Mount Vernon, New Rochelle, and other towns on the line, and many missed their dinners. At the Mount Vernon station the express and local tracks are divided by fences, and the commuters, unless they walked the length of the train to the baggage gate, had to climb over the fences in order to reach the platforms.

WOMAN HELD IN AUTO CASE.

Miss Ruhl, Who Ran Down a Wagon Driver, Must Answer for It.

Miss Jeannette Ruhl, who was driving a limousine automobile from this city to her home at Rockville Centre, L. I., on Wednesday night when she collided with a wagon driven by Charles Bock in Newtown, was arraigned yesterday before Magistrate Leach in the Flushing Court and held in $1,000 bail on a charge of reckless driving and felonious assault.

Bock is in St. Mary's Hospital, Jamaica, where it is said he is suffering from a possible fracture of the skull. Folowing the accident the young woman was arrested, but was released later on $2,000 bail, furnished by her mother, Mrs. Jennie Ruhl.

Miss Ruhl was accompanied by her mother and Lawyer T. E. O'Brien of 31 Nassau Street when her case was called yesterday morning, and after reading the complaint Mr. O'Brien requested to have the word "intoxication," which was in the complaint, stricken out, but after deliberating some time the Magistrate denied the motion.

In addition to reckless driving Miss Ruhl was charged with operating an automobile without a license. At the time of the accident she admitted to the police that she was not the owner of the car.

On motion of Mr. O'Brien an adjournment was granted until next Friday. Mrs. Ruhl went on her daughter's bond for $1,000.

A Distinguished GIMBEL Collection Of SPRING CLOTHING for Men

Right on the dot with the calendar and a little bit ahead of the weather, this fine display of Gimbel Suits and Overcoats, says "Spring" in each smart line and each distinctive new material.

We are not ashamed to confess that we're learning every day and our 1912 models of Men's Clothing show what a great deal more we know than we did a year ago—even in the face of our last season's style leadership.

For one thing, we have the English effect of tailoring in the no-padded shoulders and the soft rolling lapels of our Sack Suits (which we originated a year ago) down to a pretty fine point. You will find them not only in the higher-priced Suits at $25, $28, $30 and $40, but also in many of the Suits at $15. And any tailor will tell you what an achievement that is.

Materials are exceedingly handsome. One notices at once the Oxford and King's blues, (this is to be a great blue season), and the new amethyst stripes, as well as the wide choice in grays, browns and mixtures, smooth and rough fabrics.

The New Styles of Spring Coats Are of Especial Individuality

Chief among them is the new Gimbel "Avenue" Coat, which is by far the most important new style of the season, and which has been accorded the honor of being bought for the purpose of copying it by many of the principal wholesale tailors of the country. It has short, but full skirt, belted back, cuffed sleeves and generally swagger appearance. We now show it in drab and Oxford gray covert cloth, as well as the rough loosely-woven cheviots, in King's blue, brown, and stylish mixtures. $35.

Besides, there are many other Spring Overcoats in styles suitable for both town and country wear, such as Raglan and Split-sleeve Coats, as well as the more conventional Chesterfields. One style of the latter is in a fine iron-gray basket weave, with silk-faced lapels and braided edges, at $35; while another, in black or Oxford gray, with no-padding shoulders, and soft lapels, is remarkable, at $25.

Men critical in their dress are urged to inspect the showing. Fourth Floor.

Men's Shirts to Make Talk at $1

If these Shirts won't produce an epidemic of commendatory conversation, at first sight—and subsequently—we miss our guess badly. It is the first time they have been coupled with a single, plain, unvarnished dollar mark—they were made for higher spheres.

Only 1500 of them—a mere bagatelle. Every one new, perfect, and in one of a score or more of desirable patterns—Spring stripes, and Spring colorings, on fine white percale. Plaited or negligee bosoms, attached cuffs, all in coat style. Sizes 14 to 17; various sleeve-lengths.

Just a surplus of a good maker's $1.50 and $2 Shirts; and "it never can happen again." $1 each.

Men's $1.50 Pajamas, $1 Suit

Just 50 per cent. of extra value in these Pajamas, at their price, for they are cut from a maker's surplus materials, over our regular Pajama pattern, and finished up in $1.50 fashion, with white loops, military collars and pearl buttons. Neat, printed stripe effects on white madras.

Knitted Silk Scarfs at $1.05

Ranks replenished. Men versed in scarf lore have spotted them for what they are—$2 Neckties or better, and acted accordingly. Hence, we called in the reserves. Effective weaves, with the air of hand-knitting. Plain colors, mixtures, smart stripes—straight and bias. Easily the most popular Scarfs of the minute. $1.05 each. Main Fl.

Since November, 1874, we have been conducting this business as a firm in which a number of individuals were interested, although the principals whose names it bears have long since passed away.

Of late years it has become fashionable to incorporate and you know we, who undertake to supply fashionable things, must keep in the fashion ourselves. Other good business reasons have influenced us to incorporate, and to-day ends the life of this partnership. To-morrow it will be Rogers Peet Company.

We have so long dealt with our public in such an intimate and friendly way that it seems fitting to explain that the change in no wise affects the methods or personality of the organization. The surviving members of the old firm and their associates are to be the stockholders, directors and managers of the new corporation. No other change is contemplated.

DIX THE TARGET AT ALBANY DINNER

Roosevelt, Bryan, Taft, and the Old Guard Also Burlesqued by Correspondents.

MURPHY'S MAGICAL MESSAGE

Governor, Depicted on Crutches and in Bandages, Recovers When the Tammany Leader Summons Him.

ALBANY, March 21.—Politicians and public officials from Gov. Dix down had a chance to-night to see themselves, through a humorous lens, as others see them. The occasion was the annual dinner of the Legislative Correspondents' Association at the Hotel Ten Eyck. Newspaper men who record doings and listen to statescraft took their farcical revenge, and in song and burlesque skits parodied and satirized events of political and legislative life.

Among the guests were Gov. John A. Dix, United States Senator James A. O'Gorman, Lieut. Gov. Thomas F. Conway, William Barnes, Jr., Chairman of the Republican State Committee, George M. Palmer, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, and many legislators.

The guests marched into the dining room preceded by a fife and drum corps of the Old Guard, made up in the fashion of the well-known picture, "The Spirit of '76." Each wore a Colonial cocked hat. At each place, instead of the customary card, was a telegram. The messages were all pointed and some of them laughingly personal. Senator Wagner, the Tammany leader, for instance, found one as follows: "I appreciate very much what you have done for me. Edward G. Riggs." State Chairman Barnes received this message: "We are both practical men—why can't we get together? T. R."

Joseph J Early, President of the Association, made a brief address welcoming the Old Guard back into power. Then began the dinner which was constantly interrupted by songs, college yells, and skits.

While the diners were giving grave attention to the soup, the President announced that that awesome body, the Masters of the Old Guard, were about to meet and determine who the next Governor of the State would be. Then entered three individuals wrapped in huge fur coats with masks, accompanied by three bell boys carrying bagfuls of documents. After them came six advocates prepared to present arguments in favor of various candidates for the Governorship. The claims of the present Governor were taken up first. Unfortunately, no one seemed to have any arguments in favor of his renomination. Finally a friend proclaimed that Commander de Kay hadn't decided whether he wanted to run Mr. Dix for President or Governor, and the Governor hadn't made up his mind; so his case was dismissed summarily with an extension of thirty days.

James W. Wadsworth, Jr., was described as "a fearless young independent who will do just what the machine tells him." Other support in his favor was that Billy Barnes desired him and that he would open up the race tracks. At this announcement there was cheering from one corner of the room. It was traced to Christie Sullivan, Senator Gittins, and Johnnie Mack, who were ejected for their display of enthusiasm.

Later one of the members guided into the centre of the dining room a motley group of individuals and announced that he had rounded up a bunch of Presidential candidates for exhibition to the Association and its guests. Among them were T. Roosevelt, who shied his hat into the ring and danced all around it, while he declared himself an aggressive, a progressive, a conservative, a radical, an Old Guardsman, and the whole show. Following him came Mr. Bryan, who announced that he was going to be President ONCE, if he had to run sixteen times. Messrs. Wilson, Clark, Underwood, and Harmon had a word to say in backing their candidacies, but while they were arguing, the band struck up "Hail to the Chief," and a huge counterpart of President Taft walked majestically into the dining room. The President announced that he hadn't any Ananias Club and was only a conservative. "Back to the Constitution," he quoted, was a good enough motto for him. "My hat's not in the ring," he said, "it's hanging on the White House door and its going to stay there for four years more. If Teddy's hat is in the ring, I'll pick it up. If Teddy is under it—well—I'll SIT ON HIM."

The Legislature was collectively described from the reporters' point of view in a song under the title, "Every Honest Statesman Has Some Interest of His Own." It ran like this:

The Capitol's a funny place,
Where statesmen congregate to legislate;
They come to "cure" the people's ills
And bring along a ton of bills;
But when the real work comes along
And the session's end is nigh
You see them flag the people's bills
To let their own get by—For

CHORUS.

Every honest statesman has some interests of his own,
Every legislator wants his good things let alone;
And all the hot-air and agitation
Over water and conservation
And Niagara's illumination
Has a meaning all its own.

Every honest statesman has some interests of his own,
Conway says the work's all right and should be let alone;
While Charley Murphy was sound in slumber,
Conway grabbed the contract number
And let Dix pile up the lumber—
That's a meaning all its own.

The last item of the evening presented Gov. Dix, who was escorted into the dining room leaning on crutches, his head wrapped in a huge bandage, and presenting every indication of having spent an unfavorable half hour under the Tammany steam roller. A retinue of anxious physicians and secretaries hovered around him. He smelled at a bottle of talcum powder which Commander de Kay, his Military Secretary, presented solicitously, and soliloquized on the passing glories of an Executive. Physicians gathered around him and described his symptoms: "Cold feet, fever, and a vacillating mind, a spinal affection, indicating need of braces for the spine." They agreed that it was a critical case and that his end was near, and were about to escort him to his bedchamber when a messenger boy rushed in with a telegram summoning him to meet "Charley" at the Knickerbocker. The Governor glanced at his watch, saw that he had only ten minutes to make a train, threw away his crutches, gathered up his bath-robe and ran wildly from the room.

TO ARM COURT ATTENDANTS.

Waldo and McAdoo Decide to Give Them Police Powers.

Court attendants in the various boroughs of the city will in future have special police powers. It was announced after a conference between Commissioner Waldo and Chief Magistrate McAdoo that the attendants would be provided with firearms.

"Men attached to the Bureau of Weights and Measures have been sworn in as special policemen and I can see no good reason why the court attendants should not be given these powers also," said Mr. Waldo yesterday. "They come in constant communication with criminals of all sorts."

"Sometime ago Commissioner Waldo suggested that we do a little police work for ourselves and to that end volunteered to give police badges and privileges to the court attendants," said Magistrate McAdoo. "This does not include the clerks or any one else. It only applies to the uniformed attendants, and this was before the shooting up of the court house down in Virginia, and has nothing to do with that occurrence.

"Court attendants often have to exercise police powers. Recently a prisoner with a revolver would have used it had he not been overpowered by one of the court attendants."

There are 250 court attendants in the five boroughs and they will shortly be sworn in as special policemen.

It was stated that the sending of a bomb to Judge Rosalsky did not have anything to do with the decision.

THROAT DISEASE FATAL.

Dwight Lawrence Succumbs in Chicago to Infection Now Epidemic.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 21.—A disease known to physicians as streptococci sore throat is epidemic in Chicago, and has caused many deaths, among others that of Dwight Lawrence, a wealthy lawyer and one of the originators of the Roosevelt National Committee.

John S. Runnells, President of the Pullman Company, and his son, Clive Runnells, are seriously ill at their home, 1,525 North State Street, with the disease.

"The epidemic of sore throat is unusually severe, and is characterized by complications strikingly different from those of other years," said Dr. D. J. Davis of the Memorial Institute for Infectious Diseases, to-night.

"That it is generally prevalent is attested by numerous physicians. It is fatal in many cases. "In practically all cases of sore throat we have found a streptococcus presenting certain peculiar characteristics. Among the complications often presented are erysipelas, pulmonary abscess, meningitis, and peritonitis.

"The cocci, as they are called, appear linked together in a chain, in very large numbers usually. They possess a high degree of virulence, readily killing guinea pigs, mice, and rabbits in from five to twenty hours after inoculation of small quantities.

"The deaths from this malady are quick this year and the whole course of the disease is short," said Dr. E. C. Rosenow.

GANS'S PARTNER A WITNESS.

John Iselin Examined by the Grand Jury in the Brandt Inquiry.

John Iselin, the former partner of Howard S. Gans, counsel for Mortimer L. Schiff, was the only witness examined yesterday by the Grand Jury which is investigating the circumstances under which Foulke E. Brandt was sentenced for robbing Mr. Schiff, his former employer. Late in the afternoon the Grand Jury adjourned. It will meet again on Tuesday, when Mr. Iselin will resume his testimony.

It was learned yesterday that on the course of her testimony before the Grand Jury last Tuesday, Miss Virginia Hudson, formerly a reporter for The New York American, had testified that while Brandt was in the Tombs in 1907 she had seen him in his cell and had ordered two dinners to be sent to him. She declared that she had no knowledge as to who had paid for the dinners, and asserted that they had not been charged to the newspaper by which she was employed. She added, it is understood, that her expenses in connection with the assignment had amounted to $1.50, the items being a dollar fee to a prison official for the privilege of seeing Brandt and 50 cents for messenger service to the Schiff home.

ABANDON $4,000,000 PRISON SITE, SAYS DIX

UNSUITABLE AND UNHEALTHY

Recommends the Erection of a Jail for Executions and Life Convicts Instead.

ALBANY, March 21.—Gov. Dix, in a special message sent to the Legislature to-day, recommends the immediate enactment of legislation for the abandonment of the proposed Harlem prison at Wingdale, and the cancellation of existing contracts to build the institution. He urges that provision be made for the erection on the Wingdale site of a suitable prison for condemned criminals and for the detention of life convicts. The Republican Assembly leaders have declared that they are opposed to this plan.

The Governor says that a commission appointed last year to investigate the Department of State Prisons and the Commission on New Prisons, which made a special report to the Legislature this session, hold a similar view. The objections to the site are on the ground of the proximity of a water-flow dangerously near the foundation levels; inadequate drainage; a questionable water supply, with considerable uncertainty as to its development unless at a very high cost; comparative inaccessibility, with incidental high rates for transportation, and the heavy cost of a completed plant entailed largely by reason of the location.

"The report," says the Governor, "shows that $400,000 has been thus far expended in the project, although the construction work actually accomplished includes only a few thousand dollars worth of concrete foundation footings. The completion of the plant wil require an additional outlay of $3,500,000. This huge expenditure does not include any estimate for furnishings and equipment.

"The construction of the Great Meadow Prison, which was not thought of when the Wingdale Prison was authorized, has proceeded so far that, in the opinion of the Superintendent of Prisons, the demand for prison accommodations can be easily met without recourse to another large prison plant.

"Although the commission has been both authorized and directed to proceed with the building of a prison at Wingdale, it has been so impressed with the gravity of the situation that, in the conscientious discharge of its official duty, it felt compelled to bring the above facts to the attention of the Legislature, which manifestly must have acted hitherto either in ignorance of or under a misapprehension as to the essential conditions.

"I remind the Legislature that it alone has power to decide this serious and important question; and if the recommendation of the Executive, of the Superintendent of Prisons, of a commission appointed by the Governor, and of the commission which is the direct legislative agent to carry out the project, shall be ignored, the Legislature alone must accept responsibility for what will justly be deemed a reckless and wasteful extravagance, and what I can view in no other light than as a grave disregard of official duty.

"To build a four million dollar prison on the edge of a swamp, with inadequate drainage, a very questionable water supply, and at a location wanting in economical transportation facilities, would be bad enough under any circumstances. To do so in deliberate defiance of the uncontroverted report of a body of disinterested officials appointed under legislative sanction, and in face of the assurance of the Superintendent of Prisons that no such prison facilities are now demanded, would be a manifest outrage upon the rights of the taxpayers, who are already in just rebellion against the increasingly heavy burdens which are being imposed upon them.

"I urgently recommend the immediate enactment of legislation for the abandonment of the Wingdale Prison project and the cancellation of the existing contracts to build the prison, and for the construction at Wingdale of a suitable prison for the execution of the death penalty and for the detention of all those who have been sentenced to life imprisonment."

City Accepts Miss Isham's Gift.

The Board of Estimate accepted yesterday the offer of Miss Flora E. Isham of property for an extension to Isham Park, 215th Street and Broadway. The addition to the park consists of two and one-third acres, and it will have the effect of preserving the present outlook from the park across the Hudson River and the Harlem Ship Canal. At the same time a small forest of trees will be saved.

'NORTHER' STRIKES GIANTS IN CAMP

Manager McGraw Abandons Baseball Practice When Cold Wind Sweeps Marlin.

Special to The New York Times.

MARLIN, Texas, March 21.—Manager McGraw's hopes for a whirlwind finish to the most disappointing training trip the Giants have experienced in years received a set-back to-day when another "norther," with its rain and cold, swept into Marlin. The last of the regular series of practice games between the veterans and the colts had to be called off, and never will be played, for to-night a section of the junior squad breaks camp and moves north to Dallas for a special exhibition game to-morrow.

Little work had been planned for the morning session and even less was accomplished. Few of the players quit last night's farewell dance before 2 o'clock A. M., and none came downstairs until after 10 this morning. McGraw led his tired flock on a long run, but asked nothing more of them.

By noon the "norther" was in full swing and all hope of engaging in any sort of work during the afternoon period was abandoned. Most of the colts were in uniform and some of the regulars. McGraw threw a few balls in batting practice, but the players could not remove their heavy mackinaws, and the hitting was so unsatisfactory that McGraw called it off after a few minutes' trial. It was too cold even for handball.

Twelve athletes were in the party that left Marlin to-night, among them four members of last season's team. They are Groh, Johnston, Becker, Bues, Burns, Herzog, Stock, Hartley, Paulet, Munsell, Ferrell, and Pierce.

Devlin was to have traveled with this team, but Herzog, after four days on the side lines, said his injured hand was well enough to permit him to play.

The remainder of the squad will leave Marlin at midnight to-morrow, joining the advance guard at Dallas on Saturday morning. The final division for the trip north will not be made until after the Sunday games at Fort Worth and Dallas.

YANKEES LOAF HALF A DAY.

Not Feeling Very Gay After Wednesday's Hard Game with Atlanta.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 21.—The New York Americans to-day were feeling the effects of their clash with the Atlantas yesterday, and had an afternoon of luxurious ease. However, they were not excused from work because of any physical lassitude, but because the Cincinnati Reds and the Atlantas played a game in the afternoon. The Yankees did their work in the morning, batting being followed by a sharp and swift fielding practice.

For the batting drill the pitchers were Upham, Clark, Shears, and Quinn. Clark, the left hander from the Western League, is carrying a sore arm, and could make only little use of his natural free overhand swing. He had to throw underhanded, a style of delivery he does not employ ordinarily. Each batter in his turn took two cracks at the ball, the first a bunt, and then a wallop. It was chiefly a training in getting the eye on the ball, and with no team manoeuvres.

For the infield practice, Wolverton went to third base and divided the work there with Dolan. The manager had the infielders bristling with pepper, and though the work was not much in technical excellence, the men made things hum with their energy. It looks more and more as if Wolverton knew how to keep his men on their toes. Dolan set a fast pace for the manager at third, but the latter is as nimble as any of his aids except in the legs.

Erhard took up the shortstop duties when Hartzell retired, and Priest went to first base when Chase went to the clubhouse. Gardner stuck it out at second base unrelieved. The weather was hot.

TWO BASEBALL DECISIONS.

Player Deal Declared Free Agent—Herzog Wins $375 Case.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, March 21.—In one of two decisions made public to-day by the National Baseball Commission a new rule was adopted affecting players known as "free agents."

Player Charles A. Deal complained to the commission that while a free agent he signed with the Philadelphia National League team at a stipulated salary for the playing season of 1912. On reporting on March 9 to go on the training trip with the team he was informed that he had been released to the Lancaster team of the Tri-State League at a salary 50 per cent. less than he had signed for.

The commission annulled the release to the Lancaster Club, and restored Deal to his status as a free agent. The rule adopted declared that a free agent who signs a contract with a National Agreement club and is transferred without his consent to another club or is released without a trial shall be declared a free agent if the club to which he is released does not assume the salary his original contract calls for.

Charles L. Herzog of the New York National League team was allowed $375, half of the draft price paid by the Cincinnati National League team in 1911 to the Reading Club of the Tri-State League for Pitcher Horsey. Herzog was allowed the amount as he had a written agreement with the Reading Club that he was to receive half of the draft price for the player in case he was drafted in 1910 or 1911, Herzog having induced Horsey to sign with the Reading Club.

Superbas Off for Louisville.

Special to The New York Times.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 21.—After having five days of good practice here the Brooklyn baseball players were forced to remain idle the entire day on account of rain last night and nearly all day. It was a big disappointment, as Dahlen had an exhibition game scheduled, and was hoping that the local club would make his players extend themselves more than in the two previous games. All the players are in good condition, with the exception of Wheat, Hummel, and Reilly. The Superbas' left fielder is moving around with the aid of a cane, and will be out of the game for a week at least. Reilly and Hummel don their uniforms daily, but do very little practicing on account of injuries. The entire team left here to-night for Louisville in two private cars. To-morrow the Superbas will work out on the Louisville grounds, and on Saturday a four days' exhibition game series will start. After this Indianapolis will be visited for a similar series, the second team going to Terre Haute for two days.

Baseball Results in South.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 21.—The Cincinnati Nationals defeated the Atlanta team of the Southern League to-day 9 to 3. In the fourth inning the visitors got two home runs and three other scores off Pitcher Martin Walsh, brother of Ed Walsh.

BEAUMONT, Texas, March 21.—The second team of the Philadelphia Americans to-day defeated the Beaumont (Texas) League team, 5 to 4.

NEW ORLEANS, March 21.—New Orleans batters landed on three Cleveland American pitchers to-day for twelve hits, winning the game by a 4 to 2 score. James, Sweetser, and Swindell took turns in the box for the visitors.

St. Louis Spring Games Postponed.

ST. LOUIS, March 21.—The opening game of the series between the St. Louis American League and National League teams, which was scheduled for Saturday, was postponed to-day until March 30. Cold weather and the frozen baseball grounds caused the postponement. The team will condition in the South for another week.

Wilson a State League Umpire.

Jay Gould Wins at Court Tennis.

PHILADELPHIA, March 21.—In a special match at court tennis at the Racquet Club here this afternoon Jay Gould, court tennis champion of the United States, defeated F. C. Tompkins, champion professional of the club. The score was 6—3, 6—1, 6—0.

QUEBEC HOCKEY VICTORY.

Wanderers Defeated at Rink in Professional Championship Series.

The Quebec and Wanderer teams of Canada were opponents last night at St. Nicholas rink in the game for the professional championship of America and a purse of $2,500, with the outcome a victory for the first named by a score of 5 goals to 4. Still another match is to be played before the title and money incidental to supremacy is decided, this being carded for to-morrow night.

As was anticipated the play of both teams stood out as the very best hockey that could be looked for. This was particularly the case during the first two periods at the expiration of which the board showed the tally to be 3 all, with the Quebec players coming from the rear in their successful realization of a tie to that point. They seemed to lack the ginger during the first period that they exhibited in the second, as the Wanderer six showed the way at the end of the first third of the game with 3 to 1 in their favor.

Two-thirds of the way through the last period Moran, the goal tender for the Quebec team, received a smash from the puck which had been shot with lightning force by Sprague Cleghorn in an attempt to score, and he was completely knocked out. He was taken from the ice, and after being in the rink physician's hands for fifteen minutes recovered and resumed playing. His upper lip was split, and the jawbone severely hurt by the contact of the hard rubber "puck." Four stitches were taken in the lip, and although he was not assailed by anything like the number of shots which had been aimed at him earlier in the contest, he was apparently very much in the contest.

There were few penalties, the majority being for minor offenses. The team work was beautiful, and while there were many runs of an individual nature which bordered on the spectacular, the game was at all times interesting and acceptable to the many partisans of each team. As usual, Artie Ross stood out as the main support of the Wanderer team in both offense and defense, the majority of his runs and carries being kaleidoscopic from the standpoint of his ability to dribble, hurdle, and shoot the rubber from all kinds of angles which kept Moran busy warding off.

Each of the Quebec contingent contributed his share to the victory. On the whole, their team work stood out in marked contrast to that of the Wanderer forces. The latter were invariably outskated by the man with the puck, and there was not the unanimity of action when they moved up the ice that marked the efforts of the upper Canadians.

Both goal tenders were veritable bulwarks, and defended in capital fashion, Moran in particular shining as a goalkeeper of the highest order.

Quebec was slow to get into action, and this permitted their opponents obtaining a lead through the services of Russell and Bernier, who scored two and one goals, respectively, while they were held to one tally by Malone. Marks and Malone evened up matters in the second period and left the score at this stage 3 all. In the concluding period Marks sent Quebec to the front by a tally from a scrimmage. Russell, from a beautiful carry, again made the board show 4 all, and what proved to be the concluding and victorious goal was shot by Hall as the result of a run up the rink midway during the period. The summary:

| Wanderer. | Position | Quebec. |
|---|---|---|
| Boyes | Goal | Moran |
| Ross | Point | Rodgers |
| S. Cleghorn | Cover point | Hall |
| Russell | Centre | Malone |
| O. Cleghorn | R. wing | Oatman, Marks |
| Bernier | L. wing | McDonald |

Goals, First Period—Russell, 6.00; Malone, 7.50; Bernier, 19.17. Second Period—Marks, 5.45; Malone, 10.40. Third Period—Marks, 4.00; Russell, 10.32; Hall, 11.20.

Penalties—Hall, 2.00, for loafing; Bernier, 2.00 tripping; Hall, tripping; Marks, slugging.

Referee—Russell Bowie. Assistant Referee—W. Russell, N. Y. Goal Managers—George Harmon, A. Bernier. Timers—W. J. Croker and E. J. Sullivan. Time—Three twenty minute periods.

Victoria Hockey Team Coming.

The Victorias of Winnipeg, amateur hockey champions of all Canada and the holders of the Sir Montagu Allen Trophy, emblematic of the title, will play here at the St. Nicholas Rink next Wednesday night against an all-star team of American players selected from the various teams in the Amateur Hockey League. The Victorias are making a tour of the East, playing the best teams that can be organized to meet them, and as no single amateur team in this vicinity was considered strong enough to cope with these expert young puck chasers, a team of all stars has been chosen to oppose them.

BENNETT RACE IN FALL.

European Contestants Cannot Come for Aviation Meet in August.

CHICAGO, March 21.—Inability of the European contestants for the Gordon Bennett Cup to make the trip to America for competition as early as Aug. 17 has made it necessary to postpone the race, together with the aviation meet, under the auspices of the Aero Club of Illinois.

These exhibitions were to have been held Aug. 10-17 in conjunction with the water carnival and pageant. Word was received from five European countries entered for the big race that their meets would delay them beyond these dates.

In consequence of this move the committee now plans to hold the races as late in the Fall as is practical.

CORNELL QUITS "THE OAKS."

Leaves Poughkeepsie Crew Quarters for Home on Roberts Estate.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 21—The Cornell crews have abandoned their historic training quarters on the Hudson River known as "The Oaks" and when the oarsmen go to Poughkeepsie this year they will occupy one of two training camps situated on the estate of Miss Frances Roberts, about three miles below Highland and 300 feet above the river.

"The Oaks" has been used by the Cornell crews for years, but Coach Courtney has always desired more secluded and better fitted up quarters for his crews. The men will take either two houses about a mile and a quarter from the boat house or the main building on the estate about three quarters of a mile from the house. The quarters are to be ready for occupancy June 10.

St. Bartholomew's Games To-night.

The annual Spring games of the St. Bartholomew's Athletic Club and Company L of the Seventy-first Regiment will be held at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory to-night. Every athlete of note has entered the many events. In the 70-yard dash such sterling performers as Hal Helland, Charlie Clark, Bill Landgraf, Will Keating, and Roy Dorland, in addition to the host of sprinters who will be allotted liberal handicaps. The 300-yard run will bring together Jim Rosenberger, Jim McEntee, and Drew Valentine. "Mel" Sheppard will start from scratch in the 1,000-yard run. Not being satisfied with the results of last Saturday night's race, Eddie Goodwin will again meet his greatest rival, Willie Van den Dries, in a two-mile limited handicap race with Raleigh, Lightfind, Townsend, and Mohlman. The two-mile run has every high-class distance runner entered, with such men as Willie Kramer, Harry Smith, Mike Ryan, Mike Huysmar, Harry Jensen, Fred Bellars, and Tad White. In the one-mile relay race handicap, closed to the small clubs, are entered teams from the Xavier, Paulist, Dominican Lyceum, Mohawk, and Pastime Clubs.

Jockey "Iceman" Spencer Dead.

OAKLAND, Cal., March 21.—Henry, better known as "Iceman," Spencer, famous as a jockey when Tod Sloane, "Skeets" Martin, and Clem Jenkins were at their best, died here to-day of tuberculosis. He was in comfortable circumstances, having saved much of the fortune he accumulated ten years ago when riding for big fees. In later years, after trying his hand at bookmaking without much success, Spencer found employment around Eastern race tracks in minor positions. He returned to his home here in broken health several months ago, attended by his aged mother.

Blackburn Wins Roller Race.

William Blackburn of New York captured the first roller skating race at one mile in the series of five to decide the Eastern championships last night at the Metropolitan Rink. Twelve men faced the starter, with the lead for the first half of the journey being held by Kirkbride of Newark. He set a fast pace, but was compelled to withdraw before the three-quarter mark was reached, and after jumping into the lead the New Yorker finished with a comfortable margin over J. Mason of Newark, with H. McDonald of Brooklyn a close third. The winner's time was 3:11 1-5.

MANY KNOCKOUTS BY AMATEUR BOXERS

Contestants for Metropolitan Titles at New York A. C. Reach Semi-Finals.

Finals were reached in two classes and semi-finals in the other five classes of the Metropolitan amateur boxing championships at the New York A. C. last night. The remaining bouts will be fought to-morrow night, at which time all the championships will be decided. Last night's bouts were productive of many knockdowns and knockouts, being far different than in the preliminary round, when no slumber blows were scored. The bouts were full of action and greatly enjoyed by a crowd which filled the gymnasium.

The semi-final bouts in the 105-pound class brought Matt Donovan of the Paulist A. C. and E. Kothe of the St. Bartholomew's A. C. down to the finals. Donovan opposed N. Hogan of the Avonia A. C., and received the decision of both judges at the end of three rounds. Donovan held the lead in each of the three rounds, and his victory was clean cut. Kothe, who won his bout in the preliminary round through the disqualification of his opponent, won a similar victory in the semi-final round. His opponent last night was Leo Kahn of the Pennant A. C., and the bout was an even affair up to the time Kahn was disqualified in the third round. Kahn went to the floor and protested that he had been fouled. Referee Walsh refused to allow a foul, and when Kahn did not get up to continue, he awarded the victory to Kothe.

The two boys who will contend for championship honors in the 115-pound class qualified last night in the semi-final round by stopping their opponents. A. Vitelle of the St. Bartholomew's A. C. outclassed Edward J. Shea of the Harlem Y. M. C. A. to such an extent that the bout lasted less than two rounds. Vitelle floored Shea in the first round with a left to the stomach and a right to the jaw. In the next round Vitelle repeated the trick, and the referee then stopped the contest to save Shea from further punishment. The last punch had Shea in such distress that a knockout seemed certain.

The other bout in the 115-pound class brought together F. Conifrey of the Union Settlement A. C. and G. F. Fox of the St. Bartholomew's A. C. Fox was knocked down twice in the first round, the second being a knockout. Referee Walsh did not attempt to count over Fox, as it was apparent that he was all in.

A storm of jeers and hisses followed the decision of the judges after the first bout in the 125-pound class, which brought together I. Garsh of the Sheridan A. C. and Philip Spieden, Educational Alliance. These boys put up a most interesting bout all the way. Garsh was more clever than his opponent and did most of the leading. He was the choice of the greater part of the crowd, and the decision of the judges awarding the honors to Spieden occasioned great surprise.

The only other bout in this class resulted in an easy victory for James Nugent of the Paulist A. C. over Henry I. Lawlor of the St. Peter's A. A. Lawlor was outclassed to such an extent that the referee stopped the bout in the second round.

The bout between Henry Braun of the New Polo A. A. and J. Sucichi of the Union Settlement A. C., in the 135-pound class, was one of the best of the evening. At the end of three rounds the judges disagreed, and Referee Walsh ordered an extra round. Early in the fourth round Sucichi floored Braun, after which Braun tore in and did most of the forcing and hitting. The judges again disagreed, and the referee awarded the bout to Braun. The decision was well received.

The small entry list in the 145 and 158 pound classes resulted in only one bout in each class. Three byes were drawn in the 145-pound class, and in the bout which went on F. Williams of the Brooklyn Central Y. M. C. A. stopped Joseph Hurley of the Paulist A. C. in two rounds with a clean knockout. In the 158-pound class the referee declared William Barrett of the Harlem Y. M. C. A. the winner after he had twice floored Ransom Read of the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A.

The heavyweight class furnished two interesting bouths. In the first Charles J. Benz, Hartley House, got the judges' decision over Emery M. Paine, Mohegan A. C., after an extra had been ordered. In the second bout W. Spengler, Union Settlement, defeated H. Swan, Irish-American A. C., in the third round. This bout was stopped by the referee. The summaries:

105-POUND CLASS.

Semi-Final Round.—Matt Doronan, Paulist A. C., defeated N. Hogan, Avonia A. C., in three rounds. Judges' decision. E. Kothe, St. Bartholomew's A. C., defeated Leo Kohn, Pennant A. C., in third round. Kohn's claim of foul disallowed.

Arthur Sheridan, Trinity A. C., drew a bye.

HEAVYWEIGHT CLASS.

Charles J. Benz, Hartley House, defeated Emery M. Paine, Mohegan A. C., in four rounds. Extra round ordered by referee after judges disagreed.

W. Spengler, Union Settlement A. C., defeated Halstedt Swan, Irish-American A. C., in three rounds. Bout stopped by referee.

Charity Boxing at Fordon A. C.

The Easter benefit boxing bouts last night at the Fordon Athletic Club of the east side, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the poor of that section, was productive of some good sport, a galaxy of boxing celebrities lending their assistance. In a number of exhibitions some good work was done, and the popular ring stars went through three rounds each, much to the delight of the crowd.

Tommy Murphy, who recently returned from the coast, where he defeated Abe Attell, was the third man in the ring for Joe Jeannette and Al. Benedict. The heavyweights put up a slashing three-round bout, with the spectators yelling for more. Mike Gibbons, who tackles Jack Denning the second time at the Fairmont Athletic Club next Tuesday night, got a few rounds practice with Jim Coffey, William Moore acting as referee. Young Leroy and Frankie Dennis boxed six fast rounds, and Al. Ginger and Chester Parker, old timers, boxed two rounds. The only disappointment was the failure of Leach Cross to appear.

Dublin Offer for McGoorty.

Special to The New York Times.

MILWAUKEE, March 21.—Patsy Callahan, manager of Eddie McGoorty, received a cable to-day from Martin Fitzgerald of Dublin offering a large purse for McGoorty to fight Jim Sullivan, the English middleweight, twenty rounds, and offering to furnish a side bet for McGoorty of $1,000. McGoorty will consider the offer, but first wants to see what comes of the proposition from Jimmy Coffroth to box the winner of the Klaus-Dillon bout at San Francisco.

Boxing Bouts for To-night.

Ben Douglas vs. Young Cashman, American A. A., Brooklyn.

Young Terry vs. Kid Ross, Queensboro A. C., Queens.

Del Bruno vs. Young Dyson, New Polo A. A., Manhattan.

Knockout Brown vs. Knockout Jack O'Donnell, Carlyle A. C., Brooklyn.

Bouts for to-morrow night:

Young Ahearn vs. Jimmy Kelly, Fairmont A. C., Bronx.

Dave Morrison vs. Frankie Nelson, Brown A. A., Manhattan.

"Gunboat" Smith vs. Battling Brooks, Sharkey A. C., Manhattan.

Young Kid Broad vs. Jack Williams, Gowanus A. C., Brooklyn.

George McDermott vs. George Lashwood, Standard A. C., Brooklyn.

Johnny Smith vs. Harry Rose, Liberal A. C., Staten Island.

FRENCH CHAMPION WINS.

Mortier Defeats Maurs in Amateur Billiard Tourney.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, March 21.—The international amateur billiard championship tournament was continued here to-day and three games were decided. In the first afternoon match Mortier, the present champion, defeated Maurs 400 points to 220. The second match brought together Roudil and Labouret, neither of whom had won a match. Roudel scored a hollow victory 400 to 52. In the evening Darantier defeated Artus 400 to 288.

UPPERCUT FOR BOXING BILL.

Lands in Senate Codes Committee, Where It Probably Will Remain.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 21.—The bill repealing the Frawley boxing law was handled without gloves in the Senate to-day when it was received from the Assembly, where it was passed yesterday. Lieut. Gov. Conway referred it to the Judiciary Committee, and Senator Saxe asked that it be advanced out of its order. There were objections from Senators Frawley, C. D. Sullivan, Stilwell, and others. Senator Stilwell moved that the bill be referred to the Codes Committee, which has under consideration a similar bill introduced by Senator Saxe.

It was asserted by Senator Saxe that his own bill has been referred to the Judiciary Committee, and that in his absence Senator Stilwell had obtained a change of reference so that the Codes Committee, of which he is Chairman, should control the bill. Senator Saxe insisted that the Judiciary Committee should have charge of the bill, but Senator Stilwell's motion for a change prevailed.

The Repeal bill, for the passage of which Gov. Dix has asked, will probably be killed in committee.

SAILOR BURKE BEATEN.

Bob Moha of Milwaukee Invades East and Scores a Victory.

Bob Moha, the Milwaukee middleweight, signalized his initial appearance in the East last night by a clean-cut victory over Sailor Burke of Brooklyn at the National Sporting Club.

The Brooklyn sailor was favored by weight, height, and reach. Moha weighed 166½ pounds, with his opponent scaling 169½, and as they came together in the centre of the ring Burke towered inches over Moha, a sturdy and well-set boxer, but who is a little too short for a man of his weight. He is an unusually strong and muscular man, but his great drawback was in having to strike upward to land on Burke's face.

From the start the Milwaukee boxer forced the pace to the local man, and refused to break ground under any circumstances, while he repeatedly forced Burke to the corners of the ring and kept him backing up with straight left swings. His blows carried more strength than his opponent's, and when he landed clean always shook up Burke and made him hold on.

Moha won the honors in five of the rounds, Burke getting two and the other three ending even.

College Wrestlers on Mat.

Hugh Leonard of the New York A. C., and Tom Jenkins, instructor in boxing and wrestling at the United States Military Academy, have been chosen as referees for the intercollegiate championship wrestling bouts to be held at Columbia University this afternoon and evening. Leonard has refereed intercollegiates for the last three years, and is a favorite with the college wrestlers. Tom Jenkins has lately been engaged in teaching New York's policemen the wrestling game. The entries of the various colleges are complete. Columbia will enter the same team which tied Yale. The team looks like a winner of the championship title, as Yale defeated Princeton decisively last week. Coach Niflot has worked hard with the Columbia men, but has been hampered by injuries throughout the year. All the team are in the best of shape now.

Of the teams entered Cornell has the best record for the year, not having lost a meet. Last year the situation was practically the same, with Cornell showing a clean slate for the year only to finish last in the race for the championship. Pennsylvania may be counted on for some surprises, although there are only two veterans on the team. Last year Pennsylvania was the surprise of the meet, placing men in five weights in the preliminaries.

The preliminaries are to be held in the afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the final bouts at 8:30 P. M. The preliminaries have practically developed into two dual meets, Columbia drawing Princeton in five bouts, and Cornell drawing Pennsylvania in the same bouts. The year has brought out some of the best men ever developed in the college ranks.

Goulding to Walk Against Four.

The stellar attraction at the games of the Twenty-third Regiment of Brooklyn which will be held to-morrow evening will be the appearance of George Goulding, the champion walker of Canada, in a relay against four local pedestrians. The Canadian heel-and-toe athlete will try to outwalk Schwartz of the Pastimes, Renz of the Mohawk A. C., Kaiser of the New York A. C., and Gifford of the McCadden Lyceum, with each man doing one mile against the Canadian, who will travel the entire four miles.

Another feature will be the special relay for church clubs and Y. M. C. A. teams. The event will be a handicap, with the quartets of Dominican Lyceum, West Side Y. M. C. A., and Loughlin Lyceum placed on the marks of honor.

The bicycle riders who have aroused notoriety lately will compete in a two-mile handicap race, with the best flat-floor riders of the district starting from scratch. Several regimental events have been arranged, in which the star military athletes will compete.

Motor Yacht for W. H. Dane.

William H. Dane, Esq., of this city, has commissioned Theodore D. Wells, designer of the Karina, to prepare plans and specifications for and superintend the construction of a semi-high speed twin screw motor yacht suitable for service in the waters of New York Harbor and Long Island Sound. This motor boat will be for day service, and for a part of the season will be used by Mr. Dane at Marblehead, at which place he has his Summer home.

DR. BUYS WINS LONG ISLAND FOILS TITLE

Crescent A. C. Fencer Captures Honors in Seven Bouts in A. F. L. of A. Tournament.

Dr. Thomas A. Buys of the Crescent Athletic Club won the championship foils of the Long Island Division of the Amateur Fencers' League of America at the Crescent A. C. last night, winning seven bouts out of eight in a round robin tournament of nine contestants.

Buys's aggressive direct attack and his ability to parry his opponent's foil, carried him through the tournament with only one defeat. In the third round his clubmate, James L. Medler, defeated him in a spirited combat by a score of 4 touches to 3.

Mr. Medler captured second place by winning six bouts out of eight, while J. A. Chard of the Brooklyn Gymnasium was third with five victories out of eight bouts. Gold, silver, and bronze medals from the A. F. L. of A. were awarded to the first three contestants.

Buys won his first bout from William Wessel by a score of 4 to 2 and defeated P. G. Barnard in the same round by the same tally.

In the second round, Dr. Buys defeated James A. Hurley and H. T. Vlymen. He had a hard time taking the latter bout, and won by the close score of 4 touches to 3.

Medler defeated Buys in the third round and tied him in the competition, each having four victories and one defeat at this stage.

When Buys defeated Paul Barret in the same round, he took the lead, although J. A. Chard tied him with five victories by defeating Vlymen.

Buys fenced his way triumphantly through the final round, defeating Chard by a score of 4 touches to 2 and beating Randolph by the same count.

The bouts were witnessed by a large gallery, which included many women. The fencing was lively and interesting, and at times the competition was so spirited that several foils were broken and scattered about the gymnasium floor at the end of the bout.

The entries were as follows: Paul Barret, Crescent Athletic Club; Dr. Thomas A. Buys, Crescent Athletic Club; William G. H. Randolph, unattached; Percival G. Barnard, Crescent Athletic Club; J. A. Chard, Brooklyn Gymnasium; William Wessel, Crescent Athletic Club; John F. Hurley, Crescent Athletic Club; James L. Medler, Crescent Athletic Club; Harry T. Vlymen.

The judges were John Allaire and Dr. D. C. Smith. The summaries:

First Round.—J. A. Chard defeated P. Barret, 4 to 0; Dr. T. A. Buys defeated W. Wessel, 4 to 2; P. G. Barnard defeated J. L. Medler, 4 to 1; J. F. Hurley defeated W. G. H. Randolph, 4 to 2; P. Barret defeated H. T. Vlymen, 4 to 2; Dr. T. A. Buys defeated P. G. Barnard, 4 to 2; J. L. Medler defeated W. Wessel, 4 to 2; J. A. Chard defeated J. F. Hurley, 4 to 2; H. T. Vlymen defeated W. G. H. Randolph, 4 to 2.

Second Round.—William Wessel defeated Paul Barret, 4 to 3; Dr. T. A. Buys defeated J. F. Hurley, 4 to 1; J. L. Medler defeated W. G. H. Randolph, 4 to 2; P. G. Barnard defeated J. A. Chard, 4 to 2; Dr. T. A. Buys defeated H. T. Vlymen, 4 to 3; W. G. H. Randolph defeated Paul Barret, 4 to 2; J. L. Medler defeated J. F. Hurley, 4 to 1; J. A. Chard defeated William Wessel, 4 to 2; H. T. Vlymen defeated P. G. Barnard, 4 to 2.

Third Round.—Paul Barret defeated J. F. Hurley, 4 to 3; J. L. Medler defeated Dr. T. A. Buys, 4 to 3; J. A. Chard defeated W. G. H. Randolph, 4 to 1; William Wessel defeated P. G. Barnard, 4 to 3; Dr. T. A. Buys defeated Paul Barret, 4 to 3; J. A. Chard defeated H. T. Vlymen, 4 to 3; W. G. H. Randolph defeated P. G. Barnard, 4 to 2; J. F. Hurley defeated William Wessel, 4 to 2; J. L. Medler defeated H. T. Vlymen, 4 to 3.

Fourth Round.—Dr. T. A. Buys defeated J. A. Chard, 4 to 2; W. G. H. Randolph defeated William Wessel, 4 to 3; Paul Barret defeated J. L. Medler, 4 to 3; P. G. Barnard defeated J. F. Hurley, 4 to 0; H. T. Vlymen defeated William Wessel, 4 to 2; Dr. T. A. Buys defeated W. G. H. Randolph, 4 to 2; Paul Barret defeated P. G. Barnard, 4 to 3; J. L. Medler defeated J. A. Chard, 4 to 3.

PROGRAMME FOR OLYMPIAD.

American Athletes Will Begin Competition at Stockholm on July 6.

In accordance with the request of the Executive Committee of the American Olympic Committee, Secretary James E. Sullivan wrote to Secretary Kristian Hellstrom of the Swedish Olympic Committee in regard to the place where the swimming events would take place and the temperature of the water. Mr. Sullivan also asked for the definite daily programme of athletic events, if it had been decided upon. Yesterday the following letter was received from the Swedish Olympic Committee:

Dear Sir: Concerning the swimming competitions we beg to say that same will be held at Djurgardsbrunnsviken, situated within the Port District of Stockholm. The temperature of the water in Djurgardsbrunnsviken is generally about 19 degrees Celsius at the time in question. The daily programme for the athletic events is as follows:

July 6—Throwing the javelin; 10,000 meters flat, trial heats; 100 meters flat, trial heat; 800 meters flat, trial heats.

July 7—Running high jump, heats; 10,000 meters flat, final heat; 100 meters flat, final heat; 800 meters flat, final heat; pentathlon.

Treasurer Julian W. Curtiss of the American Olympic Committee yesterday announced that A. G. Spalding & Brothers had contributed $500 to the Olympic fund. The committee is making great efforts to collect $25,000 in order to make the second payment on the lease of the S. S. Finland, which is to carry the American contestants to Sweden, and which is due on April 1, and it is hoped that all who intend to contribute will send their contributions at once to Julian W. Curtiss, 126 Nassau Street, New York.

OLYMPIC SEATS ALL SOLD.

An Additional Grand Stand to be Built for Stockholm Games.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 21.—Such a run has been made for tickets for the Olympic games from June 29 to July 22 that the 29,000 seats have already been disposed of, and the committee has decided to add another grand stand, with 10,000 more seats. Even with this addition it is believed that there will be a lack of seating accommodations when the games open.

Following the example of the American team, the Russian athletes are planning to charter a steamship, which will serve as their home while the games are being held.

Oakland Golf Club Finances.

According to the annual report of Treasurer George L. Shearer, the financial year of the Oakland Golf Club was very gratifying. The receipts from all sources aggregate $81,469.07, of which $30,462.50 were received in dues and initiation fees. Expenditures for the year showed a total of $81,255.84, with a cash balance on hand of $213.54. One of the most important expenditures was $4,172.98 for an extension to the clubhouse, while repairs accounted for $1,258.98. Despite these unusually heavy expenses, the surplus for 1911 amounts to $10,710.76, which is about $500 less than at the end of the previous fiscal year.

St. Augustine Golf Under Way.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 21.—In the annual Spring golf tournament of the St. Augustine Golf Club for the St. Augustine Cup, there are thirty-two entries, and E. Lee Jones of Lake Geneva Club, Chicago, to-day won the qualifying round with a score of 72. The scores:

First Sixteen.—First Round—E. Lee Jones beat E. M. Knowles, 3 and 2; Dr. W. S. Harban beat T. F. Stearke, 6 and 5; W. A. Knight beat W. B. Contrell, 3 and 2; George P. James beat L. J. Hopkins, 5 and 4; L. M. Boomer beat Dr. Daniel Karsner, 5 and 4; R. Wayne beat A. P. Southerland, 6 and 5.

TO REVISE POWER BOAT CODE

President Koerner Suggests Board of Control to Settle Disputes.

The return of H. T. Koerner, President of the American Power Boat Association, from his Asiatic cruise has reopened the racing situation of power boat racing. The threatened secession of all the Hudson River clubs and the opposition of other organizations has aroused the National officials to a keen sense of the danger which threatens the American Power Boat Association. Immediately upon his return President Koerner acquainted himself with the conditions and proposes a revolutionary measure to meet the existing conditions and settle "the unrest and straining for obviously impossible relief among clubs and members."

President Koerner recognizes the fact that racing matters are rapidly reaching a condition that unless something is done at once the whole field will be reduced to a condition of chaos. Immediate and decisive action is advocated by President Koerner to clarify the atmosphere. As a preliminary notice the President of the National association indicates what he considers "a way out of the difficulty." He admits that the old rules of the association are inadequate to cope with the situation. He suggests a National Board of Control, to which all questions of racing, protests, and records may be submitted. In other words, he favors an organization similar to the Amateur Athletic Union. This board must have authority to definitely settle the status of the professional, reconstruct the constitution and by-laws, and revise the entire rules for racing to meet the present changed conditions.

In order to do this the council of the association will meet some time next month, and the result of its deliberations will be submitted to a general meeting of the association four weeks later for final settlement. In discussing the general situation and its remedy yesterday President Koerner said:

On my return to the United States I found a curious situation developing with considerable rapidity as related to motor boat racing. That the premonitory signs all pointed to such a development no one conversant with the activities of the sport can very well deny. That some of the remedies suggested by radicals, if put into operation, would result in a condition far worse than the real ailment is patent on its face. There is no doubt of the need of meeting the changed conditions brought about by the phenomenal development of the modern boat for racing. The advent of the so-called hydroplane has precipitated the whole question into an active and immediate call for decisive action. Hitherto high-speed boats were relegated to classes according to length, irrespective of the power of the engines, and usually raced in scratch races, the first boat in being the winner.

With the advent of the hydroplane, this simple and satisfactory method of racing has resolved itself into a farce. A 20-foot hydroplane to-day can equal the speed and, in fact, has proved the superior of boats 26, 32, and even 40 feet, and has left the displacement boat in a position where it is impossible to compete at all. The old rules of the American Power Boat Association have proved entirely inadequate to cope with the new situation, and are, of course, obsolete. The Western method of racing by classes based on length, irrespective of power, will also be completely inoperative through the rapid development of the hydroplane. There is no rule, no method, nothing tangible in view to properly place the hydroplane of varying size horse power, but of equal speed. No interminable string of figures, no mathematical calculations, and nothing the human mind is capable of formulating at present seems to cover the ground or fit the case.

Candor compels a protest against the scientific result achieved in defining a hydroplane, purely from the standpoint of practical operation. The hydroplane, like the horse, should have its speed class. A fifteen-foot boat of this description, capable of making thirty miles, belongs in the thirty-mile class. A thirty-foot hydroplane capable of making thirty miles belongs in the same class. A forty-foot boat of similar construction, of thirty miles speed, likewise belongs in the thirty-mile class. These boats should race together whether they are square, round, or triangular, whether they have one or more planes, superimposed or superabundant. Into what other class does a thirty-mile boat belong, if not in the thirty-mile class?

The argument against the speed classes generally resolves itself into the ever-present "human equation," namely, jockeying of men in operating a craft. If motor boat racing can be reduced to the simplest form it will be accomplishing that which the vast majority of racing boatmen have been longing for. It will be the most potent factor in establishing that which deterred so many men from entering the extreme speed racing field. It will give continuity to the value of a racing boat and insure its use for an indefinite period, in its own particular class, instead of its being relegated to the scrap heap as a worthless asset, after a defeat by a boat not in her class and with which she should never have raced.

The American Power Boat Association can well afford to take the lead in this advanced and attractive programme. It simply must take the initiative in establishing a National Board of Control, to which shall be referred all ultimate questions of racing, protests, and records such as is done by the athletic associations. It must also definitely settle the status of the professional, reconstruct its constitution and by-laws, and revise its entire rules for racing to meet the changed conditions that are so obviously in need of it.

It is a foregone conclusion that these observations will be received with much opposition and that they will be subjected to much criticism, yet I feel that my justification lies in the fact, so apparent on all sides, that the time has come for a radical reform in the methods of operating, and which must be reformed on the lines of simplicity and simplicity alone.

PRINCETON'S STRONG MEN.

J. H. Jewett Heads List with a Record of 3,505 Pounds.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 21.—The results of the strength tests made among Princeton's students since the opening of the college year have been made public by Dr. Joseph E. Raycroft, head of the newly created department of physical education in Princeton University. J. H. Jewett, 1914, is high man, with a record of 3,505 pounds, while the following two strong men are R. R. Lawrence, 1912, 3,221 pounds, and D. C. Orbison, 1912, 3,045 pounds. These records are taken among the three upper classes only, and are the best among 108 students who have undergone the test. None of these men is interested in football, and Jewett's athletic career has been confined entirely to rowing in his class crew in recent regattas. Lawrence is intercollegiate champion in the fancy dive and is rowing No. 3 on the Princeton 'Varsity crew, and Orbison was for two years a member of the gymnastic team.

The entire freshman class of 390 men has passed these tests, and their strong men are drawn almost wholly from football material. E. Trenkman, Captain of the 1915 football eleven last Fall, is class champion, with 3,105 pounds. W. S. Swart and J. M. Heffron are second and third, with 2,965 and 2,601 pounds, respectively. Swart played next to Trenkman's tackle at left guard last Fall. Both Trenkman and Swart are regarded as likely 'Varsity material for the football team.

De Witt Clinton Football.

Manager McAuliffe has arranged the following schedule for the De Witt Clinton High School football team for the next season. The Clinton team won the championship of New York City last year, and as only three of the team will be graduated the outlook for the new team is very good. The schedule: Oct. 12, Yonkers High School at Yonkers; Oct. 15, Curtis High School at Clinton; Oct. 19, Erasmus Hall at Clinton; Oct. 26, Boys' High School at Clinton; Nov. 5, Commercial High School at home; Nov. 9, Manual Training High School at Manual Training; Nov. 16, Morris High School at Morris; Nov. 23, Stuyvesant High School at Stuyvesant; Nov. 28, High School of Commerce at home.

YALE FOOTBALL COACHES.

Arthur Howe, Captain Last Season, to be Head of Staff.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 2.—Capt. Jesse Spalding of the Yale football team to-night announced the appointment of Arthur Howe of East Orange, N. J., as head coach for next year's 'Varsity eleven. Howe was Captain of last season's team, playing quarterback.

Capt. Spalding also announced the appointments of Elmer W. McDevitt of Duluth, Minn., and James W. Scully of Pittsburgh as assistant coaches. Both played on last year's eleven, as guard and tackle, respectively.

The head coach of the freshman team will be James G. Smith, 1912, of St. Albans, Vt., and his assistant William Otis Waters, 1913, of Chicago.

WHO HAS CHANGED?

Is President Taft the same man that he was in 1908, when he was making his campaign for the Presidency, or is he a very different man, different in heart, different in principles and beliefs? If we can believe Mr. Roosevelt, there must, indeed, have been an astonishing change in Mr. Taft. In his Carnegie Hall speech Mr. Roosevelt represented the President as a believer in an oligarchical form of government, the government of the many by a few. These are his words:

> Mr. Taft's position is perfectly clear. It is that we have in this country a special class of persons wiser than the people, who are above the people, who cannot be reached by the people, but who govern them and ought to govern them; and who protect various classes of the people from the whole people. That is the old, old doctrine which has been acted upon for thousands of years abroad; and which here in America has been acted upon sometimes openly, sometimes secretly, for forty years by many men in public and in private life, and I am sorry to say by many Judges. * * *
> This doctrine is to me a dreadful doctrine; for its effect is, and can only be, to make the courts the shield of privilege against popular rights. Naturally, every upholder and beneficiary of crooked privilege loudly applauds the doctrine. It is behind the shield of that doctrine that crooked clauses creep into laws, that men of wealth and power control legislation.

This "doctrine" which Mr. Roosevelt calls so dreadful, the doctrine that the whole people must submit to the rule of a few of their number, the doctrine that serves as a shield for the upholders and beneficiaries of "crooked privilege," has not been expounded or advocated in any writing or utterance of William H. Taft that has ever come under our notice, and we have attended somewhat closely to the things he has written or said. But clearly Mr. Roosevelt believes that Mr. Taft is an oligarch, a believer in the rule of the few, and in a kind of government that protects the beneficiaries of crooked privilege.

It was not so in 1908. For during the campaign of that year, when Mr. Taft was the Republican candidate for the Presidency, President Roosevelt wrote a letter to Mr. Conrad Kohrs of Helena, Mon., in which he spoke of Mr. Taft in terms of the highest praise. After describing the qualities of a true friend of reform, a true foe of abuses, he said:

> In Mr. Taft we have a man who combines all of these qualities to a degree which no other man in our public life since the civil war has surpassed. To a flaming hatred of injustice, to a scorn of all that is base and mean, to a hearty sympathy with the oppressed, he unites entire disinterestedness, courage both moral and physical of the very highest type, and a kindly generosity of nature which makes him feel that all of his fellow-countrymen are, in very truth, his friends and brothers.

Certainly this is not the man described in the Carnegie Hall address, the man who believes in a form of government that would be the refuge and shield of oppressors and robbers of the people. Mr. Roosevelt in his letter to Mr. Kohrs, referred to the decisions rendered by Mr. Taft when he was a Judge of a Federal court. Of these decisions he wrote:

> They mark the Judge who rendered them as standing for the rights of the whole people; as far as daylight is from darkness, so far is such a Judge from the time-servers, the truckler to the mob, or the cringing tool of great corrupt and corrupting corporations. Judge Taft on the bench—as since in the Philippines, in Panama, in Cuba, and in the War Department—showed himself to be a wise, a fearless, and an upright servant of the whole people, whose services to the whole people were beyond all price. * * * Let all fair-minded men, wage workers and capitalists alike, consider yet another fact. In one of his decisions upon the bench Judge Taft upheld in the strongest fashion and for the first time gave full vitality to the principles of the employer's liability for injuries done to workmen. This was before any National law on the subject was enacted. Judge Taft's sense of right, his indignation against oppression in any form, against any attitude that is not fair and just, drove him to take a position which was violently condemned by short-sighted capitalists and employers of labor, which was so far in advance of the time that it was not generally upheld by the State courts, but which we are now embodying in the law of the land. * * * If elected, he has shown by his deeds that he will be the President of no class, but of the people as a whole.

The President of the people as a whole? There is nothing of the oligarch in that. The Taft of 1908 is the direct opposite of the Taft of the Carnegie Hall speech. There has been an amazing change somewhere. Have the people taken note of it? Have they been aware of the changes which have transformed the broad-minded, generous-hearted friend of all the people into a believer in the rule of the few and in a denial of the rights of the many? It simply passes belief that our President should so change, and nobody but Mr. Roosevelt find it out.

There is an alternative supposition. Is it not in Mr. Roosevelt himself that the change has taken place? He has done and said many reckless things to promote his candidacy for the nomination. We think the opinion will be widely held that he imputes these "dreadful doctrines" to Mr. Taft, not because Mr. Taft has ever preached or held such doctrines, but because Mr. Roosevelt sees that, in order to get the nomination for himself, he must do great damage to the reputation of his successor in the office. But it will be objected that this method of waging a campaign is unprincipled and infamous. We think it is open to that objection.

THE FRAWLEY PRIZEFIGHT LAW.

By a vote of 76 to 46 the Assembly on Wednesday signified its wish to repeal the law which revived and legalized prizefighting in this State. The bill is now in the Codes Committee of the Senate, consisting of the following members: Stephen J. Stilwell, Chairman; Howard R. Bayne, Robert H. Gittins, Anthony J. Griffin, Henry W. Pollock, Loring M. Black, Jr., Frank M. Loomis, George H. Cobb, and Harvey D. Hinman.

Exhibitions as brutal and bloody as have figured in the history of prizefighting have taken place under legal protection since the Frawley bill became effective. In his message to the Legislature, Gov. Dix renewed his request that the Athletic Commission which it created be abolished. He said:

> I repeat that when this bill came before me for signature I believed it would prevent the disorderly and unregulated exhibitions which have been given in this State for the last few years. Experience with the new law has satisfied me that it is not adapted to produce such a result. The conditions which have arisen under it are hostile to the feeling and the interests of the law-abiding citizens of the State and should be ended at once. I, therefore, again urge upon you the repeal of the law under which these occurrences have arisen.

The decent and self-respecting part of this community, as the Governor says, wants the prizefighting law repealed, and wants it promptly reported out of the Codes Committee for action by the Senate.

THE BRITISH CRISIS.

It will be the irony of fate, indeed, if the British Liberal Ministry, including Mr. Lloyd-George, is compelled to give place to the Conservatives and Liberal Unionists, with Mr. Balfour once more as their leader, because of the failure of Mr. Asquith to meet the great problem which has arisen from the industrial situation. Yet a speedy solution of the problem is essential to Great Britain. The situation is threatening, though the debate on the second reading of the Government's Minimum Wage bill, at last night's session of Parliament, helped somewhat to clear the air.

Mr. Balfour formally moved the rejection of the bill. He condemned the Miners' Federation for using its legal powers "without any consideration of mercy." He was greeted with hisses from the labor bench when he compared the union of the coal miners unfavorably with American trusts, because of a misuse of powers given to it by the law "to the detriment of private interests and the general trade." He accused the Government of trying to "force through" a "colossal revolution" in less than a week. But obviously the Government must act quickly or not at all, and the widespread discontent and the increased poverty and hardship caused by the great strike indicate that action by the Government is imperative.

While it seemed on Wednesday that the passage of the Government's Minimum Wage bill was unlikely, and that, if passed, it would bring no relief because of the opposition of the Labor Party and many of the Irish Nationalists, the tone of Mr. Balfour's speech yesterday indicated that Mr. Asquith may yet carry his point if he stands bravely by his guns. If he can succeed in putting through his measure and forcing its acceptance by the House of Lords he may be equally successful in bringing the Miners' Federation to terms and convincing his opponents in the Labor Party that a minimum wage bill without a schedule of minimum wages is better than nothing. The minimum wages specified by the Federation are small enough, indeed, and it seems that if the Government is willing to commit itself to a false economic idea at all it might as well accept it thoroughly. The mine owners oppose the bill as it stands, and the threat has been made that if the bill passes many pits will not be reopened. Meanwhile 3,000,000 persons who make a bare living by toil are idle in Great Britain. It seems that the industrial situation cannot be much worse than it is.

Mr. Balfour took pains to contradict the rumors of an impending dissolution of Parliament. Of course the statement to this effect in his speech yesterday is only of temporary significance. It may be absolutely necessary to "add the confusion of a general election to the horror of the 'strike." The Premier admitted his failure thus far to bring about any agreement by persuasion or argument. Therefore, the passage of the Minimum Wage bill was a necessary preliminary to any further steps, "which God forbid should be necessary." This utterance, with Mr. Balfour's implied assurance that after testing the feeling of the House of Commons in regard to the Government's methods, the opposition would give the Asquith policy a chance indicates that a grave political crisis may be averted for the present. Obviously the temper of the country is not sympathetic with the Liberal Ministry. The Conservatives have been successful lately in the by-elections. But what Mr Balfour as Premier could do to relieve the industrial situation that Mr. Asquith, with the aid of Mr. Lloyd-George, cannot do, is hard to imagine.

THE VALUE OF ACCURACY.

The New York American of yesterday quotes, with approval, the following editorial observations which appeared in The World on Wednesday morning:

> Mr. Jacob H. Schiff was extremely ill-advised in ventilating his personal grievances against the newspapers at the Sulzer dinner. No woman's name was brought into the Brandt case by the newspapers. The lawyers of Mortimer L. Schiff first brought a woman's name into the case. Let Mr. Schiff direct his complaints to the lawyers who are responsible for the publicity to which he objects. It is well to be accurate in matters with which the public is familiar.

The truth about the matter is that the first public mention of this case since 1907 was on Jan. 24 of this year, the morning after The World and The American had had their Albany correspondents interview Mr. Whitman at Albany on his return from a visit to the prisoner at Dannemora. The story in The American appeared under the following headlines:

> Schiff's Ex-Valet Begs for a Pardon—Brandt, After Five Years in Prison, Declares He Is Innocent—Sent Up for Thirty Years—Pleaded Guilty, He Says, to Save Name of Woman in M. L. Schiff Household.

In the course of the story appears the following reference to Mrs. Schiff:

> He was peremptorily discharged by Mr. Schiff when the banker learned his valet had written a love letter to Mrs. Schiff and had placed it on a writing desk in her bedroom.

In The World the story appeared under these headlines:

> Strange Plea by Former Valet of Mortimer L. Schiff—Brandt, Who Pleaded Guilty to Burglary in the Banker's Home, Now Denies His Guilt to Gov. Dix—Seeks Release from Long Term in Prison—Asserts Visit to Schiff Home Was Not Unknown to All and He Shielded Another.

In the course of the story appears the following passage:

> "The letter was to Mrs. Schiff. I fell in love with her at first sight," Brandt exclaimed, passionately. "She "was the most beautiful woman I had "ever known. How could I do other "than fall in love with her?"

It is, indeed, well to be accurate. Accuracy is a highly desirable quality in a newspaper. There are other qualities, equally desirable, which seem to desert newspaper offices as the quality of accuracy declines.

SUBWAY ALTERNATIVES.

When the dual subway plan was proposed it had few friends among the entire press. Now it has few opponents, and they are embarrassed by the necessity of condemning the officials whom they supported. The worst thing it is possible to say against the dual plan is that a criminal conspiracy of both the Public Service Commission and the Board of Estimate would enable the city to get subways on a plan less profitable than might be imagined. But the city would get the subways, and the loss of profit would be imaginary. It is sure that the plan proposed is better from every point of view than any plan hitherto suggested. It cost a million dollars to prepare plans which no bidder could be found to operate. The loss to the city would have exceeded the sinking of the capital and the perpetual deficit. The main stake for the city in the subway business is the tax list, and an unprofitable subway is more of a tax waster, through lack of development of the city's capacities for accommodation of its citizens, than it is a tax eater. The dual plan is the more productive of tax income because it provides better traffic conditions for the nickel payers.

The alternative then is either that the city should pay the entire cost of an unprofitable plan, or that it should fatten its Treasury on taxes by accepting the assistance of the ready-made traffic and facilities which can be had by allowing a fair profit to private capital. There is no other escape from the situation created by impossible laws, and there is no suggestion of reason to the contrary except that two boards of reputable officials are corrupt or incompetent.

The critics of the dual plan would do well to devote some of their attention to the badness of the alternative. Would they have the situation revert to the Triborough plan, whose deficit has been certified to not only by the refusal of private capital to work it, but by the estimates of the Public Service Commission Engineer? If ten years have not sufficed to prove that the city cannot hope for subways under the laws passed by the reformers, how much longer test must the city endure?

Gov. Hughes was helped in his election by undertaking to solve the problem, and Gov. Dix has inherited it. He now refuses to send in a message certifying necessity and urgency. He might at least send such a message to his appointee upon the Public Service Commission. He took office with a fine fanfare of prophecy of what he would do, and now he turns up obstructing what his associates have adopted, and appealing for a reversion to a plan doubly condemned. It is sure that if the dual plan is allowed to fail the odium of the obstruction of rapid transit will be shifted from the Interborough and the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company to those who ought to bear it.

ABBEY'S HOLY GRAIL.

Eager interest has been manifested in the reproduction in colors of Abbey's wonderful Holy Grail pictures, in a supplement of the Easter Number of The Sunday Times day after to-morrow, and naturally the demand for copies will be larger than the supply. The reproductions of these pictures in colors are sold separately under copyright, and are expensive. The Times has the right to print the reproductions only in the form of a newspaper supplement, with impressions on both sides of each sheet of paper, and while none of the pictures can be separately sold, neither can the supplement have any separate circulation. It will be published only with the Sunday newspaper of March 24. Copies will not be obtainable thereafter. The supplement is designed only for circulation among regular readers of The Times.

Though the impressions will be on both sides of the paper, the quality of the paper and the manner of the printing will be such as to secure a perfect and valuable reproduction of each of the fifteen panels. As an example of the color printer's art these pictures have never been equaled in any newspaper supplement. They will spread the fame of Abbey, and serve to make his masterwork familiar to many who have been hitherto only vaguely aware of it by repute. The pictures, too, are admirably symbolical of the Easter spirit.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Suicide and Smuggling.

Almost as hard to explain as the method of suicide chosen by Mrs. Carson is the fact that she committed suicide at all. Her motive, so far as it can be imagined, was to escape the notoriety and disgrace incidental to the disclosure of her attempt to evade the payment of duty on jewels bought abroad and of the punishment which her confession had made inevitable. But though the experience before her was sure to be unpleasant as well as expensive, there was every probability that she would escape with nothing worse than a fine, which she could well afford to pay. As for notoriety and disgrace, it was the suicide itself which so greatly increased both that it can be said almost to have created them.

Smuggling of the sort Mrs. Carson attempted, while an offense against the law, is a purely artificial crime, and, according to common opinion, is so nearly free from real moral turpitude that it has been committed by thousands and thousands of people who would sincerely claim to be respectable, and so few are their compunctions of conscience therefor that not infrequently they boast among their intimates of having beaten the customs. Recently, since even amateur smuggling—the smuggling which is to save money rather than to make it—has become dangerous, such vaunts have become rare, but there still survives the instinctive feeling that the worst thing about smuggling is getting caught at it.

Mrs. Carson was caught, and her situation was highly embarrassing, but it was far from desperate. It was only the disorder of mind that made her a believer in Eddyism that prevented her from seeing how unimportant the episode was and from realizing how soon it would be forgotten. The horror of her death, however, will be long remembered, and thousands will read of that where only hundreds would have read of her arrest.

They Were Going Too Fast.

That Mr. Coffyn should have received his first serious injuries while riding in an automobile will doubtless confirm him in the recently expressed opinion that, as a vehicle, the motor car is more dangerous than the aeroplane. The confirmation is only apparent, however, for, in using the automobile, whoever chooses can be sufficiently careful to be in practically no peril at all, and it will be many a day, if ever, before as much can truthfully be said of the flying machine.

The automobile can go slowly, though it doesn't often do so, while the aeroplane must go fast or fall, and the stopping of its engine means, not delay, but inevitable disaster and probable death. Yet care and skill, as Mr. Coffyn himself has very well proved, will keep down the perils of aeroplaning until it is—well, something measurably less than madness, perhaps something less than recklessness, to risk them. But the mortality among aviators has been and remains dreadfully high, while the reputation of the automobile is steadily improving. Probably every accident in which it figures should be numbered among those called "avoidable"—that is, the machine itself is not to blame.

It is claimed that the car in which Mr. Coffyn rode was not moving rapidly, but evidently it was going too fast for the conditions which it encountered on the Park bridge. That illustrates again the fact that the danger or safety of speed for an automobile is not determined by the number of miles made per hour, but by the circumstances of time and place. Fifty miles per hour may be safe, four miles dangerous.

Of Course They Are Not Monsters.

It is a little startling to observe that even the Allen outlaws have not failed to excite what seem to be little less than or different from expressions of sympathy. Of course, nobody, even by implication, defends their turning of the Hillsville courtroom into a shambles, but several people have apparently resented the unmitigated harshness which has marked most of the comment upon their crime and have protested that the class to which they belong has its virtues as well as its vices and should be understood as well as condemned.

That is undoubtedly true. The Appalachian mountaineers are not monsters compounded all of iniquity. They do not devote all of their energies to the slaying of personal enemies and representatives of the law. Had that been the case they would long since have been exterminated. They have certain good qualities, well recognized by their neighbors, who foremost of the time get along with them well enough. Their gravest fault, perhaps, and the fault which brings them so often into deadly conflict with civilization, is the savage individualism which is characteristic of every race with an environment like theirs.

They insist on determining right and wrong for themselves, and they savagely resent any interference with what they consider their natural rights. To see why they cannot turn their own corn into whisky is as far beyond their capacity as their inclination, and personal quarrels each of them insists on settling for himself. Hence the wars with the revenue officers and hence the feuds.

The slaughter in the Court House may or may not have been deliberately plotted, but it was carried out in true mountain fashion. The often cited bravery of the mountaineers is as peculiar as their morals, for the same man who is so prompt to risk his life in open conflict as readily resorts to the most cowardly forms of assassination and by preference shoots his enemy in the back from ambush. Like everybody else, the mountain people are combinations of good and bad. Probably they are, on the whole, more ignorant than vicious. They are the victims of heredity and alcohol, and now that their isolated region has been invaded they must change or perish.

Fighting for Habits, Not for Life.

As one of our correspondents said yesterday, those who ask what is to become of the men made superfluous by "efficiency methods," show by the question that they do not learn anything from experience.

Antagonism to "efficiency" is exactly like that which "labor-saving" machinery once always encountered and is still not quite safe from. As a matter of fact machinery saves little if any labor, and it has vastly increased the number of laborers, especially in the trades or industries, where it has enabled one man to do the work of anywhere from three or four to a dozen or twenty. Even the cost of production is increased, not decreased, by machinery—not the cost of single articles, of course, but the aggregate expenditure for the enlarged multiplication of those articles.

"Efficiency" will make new jobs, not destroy old ones, and those who oppose it are really protesting against the pain of abandoning old habits and learning new. That is the worst with which they are threatened.

MERITS OF ARTIFICIAL BUTTER

Are Obscured by Cheats and Mixture with Dairy Butter.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The real secret of the 10-cent tax which Congress imposed on artificial butter is not that a good grade of oleomargarine is better than the lowest and poorest imaginable grade of butter, but that some manufacturers of oleomargarine desire to go further than manufacturing a pure, wholesome, sanitary product and desire to go into the counterfeiting business.

Let every product sail under its own natural color—green for lettuce, red for the tomato, black for the blackberry, yellow for butter, and a light straw color for oleomargarine. Then no one will be injured; then each food product can create a market for itself based on its distinctive merits, characteristics, and color; the consuming public will be free from any danger of being cheated by having imposed upon it one article instead of another, and will be saved from paying an extra price to the Beef Trust for skill displayed in counterfeiting.

If butter is such a terribly unwholesome product, why do the oleomargarine people use it in such large quantities in their product and boast of their product in proportion to the amount of butter it contains? A representative of the National Dairy Union recently purchased twelve different kinds of oleomargarine on the Chicago market; one the salesman claimed to be of exceptionally high quality because it contained 50 per cent. of butter; another brand which has been advertised very extensively over the whole country the salesman said was 40 per cent. butter; other brands were sold as containing 40 per cent. and 33 per cent. butter. A chemical study of these various brands of oleomargarine showed that they contained a considerable amount of butter and tended to confirm the statements made by the salesman.

MR. LOW'S COATTAILS.

Mr. Lampton Moralizes Upon the Most Recent Artistic Effort.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Not long ago my super-artistic soul being profoundly disturbed by certain unassimilable art propositions I arose in this place in The Times and in thunder tones inquired: "Is art a condition or a theory?" To that strenuous query no answer has ever been vouchsafed, either because those capable of replying were paralyzed speechless by the audacity of a layman asking such a question, or those incapable could not get their answers past the art editor. Anyway, there was no answer, and I was brooding in unrequited silence and trying hard not to see some of the pictures at the Spring exhibition in Fifty-seventh Street until this morning, when I reached the editorial page of The Times.

There I read of the loving efforts of that well-known artist William M. Chase to put Seth Low's coattails—see Chase portrait of Low in Borough Hall, Brooklyn—more nearly in touch with prevalent styles in coattails, and on the same page the remarks of that other well-known artist Carrol Beckwith, just returned from European art centres, on the futurist school of art, known also as post-impressionism—"ultra-extreme impressionist," Mr. Beckwith calls it. Mr. Beckwith says some people call these futurist artists lunatics, and while he would not care to go so far as that, he was glad to get away from the show in London and go as far as New York, or words of that import.

Of course, to the layman, there is no apparent connection between Seth Low's coattails and post-impressionism, and if they are permitted to remain as they now are, there is nothing of the futurist about them, yet this is all within the domain of art and is discussable matter among artists of all schools, and once more I am compelled to inquire: "Is art a condition or a theory?" ## High School Teachers Unpaid.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Will The Times, which has had rather sharp things to say about the waste of city moneys for increasing the pay of city teachers, be fair enough to publish the following statement?

The increased salaries went into effect by law on Jan. 1. There were no retroactive clauses in the bill. Up to date not a single teacher in the high schools has had an increase in salary, or any statement as to what his or her salary is to be or when it is to be paid.

If the Board of Education and the Board of Superintendents had never before failed in their duty to the city, this instance of pitiful bungling, in their attempt to prevent a law passed in good faith by the State Legislature, ought to show that they are incapable of a sound, honest, progressive school policy. "If," they say, "any high school teacher has, in the past three years, failed in promptitude of any kind, the said teacher forfeits the salary due him under the law." Why, then, this lack of promptitude in paying out money which has been on hand since Jan. 1?

DR. FOSTER ON COLLEGE MEN

President of Reed College Has Found Small Regard for Scholarship.

Dr. William T. Foster, President of the new Reed College of Portland, Ore., which has been established under an endowment of $3,000,000, who is visiting the larger colleges and universities in the East to study conditions, told the students of New York University yesterday some of the results of his inquiry.

"I found nearly everywhere that college students appear to have the idea that college studies do not amount to much and are things which they can get through with in a perfunctory manner," he said. "One evidence of this is the motto found in college men's rooms all over the country: 'Don't let your college studies interfere with your education.' Among college students 'C' is considered the gentleman's grade, and numerous and varied are the epithets applied to those who receive the infamous rank of Phi Beta Kappa.

"In the class of '94 at Harvard I tried to find out who were the successful men of that class, judged by their records after graduation. I had President Lowell and two other men chose the men whom they considered successful. They agreed independently upon twenty-four members of the class. I then selected twenty-four members of that class at random. It turned out that the successful men had attained four times as many high marks while in college as the men selected at random.

"But I desired to make a more complete investigation of conditions throughout the country. My next investigation covered twenty-two colleges, and I sought to ascertain how many had received the distinction of being included in "Who's Who in America." Although this is not perfectly satisfactory, it is one definition of success worth looking at.

"Of the men who were graduated from these twenty-two colleges, those who were graduated in the first 10 per cent. of the class had 6 per cent. of their number included in this book. Of those who were graduated in the second 10 per cent. a smaller proportion was included. Of those in the fourth 10 per cent. of the class only 2 per cent. were included."

BOYS DEMAND PIER'S OPENING

West Fiftieth Street Campaign Was Begun by Business Men.

The movement on the west side for the opening of the recreation pier at the foot of West Fiftieth Street for the children of the neighborhood was wrongly attributed in published accounts to the settlement workers of the district, which long ago got the name of "Hell's Kitchen"—a name to which all the workers for the upbuilding of that part of the city take grave exception.

The movement for the opening of the pier for most of the year instead of a few months in Summer, it is learned, began with the merchants and business men, and the boys of the neighborhood took it up enthusiastically. A mass meeting has been held, to which so many boys came that the meeting was swamped and plans for first steps were a little delayed.

The promoters of the plan are in no way critical of the work now being done by settlement houses. The fact that the settlement founded by John D. Rockefeller was finally closed is not, it was said, any indication of the results of the settlement work as a whole, which appear to be of value and importance. It was not the intention of the sponsors for the new movement to represent the west side as in need of a great and heroic redemption, or to give the impression that social work had failed there. On the other hand, they hold the work of the settlement houses as co-operative with their own.

Mr. Roosevelt "Talked Into It."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

While insincerely pretending, in letters to various persons, great reluctance to enter the Presidential race, nobody who understands Teddy's fondness for a quarrel and a scrap doubts that he was really eager to do so. His pretended reluctance in this matter reminds me of the story of a man who had been given a card of introduction and admission to a social club in a strange city. When he visited the clubhouse he found nobody there but a few lonesome servants. After wandering around until he had become very bored and tired, a resident member of the club entered. Taking pity on the lonely condition of the visitor, the clubman approached him, laid his hand on his shoulder and said: "Won't you come and take a drink with me?" The stranger grabbed him by the hand and exclaimed: "Durned if I don't. You've talked me into it."

It was as easy for Pinchot, "Jimmie" Garfield and the seven Governors to talk Teddy "into" running for President as it was to "talk" that fellow "into" taking a drink.

Democrats and Economy.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your editorial article, "Democratic Folly," is timely and wise, but will it have any effect? Chairman Underwood is doubtless correct in his position, and it is to be hoped he will have the backbone necessary to sustain him, but he apparently has a curious group of associates.

They were elected on promises of economy. Will they keep their promises? They have a great opportunity to prove to the country that they are worthy the position they occupy, but to do so they must turn down the battleship extravagances, the pension iniquities, the public building enormities. "It is nauseating hypocrisy and false pretense" to permit these extravagances, and yet to pretend to be carrying out the will of the people. E. T. W.

Given Names in Virginia.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I wish to reply to "American," writing in The Times of March 19, referring to the names connected with the Allen feud in the Virginia mountains. I am of American lineage of ten generations, and the names mentioned do not seem at all strange to me. "Marion," "Strickland," and "Allen" are plain English names.

The names "Caball" and "Sidna" are probably corruptions of "Cabell" and "Sydnor," both known throughout the South. The name "Byrd" is well known in history, and there is a very famous romance woven around the name of one "Lady Evelyn Byrd," the daughter of an early Governor of Virginia, whose residence is still standing on the banks of the James River.

All of the names mentioned are as familiar in the South as are Stuyvesant, Schuyler, and Schermerhorn in this locality.

To Maintain a Home.

A teamster who has worked as steadily as his health would allow to support his family has contracted tuberculosis, and been sent to the mountains for rest and outdoor treatment. The sudden loss of his earnings has left the heavy burden of caring for the four children and an aged aunt, who is also one of the household, upon his wife. She has secured a position as office cleaner where she can earn $6 a week. The aunt will care for the home. The necessary weekly expenses are, however, nearly double the woman's earnings. To maintain the home during the father's absence, the Charity Organization Society asks for $130 to pay a regular pension of $5 a week during the next six months.

Gifts may be sent to the office of the society, 105 East Twenty-second Street, and will be acknowledged.

The Charity Organization Society acknowledges with thanks the following contributions received in response to previous appeals in The New York Times: J. G. D., $5; W. B., $2; Anonymous, $100; E. S., $2; Charles H. Towne, $2; From a Well Wisher, $15; Molineaux, $1; W. G. Fowler, $2; L. C. W., $3; A Well Wisher, $2; E. N. E., $5; Cash, $1; Alexander, $1; W. P. P., $1; X., $5; S. M. S., $1; L. S. B., $1; Mrs. Fordyce Barker, $5; P. B. H., $5; J. S., $1; Mrs. J. S. Halle, $10; M. S., Bronxville, $2; Mrs. J. P. B., $1.

AN AGREEABLE ANTICIPATION.

He said, when he knew that his end was near,
Though he didn't much seem to care,
"Good-bye, I know where I'm going to now,
And I hope there's a coal strike there!"

MGR. BENSON'S VIEW OF PROTESTANTISM

SEES DANGER IN SOCIALISM

Classifies Non-Catholic Christians as Mystics, Healers, Christian Socialists and Modernists.

The Right Rev. Mgr. Robert Hugh Benson of England delivered a lecture on "Protestantism" last night in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Astor. The floor and boxes were crowded with Catholic clergy and laity, who applauded the young clergyman, whose renunciation of the Church of England, of which his father, the late Archbishop Benson, as Archbishop of Canterbury, was spiritual head, caused a sensation several years ago.

This was the first of a series of two lectures. The second, on "Catholicism," will be given next Thursday evening in the same place. Mgr. Benson, wearing a great purple sash, was introduced by the Rev. Joseph H. McMahon, rector of the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes, where he is giving a series of Lenten sermons.

Among the patrons of the lectures are Mr. and Mrs. William F. Sheehan, Adrian Iselin, Jr., the Countess Iselin, Mrs. Robert L. Hoguet, Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Eckert, Jr., Mrs. Amy Coudert Breunig, John G. Agar, Edward J. Dunphy, Mrs. Theodore F. Tone and Miss Tone, Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler Warren, Mrs. De Lancey Kane, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fitzsimons.

Mgr. Benson, who looks like a typical young English collegian, said he had the highest respect for the devout and sincere adherents of the Anglican communion which he had left. He said that he regarded religious controversy which concerned personalities as likely to be offensive and unfruitful, while that which concerned principles was likely to be valuable.

After tracing the breaking up of Protestant Christianity into various sects in the centuries following the Reformation, a process which he described as the logical consequence of the renunciation by Protestants of supranational authority, Mgr. Benson said that these sects had begun now to arrange themselves into four groups—mystics, healers, Christian Socialists, and modernists.

Of the spiritualists and theosophists, he said that they divided humanity into two classes, those worthy to share in spiritual mysteries and receive communications from the spiritual world conceived as interpenetrating the material world, and those unworthy to share in them. For these others he said the mystics conceived that the ordinary forms of religion were sufficient. A division of the human race into two classes, initiated and uninitiated, he said, was contrary to the Christian idea that all souls were equal before God.

In the group of healers Mgr. Benson classed the mental healers of all kinds the leaders of the Emmanuel movement and the Christian Scientists. He said he had read "Science and Health, with a Key to the Scriptures," ten times without mastering its philosophy, and had come to the conclusion that he was not an esoteric so far as its philosophy was concerned. He declared that the healers based their philosophy either on a denial of pain or a theory that it was evil, and that the remedy of bodily ills was a condition precedent to the achievement of spirituality. He added that Christian philosophy did not deny pain, nor call it evil, but regarded voluntary suffering as the greatest instrument for sanctification.

The Socialist, Mgr. Benson declared to be the most dangerous enemy of the Church. He said that the position they held in regard to social life was identical with that taken by the healer group in regard to bodily ills. Because of their denunciation of obvious evils and injustice, he said, and the resemblance of their doctrine to Christianity in many points, except the vital point of relation to eternal, rather than to temporal justice, the Socialists might be styled the apostles of Antichrist. He reminded his hearers that Antichrist might have many points of resemblance to Christ, so that He might deceive. The worst aspect of Socialism, even in its loftiest conception, was its placing the State above the family as the unit. He said that the family began the human race, and that a divine family saved it. To subordinate the family meant the end of freedom.

Modernism Mgr. Benson denounced as the repudiation of all the ideals of Christianity. In his next lecture he will point out indications of the revival of Catholicism as the bulwark of historical Christianity.

START NEW MUSEUM WING.

Ground Broken for Addition to Natural History Institution.

Ground was broken yesterday for the construction of the southeast wing and court building as an addition to the American Museum of Natural History.

The plans, which have been prepared by Trowbridge and Livingston, architects, represent the results of careful study by the Committee on Buildings and Plans of the Museum, including President Henry Fairfield Osborn, Felix M. Warburg, Madison Grant and Percy R. Pyne. The main structure of the southeast wing will face on Central Park West and will be 154 feet long by 60 feet wide. Four stories will be devoted to exhibition, a fifth and attic to office and storage rooms, and a basement to storage and work rooms. The addition also includes a structure in the southeast court 174 by 124, which will connect with the southeast wing. This will be a one story structure with arched roof and a gallery. It will be without windows and will be lighted from above. It will be devoted to the museum's collection of sea mammals.

In the southeast wing the first floor will be devoted to exhibits representing the geography and life of the sea; the second floor to the living fishes and reptiles; the third to insects and public health, and the fourth to extinct reptiles and fishes.

The construction of this wing is a part of the comprehensive building plan which the trustees hope to carry out in time to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the museum in 1919.

NEW MOTOR FIRE APPARATUS.

Bids Sought for Chemical and Hose Wagons for Suburbs.

Fire Commissioner Johnson announced yesterday the advertising of bids for the largest consignment of motor fire apparatus asked for since the gradual elimination of the horse-driven vehicle in the department began. The specifications call for the construction of twenty-six motor-driven combination chemical and hose wagons of the "Scout" type, three motor-driven wagons of the high pressure type, and two motor-driven hose wagons without the chemical attachment, and the bids will be opened at Fire Headquarters on April 1.

All of the new motor wagons will be assigned to new fire houses in suburban districts. Twenty-one of these houses are now being constructed, and the plans for twenty-one more are now under way. The contracts for the houses now being constructed were let out several months ago, and the work has now progressed so far that they will be completed by the time the new motors are finished.

The new motor wagons will be especially constructed with a view to service in the suburban district. The chemical wagons will be required to make thirty-five miles an hour. They will be the fastest of the new motor-driven vehicles in the department.

VANDERBILT HOME OPENED FOR CHARITY

SOCIETY INNOVATION HERE

Curious Visitors Admire Splendid Furnishings and Art Collection—Laces Sold in the Ball Room.

There was a large attendance yesterday at the exhibition and sale of lace of the Sybil Carter Indian Mission at the residence of Mrs. Vanderbilt, 2 West Fifty-eighth Street, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. This is the first time that the Vanderbilt mansion has been opened for a charity sale, and hundreds came not only to view and purchase lace, but to admire the splendid interior of the house and its furnishings.

It was also the first time that any one in New York of the social importance of Mrs. Vanderbilt has thrown her house open for a charity sale, without restrictions, although it is done frequently at the big town houses in London. The innovation in this respect will more than likely be repeated by other society women, as the occasion passed without an incident. Although many who paid their $2 admission at the door were unknown socially, the affair passed off as formally and as pleasantly as though Mrs. Vanderbilt was holding an afternoon reception for her friends.

The sale began at 11 o'clock. There were not many visitors between 11 and 1 o'clock, but after that the people came in a steady stream, and a line of motor cars extended along Fifty-eighth Street far beyond Sixth Avenue. Many came also by 'bus, and others walked from the near-by elevated stations, and at 4 o'clock it was estimated that 400 people had paid admission at the door. Besides this there was a large advance sale.

The majority of visitors were women, although later in the afternoon many men dropped in on their way uptown from Wall Street. There were artists, too, judging from their attire, who spent most of their time inspecting the art collection, and fashion writers, who came to look at the gowns. Never was there a crush, except around the exhibit tables and the buffet.

The laces were sold at a large table in the ballroom, which was presided over by Mrs. William Greenough, Miss Borland, Miss Dorothy Kane, Miss Pauline Riggs, Miss Marjorie Curtis, Miss Mabel Choate, Miss Amy Townsend, Mrs. William Douglas Sloane, Mrs. Lewis Iselin, Mrs. Austen Gray, Mrs. Henry Rogers Winthrop, Mrs. Herbert Satterlee, Mrs. Francis de R. Wissmann, Mrs. Charles B. Alexander, Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt, Mrs. William Hyde, Miss Parsons, Miss Frelinghuysen, and Mrs. Richard March Hoe.

The visitors, once they had paid their admission or handed in their cards, were shown to a coatroom, where there were several men in livery and two maids to look after the storm coats and things. A log fire crackled in the fireplace in this room, giving out hospitable warmth and cheer.

Footmen in livery were stationed on the two landings of the staircase which led up to the entrance corridor on the first floor, and from here the people passed into the ballroom. This is one of the most splendid ballrooms in town, and resembles somewhat the ballroom in the palace of Versailles, done in gold and white, with frescoed medalions and a vaulted ceiling, where hidden electrics showed a large fresco to advantage. Ranged about the walls were low seats, where the people rested and watched society at close range.

Many admired the loan exhibit of lace altar and museum pieces made by the Indians, and work that won gold medals at the Paris and other expositions. The sale was brisk throughout the afternoon. One of the most exquisite pieces of lace was marked as sold to Mrs. Vanderbilt.

Opening off the ballroom, on the Fifty-seventh Street side, tea, chocolate, sandwiches and cake were served, and an orchestra played throughout the afternoon.

The route which most of the visitors, who were strangers to the house, took was through a Turkish smoking room, adjoining the ballroom on the west side. Standards with connecting ropes marked the way through the centre of all of the rooms on the lower floor, which kept the people at some distance from the furnishings and works of art. Attendants were stationed here and there, but they had nothing to do except to answer questions from the curious regarding works of art and tapestries. Just inside the door of the smoking room was a couch, and the covering was a rare piece of Persian work and was said to cost $20,000.

The smoking room is done in blue mosaic, and it also has a dome, the daylight filtering through exquisitely colored glass. From this dome hangs an immense chandelier of Turkish effect, and the wall electroliers are fashioned like Persian vases, wonderfully wrought. The onyx columns at the window were much admired.

Leaving the smoking room the visitors found themselves in the art gallery, which is used as a dining room on state occasions. Here many valuable works of art hang against a deep crimson background. A Turner seascape over the fireplace attracted much attention, as well as works by Constable, Dupré, and Bonheur.

Passing through the marble hall on the Fifty-seventh Street side, the visitors proceeded to the grand salon and reception rooms which face Fifth Avenue. Here many paused to admire the rare collection of miniatures as well as the tapestry, furniture, and bric-a-brac. Over one of the wonderfully wrought marble mantelpieces was a medallion portrait of the Countess Szechenyi, who was Miss Gladys Vanderbilt. The grand salon is lighted by five heavy gold chandeliers, the centre one having more than 100 candles.

A painting of Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, who was Miss Gertrude Vanderbilt, showing her as a girl of about 18, and painted by Sir John Millais, was also seen and admired, and there were several portraits of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt, and of Alfred and Reginald Vanderbilt.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, in a black gown, moved about the house with the visitors, greeting her friends and extending hospitality to all. Reginald Vanderbilt appeared during the afternoon, and his wife was active in the display and sale of laces; also, Mrs. Karrick Riggs. Mrs. E. H. Harriman attended and bought considerable lace. During the afternoon nearly every society woman of prominence in New York dropped in, if only for a few minutes.

Miss Heilner Weds Lieut. McDonald.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 21.—Miss Katherine Heilner, daughter of the late Rear Admiral and Mrs. Lewis Cass Heilner, was married to Lieut. Ray S. McDonald, U. S. N., to-day at 4 o'clock at the residence of Surgeon J. L. Neilson, U. S. N., 1,708 Kilbourne Place. The Rev. Clarence Silvester of Somerville, N. J., officiated. Owing to the recent death of Admiral Heilner only relatives and intimate friends were present. The bride was attended by Mrs. Klemann, wife of Lieut. Commander J. V. Klemann, U. S. N. Lieut. Donald C. McDonald, U. S. N., acted as best man for his brother.

Mrs. Francis de R. Wissman entertained last night at her home with a dinner.

The first performances of "The Mikado" by society amateurs, members of Miss Spence's School Society, will take place this afternoon and evening at the Plaza. There will be supper and dancing after the operetta to-night and also after the performance to-morrow night.

A special performance of "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "I Pagliacci" will be given next Tuesday evening at the Metropolitan Opera House, the proceeds to go toward the expenses of the Music School Settlement in East Third Street. Mrs. Charles R. Ditson, Mrs. E. L. Baylies, Mrs. Douglas Robinson, Mrs. R. E. Schirmer, Mrs. W. D. Sloane, Eliot Gregory, Francis Hoppin, and Walter Mayou have it in charge. Caruso will sing.

Mrs. Joel Ellis Fisher and Miss Vieva Fisher have left Naples for Rome, where they will remain until after Easter, when they will motor through Italy.

Mrs. Price Collier and Miss Price Collier, who spent the Winter in Berlin, have arrived in Paris.

THE BOSTON ORCHESTRA.

Great Enthusiasm at Last of Evening Concerts This Season.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra, on its last visit of the season to New York, gave the first of its two concerts last evening in Carnegie Hall. At these concerts Mr. Fiedler makes his last appearances here as conductor of the orchestra, as his engagement in Boston ends with the present season. The fact was recognized by the audience last evening, which gave Mr. Fiedler long and enthusiastic applause as he came upon the platform. It had occasion through the evening to renew this enthusiasm repeatedly, for the performance, both Mr. Fiedler's part in it and that of his men, was of such magnificence as this wonderful organization has rarely given in all the glorious years of its history. There was a renewed demonstration in his honor at the close of the concert, and he was made to feel the esteem in which he is held here.

There was a disappointment in store for the audience, who found in their programmes, as they entered the hall, a printed slip announcing that Mme. Homer, who was to be the soloist, and sing Liszt's song, "Die Lorelei," and Lia's recitative and air from Debussy's "L'Enfant Prodigue," was unable to sing on account of a severe cold. The loss was made up by the orchestra itself; it added to the programme, which, as originally arranged, contained two preludes of Wagner's—those to "Lohengrin" and "Tannhäuser"—a third, that to "Die Meistersinger." And the orchestra was not a bad substitute.

The programme began with Beethoven's third "Leonore" overture, and the symphony was the first of the Brahms. The overture was given on this occasion for the sixth time this season, and the symphony for the fourth time; and another performance of each is coming before the end of the season. But there were no complaints, for the orchestra played both with an unequaled splendor. In Brahms's symphony, indeed, it seemed as if Mr. Fiedler and his men were inspired by the marvellous eloquence of the music. Such a performance, indeed, was a new revelation of it, and it was as cogent an answer as could possibly be made to the oft-repeated charge that Brahms's instrumentation is thick, muddy, and generally disagreeable. Played with such clarity, such tonal beauty, such perfect distribution of balance between all the instrumental voices, the composer's real intentions are brought to a consummate realization, and they are disclosed as the necessary and appropriate embodiment of the musical ideas of the work.

Mr. Fiedler's reading was marked by the drastic energy, the poetry, the romantic fire that characterize the movements of this work. It was full of exquisite nuances, of finished phrasing, and in all in these movements he showed forth their plastic beauty of form, their symmetry and proportion, their magnificent climaxes. It was a performance of unequaled splendor.

The most cultivated, most intelligent, and most musical audience that New York can muster showed itself to be an audience of "perfect Brahmsites," as it so often has before, and was deeply stirred by the performance. Mr. Fiedler was repeatedly recalled to the platform, and finally had the orchestra rise to share with him the plaudits that were so prodigally given.

Mme. Matzenauer Sings Her Farewell

Margarete Matzenauer sang her farewell for the season to the Metropolitan Opera House last evening as Ortrud in "Lohengrin." The cast further included Olive Fremstad, Carl Jörn, Herbert Witherspoon, and Hermann Weil. Mr. Hertz conducted.

Rayson School League's Quaker Fair.

The Rayson School League will give a Quaker Fair and entertainment at the Sherman Square Hotel on Saturday, March 30. There will be two sessions of the fair, in the afternoon from 3 until 6, and in the evening from 7:30 until 10. The Rayson School League is giving the entertainment for the benefit of the Santa Clara Homes and allied charities.

Orleneff Acts in 'The Chosen People.'

Paul Orleneff and his Russian company presented Eugene Chirikoff's five act drama, "The Chosen People," at the Garrick Theatre yesterday afternoon, for the first time during their present engagement in New York. It was in this play that Orleneff made his first appearance in New York, at Herald Square several seasons ago, when Nazimova played the role of Leah. Yesterday the play was well received by a fairly good audience, and the acting of Mr. Orleneff and the company was thoroughly appreciated. The role of Leah was taken by Lina Keroleva, Orleneff played Nachman, and Ivan P. Vronski had the part of Berezin.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The first performance of Charles Frohman's production of "The Girl from Monmarte," in which Hattie Williams is to be the star, will be given in Atlantic City on April 8. On the same night the play will have its first performance in Vienna.

Percy Denton has been engaged by Louis Mann for the role of Frank Forsythe in "Elevating a Husband," and will make his first appearance with the company Monday night.

Yorke and Adams, the vaudeville comedians, have been placed under contract by William Morris, who has booked them for a season in pantomime in London next Winter. Previous to their appearance in the regular theatres they will play an engagement in the English music halls.

MUSIC NOTES.

Mr. Gatti-Casazza announces a matinee of "Parsifal" on Good Friday, April 5, commencing at 1 o'clock. The cast will include Olive Fremstad, and Messrs. Jorn, Amato, Goritz, Witherspoon, and Ruysdael. Mr. Hertz will conduct.

The Pierian Sodality Orchestra of Harvard University will give its 104th annual concert in the ballroom of the Hotel Astor, Sunday afternoon, April 14.

CIRCUS OPENS IN GORGEOUS COLORS

Great Spectacle of Mark Antony and His Legions a Feature of the Big Show.

THRILLS A-PLENTY IN IT

Famous Girl Bare-Back Rider Gives a Remarkable Exhibition of Equestrianism.

Mark Antony, leading his uniformed legions, inaugurated the Barnum & Bailey Circus season last night in Madison Square Garden. The ancient Roman came in at the head of about 800 appropriately costumed young women and a score of gorgeously robed elephants, and the great gathering that filled every nook and corner of the Garden showed by its applause that it appreciated the picture which the Ringling Brothers had arranged for what will probably be the last circus ever seen in the Garden.

The circus was a succession of surprises from the moment that the green-clad Cleopatra and the crimson-robed Antony met in the first of the "displays" until the show ended with a hair-raising aerial performance by the Viennese troupe, the Neapolitans, and La Troupe Lamar.

"The Spectacle of Cleopatra" was display No. 1, and the order of its presentation represented a new departure in circus entertainment. It was the big spectacle of the show that for years has always ended the performance. In it was merged the hippodrome acts—the racing of fleet-footed horses and four-horse chariots, monkey-ridden ponies, fast-flying dogs of all species, from the Missouri "houn'" species up.

In the opening spectacle were women to the number of nearly 1,000 in gorgeous costumes. Then there were the horses and the elephants with their riders and attendants, robed in all the colors of the rainbow. The spectacle lasted three-quarters of an hour, and when it ended in came the faithful elephants with all of their old tricks, plus a new one.

The new act was a baseball game. A big two-ton wonder played the part of Mathewson. Another almost as big was Chief Meyers, and there was a third which tried to be as graceful as Hal Chase of the Highlanders.

The circus management reserved a conspicuous place on the programme for what was "the first appearance in America of the world's greatest bareback rider, exhibiting feats of esquestrianism never attempted before by a woman." She is May Wirth, 18 years old. For her act the other rings and the two stages are forsaken. Then the girl rider makes her entrance on a horse of pure white. After a few tricks in the ring, a faster horse and one as white is substituted, and it is at mad speed that the act comes to a close.

The Seven Florences, the Jardys, the Pichiani troupe, and the Josephas, all acrobats of worldwide fame, followed.

One of the clowns made a popular hit. Made up as Col. Roosevelt, he threw his hat in the ring and another, impersonating Speaker Clark, promptly kicked it out.

The show ended with an aerial display, in which the Neapolitans, the Viennese troupe, and the Troupe La Mar were featured.

MRS. GRACE RAISING FUNDS.

Accused Wife Has Only $75,000 Estate Left by First Husband.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 21—Mrs. Daisy Opie Grace, accused of having drugged and shot her husband, who was released from the Atlanta jail although her husband is said to be dying, reached Philadelphia to-day. The most important reason for her coming is said to be to raise funds on her securities to meet the expense of her trial. She was accompanied by James A. Branch, her attorney.

One of the first things Mrs. Grace did was to visit the Girard Trust Company, where she went over securities, deposited in a vault. Later she visited the Bureau of Surveys and had a property in Spruce Street, east of Forty-third, which was left to her by her first husband, Webster H. Opie, a paper salesman, registered in her name. Afterward she went to the home of her mother, Mrs. A. B. Wrecks of 90 of South Sixtieth Street.

The property left to Mrs. Grace by her husband, when he died in 1911, is estimated at $75,000. According to Mrs. Ulrich, the income from the estate has been used and Mrs. Grace is down to the principal, which is invested in real estate and securities.

"I am innocent," declared Mrs. Grace upon her arrival here. "I did not shoot my husband, and I am anxious to face trial. It is false that I have left Atlanta not to return. I am certain of vindication at the trial, when the facts will become known."

Furthermore, Mrs. Grace declared, it is her belief that her husband is not dying, and said that should he take a turn for the worse he will exonerate her.

Mrs. Grace's doings here would indicate that she is preparing for a hard fight. It is assumed here that Mrs. Grace gave her husband funds to start in the contracting and building business in Atlanta.

Mr. Branch scoffed at the report from Atlanta that Mrs. Grace's rearrest was likely.

"Mrs. Grace is a brave woman, and she is innocent," he said. "When she is tried we have no doubt that she will be acquitted, and there will not even be a suspicion against her."

ATLANTA, Ga., March 21.—When shown a statement, credited to his wife in Philadelphia, that "my husband knows who shot him and will vindicate me at my trial," Eugene H. Grace said:

"Yes, I do know who shot me; it was my wife."

GEN. JOHN W. NOBLE DYING.

Ex-Secretary of the Interior Is 81 Years Old.

ST. LOUIS, March 21.—Gen. John W. Noble, Secretary of the Interior under President Harrison, is dying at his home here from a weakening of the heart. He is 81 years of age.

Senator Taylor Is Better.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Senator "Fiddling Bob" Taylor of Tennessee, who is ill at his apartment here of gallstones, is reported to-night to be much better, though still in a serious condition. Members of his family are with him, and there is no thought now of removing him to a hospital.

No Hope for Congressman Bingham.

PHILADELPHIA, March 21.—Congressman Henry H. Bingham of the First Pennsylvania District and "Father of the House" is so critically ill at his home here that his physicians have abandoned hope for his recovery. Gen. Bingham has been ill for some time with a complication of diseases.

AMERICAN'S GIFT TO LONDON.

Mrs. Widener Presents Silver That Nell Gwyn Owned to New Museum.

LONDON, March 21.—Mrs. George D. Widener of Philadelphia has presented to the London Museum thirty silver plates that were once the property of Nell Gwyn.

The presentation was announced in the course of the opening of the museum this afternoon by King George. The museum is established in the portion of Kensington Palace in which Queen Victoria was born.

The new addition to the museums of London will doubtless prove attractive to American visitors. The objects shown in it will be illustrative of the history of the world's greatest city and of famous residents of it, and the collection that has already been brought together is described as of great value.

The museum was made possible by a gift last Spring of a large sum from an anonymous donor. As soon as the project assumed definite lines King George and Queen Mary displayed much interest in it, and the King announced that he would give the State apartments in Kensington Palace—one of the most beautifully situated of the royal buildings in London—as a temporary home for the museum. Queen Alexandra also became interested in the scheme.

The King has appointed the Right Hon. Lewis Harcourt, Lord Esher, and Lord Beauchamp as Trustees, and it is hoped that the museum will one day rival in completeness the famous Musée Carnavalet in Paris.

Mrs. Widener's gift will be welcome, for not only was Nell Gwyn a most picturesque resident of London, but silver of the Charles II. period is almost always of fine workmanship. "Nelly," as Charles II. called his favorite, lived in Kensington, not far from the Palace.

MILLIONAIRE FOR A WEEK.

G. H. Harrison Gives Big Checks for Montreal Property and Vanishes.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTREAL, Quebec, March 21.—Negotiations for the sale of two million dollars' worth of Montreal real estate collapsed completely to-day when it was discovered by the management of the Windsor Hotel that George H. Harrison of Boston, the financier, who bought the Grey Nuns' property on St. Catherine Street last week for nearly a million and a half dollars, was a man from Fredericton, New Brunswick, of the name of Rowe.

Rowe, alias Harrison, left the hotel unexpectedly yesterday afternoon. As a result of Rowe's disappearance and the discovery that his capital amounted to a few hundred dollars, the Grey Nuns' property reverts to an Ottawa man who holds an option on it, and the present owner has to find another buyer. The Ottawa man holds a worthless ten-thousand-dollar check. The owner of the property rescued his plans from Harrison's room in the Windsor last night. A third real estate owner, a well-known cattle man, has a worthless check for $1,000 as the result of an unsuccessful attempt which Rowe made to buy his house.

Harrison's checks were drawn on the Beacon Street Bank, Boston.

REAR ADMIRAL TRYON DEAD.

Ex-Surgeon General of the Navy Had Been Retired Since 1899.

Ex-Medical Director James Rufus Tryon of the United States Navy, who held the rank of Rear Admiral, died at the United States Naval Hospital in Brooklyn late on Tuesday night. He was in his seventy-fifth year and had been retired from active service since 1899, after thirty-six years in the medical department of the navy. He was born in Coxsackie, N. Y., and was educated at the public schools of that town and later at Union College.

Rear Admiral Tryon was appointed assistant surgeon in the United States Navy in 1863. He served in the West Gulf squadron until the close of the civil war and was present at the battle of Mobile Bay. He was put in charge of the Naval Hospital at Pensacola, Fla., but at the close of the war was assigned to service in Boston. In 1866 he entered the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery at Washington, and four years later was again assigned to sea duty with the Asiatic squadron. He worked in Yokahama during the epidemic of smallpox in 1871. On his return to America he was appointed to special duty in New York City and was on the Board of Medical Examiners here in 1888-89.

In 1893 he became Surgeon General of the navy and retired from active service six years later with the rank of Rear Admiral. After that time he was six years in charge of the hospital at Sailors' Snug Harbor, Staten Island, which he rebuilt and reorganized.

Admiral Tryon had represented this country at two international medical congresses—at Copenhagen in 1884 and Madrid in 1898.

COL. C. E. SPRAGUE DEAD.

President of Union Dime Savings and Author of Books on Banking.

Col. Charles Ezra Sprague, President of the Union Dime Savings Bank of New York and formerly Chairman of the Board of Examiners for Public Accountants, died yesterday at his home, 170 West Seventy-third Street. He was born at Nassau, N. Y., Oct. 9, 1842, the son of Ezra and Elizabeth B. (Edgerton) Sprague. He was graduated from Union College in 1860 and served in the Union Army during the civil war, and was brevetted Colonel of the New York Volunteers at the close of the war for gallant services at the Battle of Gettysburg, where he was wounded and disabled.

In April, 1866, Col. Sprague was married to Miss Ray Ellison of New York. They had two children. From 1897 to 1901 Col. Sprague was Assistant Paymaster General of the State of New York. He was President of the Savings Bank Section of the American Bankers' Association, 1904-05. In 1900 he was Professor of Accountancy in New York University, School of Commerce and Accounts. He was a member of the Union League and Century Clubs, the Loyal Legion of the G. A. R., and a member of the Alpha Delta Phi (President 1901-03) and the Phi Beta Kappa fraternities. Col. Sprague was the author of a number of books on banking. He is survived by his wife.

Dr. Gustave C. E. Weber.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 21.—Dr. Gustave C. E. Weber, a noted surgeon, died late to-day at his home in Willoughby of old age. He was nearly 82. Ten years ago he suffered a stroke of paralysis at a dinner given in his honor by Ohio physicians. Dr. Weber was founder of the Charity Hospital in this city. He was born in Germany, and in 1849 came to America. For a time he practiced medicine in St. Louis and New York, coming to Cleveland in 1856. Dr. Weber was appointed Consul to Nuremberg, Germany, by President McKinley, but did not finish out his term.

PROF. RALPH S. TARR, GEOGRAPHER, IS DEAD

AUTHORITY ON GLACIERS

He Studied in Alaska for the National Geographic Society—His Articles on Earthquakes.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 21.—Prof. Ralph Stockman Tarr of the Department of Physical Geography at Cornell University, one of the best known geographers in the United States and an authority on glaciers and earthquakes, died suddenly from cerebral hemorrhage this afternoon at his home on the Cornell University Campus. He was ill last week with sore throat, but apparently was recovering from this trouble, and his death came entirely unexpectedly.

Prof. Tarr once led a Cornell expedition to Greenland, and he spent several Summers in Alaska at the head of the expedition for the United States Geological Survey. In recent years he spent his Summers in Alaska studying the glacial region for the National Geographic Society. His articles in THE NEW YORK TIMES on earthquakes after the San Francisco disaster was regarded as one of the standard contributions of the time.

Prof. Tarr was born in Gloucester, Mass., Jan. 15, 1864, the son of Silas Stockman and Abigal (Saunders) Tarr. He was graduated from the Lawrence Scientific School, and from Harvard in 1891. He was Assistant United States Fish Commissioner, in 1882-83, when he was connected with the Smithsonian Institute. He was Assistant Geologist of the Texas Geological Survey in 1888 and 1891. He was Assistant in Geology at Harvard, 1890-91, and was professor of dynamic geology and physical geography, 1897-1906. He was special field assistant of the United States Geological Survey since 1903.

Prof. Tarr was a member of the A. A. A. S., the Geological Society of America, the Geological Society of Washington, the National Geographical Society, the New York State Science Teachers' Association, the N. E. A., the Association of American Geographers, and the Sigma Xi fraternity. He was foreign correspondent of the Geological Society of London. In addition to several text books, Prof. Tarr compiled a Physical Geography of New York State, and wrote monographs on geographical and geological topics.

Representative Foster Dead.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Representative David Johnson Foster of Vermont died here to-night from pneumonia, which developed from an attack of the grip with which he was taken ill three weeks ago.

Mr. Foster, who had represented the First Vermont District continuously since the beginning of the Fifty-seventh Congress, was Chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs during the last year of the Sixty-first Congress. He was born at Barnet, Vt., June 27, 1857.

Mrs. MINERVA A. SAUNDERS, librarian of the Pawtucket, R. I., Public Library, is dead at her home, in Pawtucket. During her thirty-four years' service she had read more than 6,000 novels, for it was her custom to pass on every novel before placing it in the library.

$500,000 Needed to Help Cancer Patients
We have reached a crisis in our work. With money we can purchase an addition to our present well-equipped plant that would give us double our present capacity.
This Hospital is supported by voluntary contributions, and all of its 100 beds are occupied. Will you not help us to receive the scores of sufferers who come to us for treatment, and for whom we have no room?
The recent purchase and installation of the most advanced apparatus for the treatment and relief of cancer have brought a flood of cases to us demanding care.
NEW YORK SKIN AND CANCER HOSPITAL,
2d Ave., Cor. 19th St., New York City.
J. CLEVELAND CADY, President.

SAYS SEGAL LOAN WORRIED HAVEMEYER

Wise Tells Court Late Head of American Co. Engineered a Resolution Absolving Himself.

PARSONS WOULDN'T YIELD

Untermyer, Segal's Former Counsel, Testifies to Fruitless Efforts to Save His Client's Concern.

District Attorney Wise struggled hard yesterday afternoon to get before the jury who are trying John E. Parsons, Washington B. Thomas, and other defendants in the action against the American Sugar Refining Company evidence to show that H. O. Havemeyer was uneasy as to the outcome of the Segal loan. It was learned yesterday that the American Company had to cancel the Segal loan of $1,250,000 and pay the Pennsylvania Company $750,000 as compensation for having kept the Philadelphia refinery closed. Any complaints that might have been made by the stockholders of the American Company over this, it was said yesterday, were headed off by a resolution of the stockholders holding Mr. Havemeyer harmless for his action in the matter.

Mr. Wise informed the court that the resolution absolving Mr. Havemeyer was passed at a stockholders' meeting by proxies which Mr. Havemeyer had collected without stating for what he desired them. James M. Beck, however, argued successfully that this matter was not pertinent to the issue, and Judge Hand agreed with him. As the jurors had been excused while counsel argued, the statements of Mr. Wise were not brought before them, and on evidence was submitted to substantiate them.

Samuel Untermyer, who had been Mr. Segal's lawyer after June, 1903, when he had discovered that it was to the American Sugar Refining Company that he was indebted for his $1,250,000 loan, was the first witness called yesterday, and he told of the efforts he had made without avail to get Mr. Parsons to assent to some compromise by means of which Segal could get on his feet again.

Parsons Obdurate on Segal Loan.

Segal had been informed, Mr. Untermyer testified, that the American Company was about to sell his Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company stock in order to recoup itself, after he had defaulted on the interest, and Mr. Untermyer went to Parsons to inform him that his client had found a man who was willing to put nearly $1,000,000 into the Philadelphia refinery if the American Company would modify the conditions of the loan sufficiently to permit it to be operated. If that were done, Mr. Untermyer said he told Mr. Parsons, Mr. Segal could repay the loan, but he could not do so if the refinery remained closed. Consequently he suggested that the refinery should be permitted to run at one-third of its capacity, that is, 1,000 barrels of sugar a day, till the loan was paid off. Mr. Parsons told him, Mr. Untermyer testified, that the company wanted its money, and that it had been put off with promises long enough. Mr. Untermyer said he told Mr. Parsons that he had better accept the proposal, as if he refused some strong parties might step in, pay the loan, and start the refinery running in full.

Mr. Wise here introduced as evidence letters which had passed between Mr. Untermyer, Mr. Havemeyer, and Mr. Parsons.

"My client cannot now pay the loan," wrote Mr. Untermyer, "but can open the refinery on payment of this loan. You will either force my client to the wall or leave him one alternative, to fight and save what he can from the wreck of his property."

The result of this negotiation, it was explained, was that the American company sold part of the Segal collateral, and this threw the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company into bankruptcy, with George H. Earle as receiver. The civil suit was then started against the American Company for triple damages under the Sherman Anti-Trust act, and this was compromised for $2,000,000.

On cross-examination by Mr. Nicoll Mr. Untermyer denied any knowledge of any interest Segal might have had at the time of his connection with him in two other sugar refineries.

The "Cousin David" letters written by David Stetson to Washington B. Thomas, now President of the American Sugar Refining Company, came up again yesterday, and this time Judge Hand permitted Mr. Wise to read them to the jury. In one of them which has been already published Mr. Stetson called the attention of "Dear Wash" to the fact that he and Mr. Segal were both members of the Manufacturers' Club, and that he hoped thereby to get the information required from his own lips. Then he wrote to Mr. Thomas what he had learned about the financial standing of Mr. Segal, and a little later, just before the negotiations for the $1,250,000 loan were seriously begun, he entered into figures as to the condition and capitalization of the refinery.

"The Pennsylvania refinery," he wrote, "from information I have received from most reliable sources I know will not run for months. As I wrote you the cost of the refinery, machinery, &c., to the company as it now stands was $2,500,000, and it is bonded for $3,000,000, with $5,000,000 stock, and Adolph Segal, the promoter, induced Mr. Frank Hipple, President of the Real Estate Company, to underwrite or finance the same. Thus far but few bonds have been placed, although they have been peddled around the Philadelphia and New York markets more than a little."

A little later Stetson wrote to say that the time might not be far distant when the American company would be able to acquire a majority of the Pennsylvania company's stock, and made a bid for the use of his own services.

"When such may be the American Company's desire," he wrote, "if you will give me the opportunity to work the deal for your company, I can serve you as faithfully and well as any one, and make a commission from the present owners of the plant."

Mr. Stetson was in the courtroom while the letters were being read, but was not called to the stand. He was indignant at not having an opportunity to explain how he came by the information he sent to his cousin, as he declared it was not obtained in the club.

George H. Earle, Jr., receiver for the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company during its reorganization, appeared in court after recess. He has been summoned by the Government and will take the stand probably to-day.

Wanted to Explain Loan to Earle.

Among a number of other letters which Mr. Wise put in was one to which the defense objected strongly. It was from Kissel to Mr. Havemeyer, in which he informed the head of the American Company that Mr. Earle, as receiver for the Real Estate Trust Company, the Hipple concern, had asked him to give an account of the $1,250,000 loan transaction, and he would like permission to do so. In the letter he pointed out that Mr. Havemeyer had acknowledged that it was impossible to keep hidden his own connection with the matter, and that Parsons had informed him, Kissel, that he might do what he liked to protect his own interests in the matter. The Government contends that this letter shows that Kissel and the American Company officials were uneasy over their part in the transaction.

Then came the argument over the admission of the report of the stockholders' meeting of the American Sugar Refining Company. In trying to get it in Mr. Wise declared after the jurors had withdrawn:

"When these men voted to take $1,250,000 from the treasury of the American Company for the loan they had absolutely no right to do so. I want to show that when the American Company had to pay $2,000,000 in settlement of the civil suit, the Directors knew the stockholders would sue them for the return of their money, and I want to show how they violated their corporate duties in having this resolution passed.

"They sent out for proxies for the stockholders, not saying what they were wanted for, and then they used them to pass a resolution to indemnify these defendants for any loss the American Company might suffer."

Mr. Beck replied that the money was not taken unlawfully from the treasury, but was used for the best interests of the company, and he succeeded in convincing Judge Hand that this line of evidence was irrelevant.

Mr. Wise then, to show that there was some hope of getting the Philadelphia refinery started without recourse to the American Company, called Mark A. Spellman, who is now President of the reorganized Pennsylvania Company, which is known as the Pennsylvania Sugar Company. He told of negotiations for the supply of $2,000,000 capital to the old company which he had with Mr. Hipple before Mr. Segal and Mr. Kissel began their relations. These negotiations came to nothing.

The day's proceedings closed with the introduction in evidence of a list of the sugar refineries owned or controlled by the American Sugar Refining Company, which had an average output from 1903, the year of the loan, to July 1, 1909, equivalent to 72.43 per cent. of the entire production of sugar in this country.

OPPOSE WIRELESS CONTROL.

Commercial Companies Are Against Bill for Government Regulation.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The Alexander bill for the regulation of wireless telegraphy was referred to-day by the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries to a sub-committee comprising Judge Alexander, Chairman, and Messrs. Ayres, Thayer, Stone, Porter, and Parran, with instructions to consider the objections filed against the measure by the Marconi and other commercial wireless companies.

The bill is strongly urged by officials of the War and Navy Departments and the Department of Commerce and Labor. It seeks to prohibit the operation of apparatus without a Federal license, to be granted by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor and subject to such restrictions as the Secretary may impose.

The Marconi and other wireless companies declare they would not object to such sweeping control over the commercial wireless situation during war, but believe such interference in time of peace would be unwarranted and unjust.

PLAN NEW BOSTON HOTEL.

Whipple Company Negotiating for a Site Assessed at $221,400.

BOSTON, March 21.—Negotiations are believed to be almost completed by the J. Reed Whipple Company for the purchase of the land at the corner of Arlington and Newbury Streets as the site of a new hotel The Boston Young Men's Christian Association acquired the property for its new building, but abandoned the location for one on Huntington Avenue.

The Whipple Company are the owners of the Hotel Touraine, Parker House, and Young's Hotel, and should the deal go through the Back Bay will have another handsome hostelry. The land is assessed for $221,400.

DOUBT BIG ORE FIND.

Pennsylvania Fully Explored, Says Dr. Otis Smith—Survey to Investigate.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The report of a discovery of a large body of high grade iron ore in Fulton County, Penn., comes as a surprise to the members of the United States Geological Survey, and receives no confirmation among scientists in Washington. Dr. George Otis Smith says to-night:

"It is, of course, quite possible that such a discovery has been made, but the weight of probability lies against it. The State of Pennsylvania has been thoroughly explored and all available bodies of ore are believed to be known. Indeed, the work has been regarded as so well done and so nearly completed that the United States Geological Survey has done no work there for years in iron. We continue to work on the coal deposits, but in the matter of iron that is a work left entirely to the State geologists."

Dr. David White, one of the well-known specialists in the survey on iron, said:

"I can imagine that in Pennsylvania there may be regions so little known that such a deposit might exist there. It is true that farmers do not always recognize the value of deposits they may encounter, and the geologist may not have happened to pass that way. I have noticed that there has been some activity in Fulton and Bedford Counties of late in the way of railroad development, and this may account for the discovery. The presence of railroad engineers who have scientific knowledge of mineral deposits may have led to a discovery of a wonderful body of ore in the heart of a State that we have hitherto regarded as trodden over every foot from one end to the other.

"The matter will be speedily investigated, of course, and the truth told. The region is in the line of similar deposits. The character of the ore, if it is there, can be much misrepresented. I am inclined to doubt the statement as to the ore said to be found having the dross burned out. We have known of some occurrences of iron ore in Pennsylvania where it was so thin and so silicious that it was not available commercially, and it may be that some such deposit has been found.

"Ultimately, when the ore bodies of the Southern Appalachian and the Lake Superior regions have been exhausted, we shall return to the thin and silicious ores that have been passed by in Pennsylvania and make use of them."

BEQUESTS FOR EMPLOYES.

Frederick Keppel Left Each One-Tenth of a Year's Salary.

The will of Frederick Keppel of 239 West Seventeenth Street, who died March 7, was filed yesterday in the Surrogate's Court. He was the head of the art firm bearing his name at 4 East Thirty-ninth Street.

Besides bequests to Mrs. Keppel and two sons the will provides that each employe who has been with the firm for three years or more shall get sums equal to one-tenth of his annual salary.

Some of the bequests are to William Macbeth, a foreign partner, $500; to E. F. Nichols, "for faithful services," $1,000; to Max Williams and Frank Quarenghi, $500 each, and to Isidor O. Waters, Walter S. Payne, Kimball Mason, and Charles F. Deder, $200 each.

JAPANESE FLOWER GROUPING.

Miss Averill Tells the Meaning of Simple Arrangements.

The exhibit of the Japan Society on the roof of the Hotel Astor was rearranged to demonstrate flower arrangement yesterday afternoon. Miss Mary Averill talked informally to the society's guests on the details and scope of the simple art of grouping living flowers to harmonize with their surroundings. In order to make the story real, many miniature flower groups were set about the tea room.

Against a gold screen a single branch of pine formed a woodland theme; against an old rose screen some tulips in a bronze water jar conveyed by its outline a color picture of meadow land and, in another group, six simple green arrowhead water lily leaves and a miniature stork perfectly represented Japan's marshland scenery. It was pointed out by the lecturer that the same appreciation of values which has marked Japanese art since the early ages of Japan seems still to be a part of modern Japanese art. Everything, she said, has a purpose and conveys an idea, from the tiny stuffed hummingbird which swings by an invisible wire above some yellow chrysanthemums, to the great electric lighted temple garden lamp, half hidden by paper wisteria blooms.

Commission Men's Bill Passes.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 21—Produce commission men received little consideration in the Assembly to-day when a bill requiring commission merchants to file bonds in $2,000 each with the State Commission of Agriculture was passed by a vote of 79 to 35. The bill was urged by representatives of the farming districts where it is declared the producers have no redress in a legal controversy with the commission men which may be decided in favor of the farmers. The bond is intended to make any judgment in such cases effective.

WOOL BILL TRAP PLANNED FOR TAFT

NOT A CHANGE IN RATES

All Upheld by the Board's Findings, Says Underwood — Declares Veto Delayed Relief for a Year.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Politics was played with a capital P to-day when the Democratic members of the House Ways and Means Committee decided to stand pat on the Underwood bill of 1911 to revise the wool schedule. Instead of abandoning their original position on Schedule K, the Democratic leaders propose to pass, in double quick time next week, the identical bill which Chairman Underwood introduced in the House last Summer and which was passed by that body and sent to the Senate on June 20 without a single amendment.

This is to be the retort of the Democratic leaders to the report of the Tariff Board on the woolen schedule. They insist that the Tariff Board has been a failure; that the report it has made on the single schedule of wool justifies their original prediction that it would be a failure; that the findings of the Tariff Board respecting the difference between the cost of production here and abroad sustains completely the original Underwood rates, and that, therefore, there was no justification for the President's veto of the first Underwood bill, which delayed for a year the relief from the existing rates which Democrats propose to give.

Jubilant over the announcement of Chairman Underwood that he and his colleagues consider themselves sustained by the Tariff Board, the House Democrats insist that the President will be placed between the devil and the deep sea; that he will be conceding the Democratic position to have been correct and himself wrong last Summer if he now signs practically the same bill; that he will be condemned if he vetoes it and postpones reduction for still another year.

Only one report on the tariff has been submitted to Congress by the President from the Tariff Board. It deals with the wool schedule.

Four revenue measures affecting the tariff have been passed this session by the Democrats. None of them was based on data supplied by the Tariff Board. These are the Steel, Chemical, Sugar, and Excise Tax bills. At the opening of the session the President transmitted the Tariff Board report on wool and challenged the Democrats to base their revision of Schedule K on the statistics contained in that document. Instead of tackling the wool rates the Democrats executed what they considered a graceful side step and sent a Steel bill to the Senate. Then they put through the other sections of their tariff programme, schedule by schedule, reserving the Wool bill for use as the capstone of their revision edifice.

Aim to Embarrass Taft.

It is not expected by the Democrats that all five of these revenue measures will get beyond the Senate or reach the President for approval or veto. They will be satisfied if only two of them reach the White House, but seem very anxious that the Wool bill shall be one of them. Already they are predicting that the President will veto the Wool and Woolen Revision bill. They assert that the President cannot sign practically the same bill as the one vetoed last Summer; that if he does he will be admiting he was wrong when he vetoed the Democratic Wool bill, and that if he vetoes the same bill a second time without being able to pass his disapproval upon the lack of a report from the Tariff Board, he will be condemned by the country. This is to be their stock argument for campaign consumption.

The Republican leaders of the House are prepared to meet the issue thus to be precipitated and will challenge the claim of Chairman Underwood and his conferrees that the decision reached to-day is warranted by the showing of the Tariff Board report. The Republican contention will be that the Democratic leaders have done nothing more than reintroduce the "same old bill," that they have deliberately and for purely political reasons closed their eyes to the showing on the wool industry made by the Administration's tariff specialists, and that while the existing rates should be reduced as recommended by President Taft in his recent special message on wool, the rates in the Underwood bill do not measure the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad.

Chairman Underwood asserted to-day that the report of the Tariff Board has been carefully considered by every Democratic member of the committee, and that it convinced him and his associates on the committee that no grounds existed for departure from the rates carried in the original Underwood bill. He said the Democratic tariff leaders do not accept the "reasoning" by which the Tariff Board adduced its deductions as to the difference between the cost of production here and abroad, but will enter the campaign with the conviction that the Democratic position has been justified by the board's report.

On every other Tariff bill, at both the regular and extra sessions, the Democratic leaders have held party caucuses which have made their bills binding upon Democrats in the House. No caucus is to be had on the wool bill because its identical rates have already been ratified by the wool caucus of last Summer. In fact, the report which Mr. Underwood filed with the House last Summer in support of the wool bill is to be used again in support of the bill as again ratified today, but there will be a few pages added dealing with the report of the Tariff Board.

Senate Amendments Omitted.

The original Underwood bill as passed by the House last June and reintroduced to-day, is not, however, the exact one which the President vetoed. The Senate, through a coalition of Democrats and Progressive Republicans, adopted the La Follette rates, and in conference a cross between the Underwood and the La Follette rates was adopted, sent to the President and vetoed.

The Senate amendments have been eliminated in the revived measure, which will be reported to-morrow. It levies 20 per cent. ad valorem duty on raw wool, or a reduction of about 50 per cent. from the duties of the Payne-Aldrich act. The Senate last Summer had increased the raw wool duty to 79 per cent.

The duty on combed wools is fixed at 25 per cent.; yarns, wholly or in part of wool, 30 per cent.; cloths, knit fabrics, felts not woven, and manufactures of wool, 40 per cent.; blankets, flannels, valued above 50 cents a pound, 45 per cent.; women's and children's dress goods, &c., 45 per cent.; ready-made clothing, 45 per cent.; webbings, bandings, boltings, braids, &c., 35 per cent., and carpets, 40, 35, and 30 per cent., according to grade.

ROGERS, PEET A CORPORATION

Firm Reorganized from Partnership Formed in 1874.

The firm of Rogers, Pett • Co. was reorganized yesterday from a partnership into a corporation. The concern is under the same ownership and management. The capital is $6,500,000. One cause of the change was the death recently of W. R. H. Martin, one of the original partners.

Frank R. Chambers, President of the corporation, is the only surviving member of the original partnership, which was formed in 1874. The other officers of the corporation are: Vice President, Edwin Trowbridge Hall; Vice President, Frank S. Turnbull; Secretary and Treasurer, Charles W. Halsey. These officers, with Patrick F. Griffin, Fred W. Joy, and F. C. Osterhout constitute the present Board of Directors.

FOR CITY COLLEGE STADIUM.

Parks Committee Clears Way for Transfer of Jasper Oval.

The Faculty and students of City College heard with pleasure last night of favorable action taken yesterday looking toward the transfer from the Park Department to the City College of the two city blocks known as Jaspar Oval, at 137th Street and Convent Avenue.

A hearing took place before Mayor Gaynor at City Hall on the bill by which the transfer of the two blocks from the Park Department to the college is authorized. No one appeared against the measure at the hearing. A letter from President Charles H. Strong of the City Club urged Mayor Gaynor to approve the bill. The letter in part said:

> We understand that a generous gift of a private citizen will make possible the erection of an athletic stadium, and that although this stadium will be for the exclusive use of students of the city college during certain days of the week, it will on other days during the vacation months be open to the general public, provision being made for suitable control of athletic events by competent persons in the employ of the college.

As soon as the Mayor signs the bill it will pass on to the Sinking Fund Commission before going into effect.

The Parks Advisory Committee also held a meeting. A. H. Spencer, Chairman of the committee, presided, and Messrs. Niles, Bernheimer, Hornaday, Lowrie, Boscowitz, Wiebush, and Kunz were present. By a unanimous vote it was decided not to disapprove the transfer of the oval from the Park Department to the college. Chairman Spencer will write to the Mayor to this effect to-day. The action of the committee was due in part to communications received from the Parks and Playgrounds Association, the Recreation Commission and the City Club.

The value of the land included in the oval is estimated at $500,000. Adolph Lewisohn about a month ago offered to build a $50,000 stadium for athletic games on the property if the transfer be made.

President John H. Finley of City College, who has been planning to acquire the oval from the Park Department for two years, and at whose request Mr. Lewisohn made the $50,000 offer, expressed great pleasure last night on learning of the Parks Advisory Committee's action.

Architectural plans for the stadium have been in the hands of the college authorities for some time. There is a natural grade running from Amsterdam Avenue toward Convent Avenue, and on this slope it is proposed to have seats of cement and stone for from 7,000 to 10,000 people. On the east side of the oval, adjacent to Convent Avenue, there will be room for athletic fields and running tracks, and at the Convent Avenue side it is planned to erect a stage. About the amphitheatre a promenade will be built.

PASS REORGANIZATION BILL.

Measure Gives Service Boards Control Over New Capitalization.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 21.—After a lively debate to-day the Assembly passed the Pollock bill, giving the Public Service Commissions supervision over the capitalization of companies which reorganize after passing through a receivership. This bill was opposed by members who said its effect would be to permit the capitalization of franchises by such reorganized companies, and that public service corporations would reorganize in order to avail themselves of this privilege.

The members of the Public Service Commission declare that the proposed law would not permit the capitalization of franchises, and that the amount of securities to be issued on a "fair return of the property" of a reorganized company is left to the judgment of the commission.

Majority Leader Young and Minority Leader Smith favored the bill, which was designed to meet the decision of the Court of Appeals in the Third Avenue case. Several of the New York City Democrats voted against the bill, but it was approved by a vote of 93 to 22, and it now goes to the Governor.

POTASH IN MOHAVE DESERT.

Government Agents Report Discovery of Millions of Tons.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—A valuable discovery of soluble potash salts has been made in the Mohave desert, Southern California, by field representatives of the Bureau of Soils and the Geological Survey. The potash was found in a partially dried up lake. The Government agents who found it declare there are indications of millions of tons of potash.

Director Smith of the Geological Survey and Chief Whitney of the Bureau of Soils received word to-day of the discovery and immediately wired for details.

The Government bureaus for some time had sought throughout the country for potash, feeling certain a supply would be found. At present the United States and other nations are almost entirely dependent upon Germany for potash. Disagreement between the German "Potash Trust" and American buyers became the subject of diplomatic exchanges which occupied several years and at one time threatened serious complications.

WINSLOW HOMER LEFT $8,767

Appraisal of Noted Painter's Estate Filed with the Surrogate.

Winslow Homer, the noted American painter, who died Sept. 29, 1910, left an estate of $8,767, all in personalty, according to the appraisal filed yesterday in the transfer tax office of the Surrogates' Court by Deputy State Controller Wallace S. Fraser. He had no securities and his personal effects consisted mostly of bank deposits. At one time it was reported that the artist had given up painting because of the large income derived from the sale of his works.

Mr. Homer, who was 80 years old when he died, was born in Boston, where he passed the early part of his life. He contributed at first to magazines and eventually entered the National Academy of Design of this city.

Wisconsin—Fair Friday and Saturday, with slowly rising temperature; moderate westerly winds, becoming variable.

Minnesota and Iowa—Fair Friday and Saturday, with slowly rising temperature.

North Dakota—Fair and warmer Friday. Saturday, fair.

South Dakota, Nebraska, and Kansas—Fair Friday and Saturday, with rising temperature.

1,000 MORE GO OUT IN TEXTILE STRIKE

GINGHAM HANDS QUIT SHOP

Cotton Operators in New Bedford and Fall River Still Hold Out Against Demands.

BOSTON, March 21.—A strike of 1,000 of the 2,300 operatives employed by the Lancaster Gingham Mills in Clinton for a 10 per cent. advance, and similar action by 125 firemen at three mills of the American Woolen Company and the Pemberton Cotton Mills in Lawrence, were the features to-day in the unsettled textile situation in this State.

Another development was the formal settlement of the strike of 1,000 employes of the Barre Wool Combing Company, Ltd., and Mornay Worsted Mills of Barre. All classes of operatives obtain concessions under the agreement ratified this afternoon.

The strike of Thorndike company's 1,000 operatives in the four West Warren cotton mills for higher wages continued and the factories remained closed.

There was little change in the situation at Newton Upper Falls, where the Saco and Pettee cotton mill machine shops are closed because of a strike of 600 employes for an increase of 25 per cent. The strikers are orderly.

The strike of the firemen in Lawrence did not interfere with the operation of the mills, the mill agents engaging other men. The firemen demand a 15 per cent. advance in wages.

The 750 weavers at the Wood mills of the American Woolen Company in Lawrence who struck twice yesterday because of the employment of non-union operatives returned to work to-day.

The cotton manufacturers of New Bedford and Fall River have not indicated whether they will meet the 10 per cent. raise announced yesterday at the Fall River Iron Works Company by B. McD. Borden of New York. The action of Mr. Borden introduced an unexpected element into the operatives' campaign for higher wages, and it is thought that early conferences of mill owners will be held in both cities.

LYNN, Mass., March 21.—Between 125 and 150 McKay machine stitchers, employed in thirty-six Lynn shoe factories, issued notice upon the manufacturers today that unless an increase of two cents a pair is granted to them by Monday they will refuse to work. At present the McKay stitchers are given 10 cents a pair. The joint council of the United Shoe Workers of America have granted the stitchers permission to declare a strike. This means that if the manufacturers should attempt to replace the McKay stitchers or operate their factories without them some 20,000 other employes would probably be involved.

---

LAWRENCE, Mass., March 21.—One hundred firemen employed by the Wood, Ayer, and Washington mills of the American Woolen Company struck to-day for a 15 per cent. advance in wages. The engineers and firemen hastily engaged by the company kept steam in the boilers and the mills continued in operation. All of the 750 weavers at the Wood mills who struck twice yesterday returned to work this morning.

---

FARNUMSVILLE, Mass., March 21.—The Wuskanut Woolen Mills announce that wages will be advanced immediately 5 per cent. The increase affects 250 operatives.

---

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 21.—The Continental and Paragon Worsted Mills in Olneyville have advanced wages 5 per cent. They employ 700 hands.

TRADED ON WIFE'S NAME.

W. P. Landersman Arrested for Obtaining Credit Fraudulently.

Assistant District Attorney Joseph Du-Vivier got word from Newark, N. J., last night that William P. Landersman of that city had been arrested and was awaiting extradition papers on a charge of grand larceny.

The complaint against Landersman is that he obtained $27,385 worth of drygoods from the firms of William Mayer & Co. and Klauber Bros. & Co. through false representations. Landersman, it is alleged, posed as Francis Landersman, and obtained the goods by stating that he ran a drygoods concern at 709 Broad Street, Newark, N. J., and that he was free from debt. Landersman, it is alleged, at no time owned the store in question, as it belonged to his wife, Frances P. Landersman.

All the facts were brought out when Mrs. Landersman went into bankruptcy, and it became known that her husband had signed checks as Francis P. Landersman, and that her creditors had not noticed the difference between Frances and Francis. Of all the goods bought Landersman only paid for $5.274 worth.

PLEADS FOR LAND TAX BILL.

Sullivan Says His Measure Will Help the Poor People.

The subject "Why New York Should Obtain More of Its Revenue by a Higher Tax on Land Values" was discussed last night at a dinner in the Broadway Central Hotel, held under the auspices of the business men's and professional men's committees on halving the tax rate on buildings. The speakers were Joseph Fels, the single tax advocate; Byron W. Holt, and George L. Rusby. A letter from Senator Timothy D. Sullivan, referring to the Sullivan-Brooks bill, was read. In his leter Senator Sullivan said:

> As a business man, I know that taxes upon business are a bad thing for New York City, and will increase cost of living there, while a tax on land values wont. It will merely reduce the unearned income of land owners. As a life-long resident of the east side, I know too that the bill I have introduced to reduce the tax rate on buildings in New York City, will reduce rents and help the poor people who are now paying such high rents. I am doing the best I can to have this bill passed in the Senate and believe it is only just that this should be submitted to a referendum vote next Fall in New York City.

Walter L. Durack, President of the Metropolitan League of Savings and Loan Associations, was introduced as a speaker. He indorsed halving the tax rate on buildings and favored taxing land more heavily.

FOREIGN TRADE OPPORTUNITIES.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The Consular and Trade Report will note the following foreign trade opportunities. Further information regarding these may be obtained by addressing the Bureau of Manufactures, care of the Department of Commerce and Labor, Washington, D. C., giving the number of item referred to:

8,399. AUTOMOBILE SELF-STARTING DEVICE.—A firm of automobile manufacturers in a European country would like to be put in touch with American manufacturers of automobile self-starting devices.

8,400. COTTON WASTE.—An American foreign sales manager received communication from one of his correspondents in France requesting to be placed in touch with American exporters of twisted cloth or cotton waste for wiping and cleaning machines.

8,401. MACHINES FOR MAKING PRESSED WIRE BUCKLES.—An American Consul in a European country reports that a business man in his district desires to communicate with American manufacturers of machines for making pressed wire buckles—that is, machines for making buckles from wire.

8,402. MACHINERY.—A Consul has forwarded a copy of a letter from a business man who requests to be placed in touch with American manufacturers of the following machinery: Outfits for sawmills equipped with frames of modern structure to handle logs up to 21 inches in diameter, to be worked into boards of all kinds, as required by the English market, the logs being fir and pine; full outfits for mills to manufacture matches; equipment for mills to manufacture cord and rope from wood fiber, such fiber being obtained from logs 42 inches long, same being of birch and aspen; the wood is treated chemically, dried, and thin strips torn away by hand (for which machinery is required) to be treated chemically again, after which the fibers are woven and handled as hemp or cotton to suit the further purposes; complete installation of wood pulp mills, complete installation of soda pulp mills for the manufacture of paper of all grades, all classes of water tubular boilers for producing steam to drive steam engines, of especial interest being vertical tubular boilers of the "Cahill" type, and such with coils; all kinds of electrical appliances for the household—for heating, purifying the air, cleaning carpets, clothes, &c.

8,403. REPRESENTATION IN SPANISH COUNTRIES.—An American business firm in a Latin-American Country is desirous of making connections with some American manufacturer looking to the building up of a good business with Spanish countries.

8,404. CAPITAL TO ENLARGE FACTORY.—A Sonsular officer has information that capital is required to enlarge a factory in order to meet the growing demand for the output of the plant. American willing to aid in financing the proposition will be guaranteed favorable results from his investment.

8,405. HARDWARE AND NOVELTIES AND 5 AND 10 CENT GOODS.—A Consul General advises that a member of an important firm in a foreign country dealing in general merchandise and conducting an extensive import business is at present in the United States. He is interested in general hardware, novelties, and articles for 5 and 10 cents stores.

8,406. CALCIUM CARBIDE.—A business firm in Europe desires to receive quotations for supplies of calcium carbide.

8,407. GRAMOPHONES.—A firm in Germany manufacturing and exporting musical instruments desires name and address of an American trade paper for the gramophone branch. Intends to import American talking machines.

8,408. COTTON-FLANNEL BLANKETS.—A firm in a city in the near East desires to receive offers and quotations for cotton-flannel blankets, white and colored.

8,409. DEMAND FOR VARIOUS LINES OF AMERICAN GOODS.—A Consular officer reports a field in different parts of a European country for some of the various articles named below: Light machines for freezing ice in blocks for hotels, private houses, restaurants, and large ships; good roofing paper, soda fountains, kitchen utensils, steel office furniture, wall paper, wind mills, pumps, petrol machines, silos, all kinds of apparatus for supplying water, bathroom equipment, garden tools and shovels, spraying apparatus, drills, and seeding machines, plows, refrigerators, prepared paints, fireless cookers, canoes and steel motor boats, cement packing and paper bags for cement, rocking chairs, household furniture, aluminum goods, letter chutes, nails and screws, axes and hatchets, coffee roasters, machine tools of all kinds, blotting paper, dental chairs, physicians' and barbers' chairs, baseburner stoves of all sizes, fruits and vegetables, fresh and canned; oysters, to be shipped in ice by fast boats; champagne cider in quart and pint bottles, and all kinds of nuts.

8,410. TENDERS FOR BRIDGE.—The Consul at Montevideo reports that tenders for a bridge over the Arapey Grande River are called for.

HOME TRADE OPPORTUNITIES.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Further information regarding the following Home Trade Opportunities, may be obtained by addressing the Bureau of Manufactures, care of the Department of Commerce and Labor, Washington, D. C., giving the number of item referred to:

529. PANAMA CANAL SUPPLIES.—Sealed proposals will be received at the offices of the General Purchasing officer, Isthmian Canal Commission, Washington, D. C., until April 1, for furnishing lumber piles and paving brick. Circular 689.

530. ADDRESSING MACHINES, STENCILS, &c.—Bids are invited by the Division of Accounts and Disbursements, Department of Agriculture, Washington, until March 26 for furnishing to the Bureau of Plant Industry one addressing machine, (automatic feed, including motor,) one sealing machine, (same type,) 200,000 blank stencils for above machine, 600 metal trays for the foregoing stencils, &c. Bidder must send cuts and full descriptive matter.

STEEL RAIL MAKERS MEET RAILWAY MEN

All-Day Conference as to New Standards for the Prevention of Wrecks.

NO CONCLUSION REACHED

Sub-Committee Chosen to Take Up the Question Arising from Faster and Heavier Trains.

Railway representatives and steel rail manufacturers were in session practically all day yesterday, receiving the report of the joint committee appointed in February to go over the situation created by the danger of the existing standards of rails now in use on the railroads, and suggesting remedies.

The conferees gathered first at the rooms of the American Railway Association in Vesey Street, and after luncheon at the Railroad Club in the Terminal Building continued their meeting there. The day's session was inconclusive, resulting merely in a decision to appoint a sub-committee of six, which will take under advisement the data collected and report later.

Daniel Willard, President of the Baltimore & Ohio, presided at the meeting, and the only information of what was done was contained in a statement issued by him after the conference had adjourned. His statement read:

> A meeting of the joint committee heretofore appointed by the railroad companies and manufacturers at the meeting held Feb. 15 was in session during the entire day. A full and frank discussion of the questions relating to the character and wearing qualities of rails was had, and the opinions of experts received and considered.
>
> The questions of mill practice in manufacturing rails and usage of the rails in tracks were discussed, and it was conceded that improvements can and ought to be made by both sides. Every reasonable effort will promptly be made in this direction.
> Important facts were gathered together, and much benefit will be derived as the result of the meeting. Before adjournment a sub-committee of six was appointed, consisting of three representatives of the railroad companies and three representatives of the manufacturers, to consider the whole subject matter and report their conclusions and recommendations at a future meeting of the General Committee to be called by the Chairman.

President Willard represented the railroads at the meeting, and Elbert H. Gary of the United States Steel Corporation the steel rail manufacturers. The meeting was attended by representatives of the several independent companies making steel rails, including the Bethlehem Steel Company, the Lackawanna Steel Company, the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, the Cambria Steel Company, the Pennsylvania Steel Company, and the Inland Steel Company, and the Presidents of such of the United States Steel subsidiaries as turn out this product.

Among the railroad men present were Julius Kruttschnitt, Vice President of the Harriman lines; H. U. Mudge, President of the Rock Island; W. G. Besler, Vice President of the Jersey Central, and Stuyvesant Fish, former President of the Railway Association.

At the morning session several steel men with ideas about what rails ought to be and an inventor who had his pockets full of blue prints of patent rail designs and safety devices tried to get into the session, but without success. There were some evidences that the deliberations were not entirely harmonious. There were perhaps fifty men before the committee at one time or another, and one steel expert came out of the meeting apparently much disturbed in mind. He was mollified by Mr. Gary and told that he would have his hearing later.

The question of improving steel rails to meet the increased strains of heavier and faster traffic has been agitated for five years or more. It was brought to a head in 1907 when, after an epidemic of wrecks such as has disturbed the traveling public this last Winter, the late E. H. Harriman announced publicly that the rail makers were to blame.

A committee was then appointed which went over the problem in much the same way that it is now being treated, and since then some of the railroads have been buying rails made on their own specifications of chemical analysis and conditions of manufacture, paying something more than the standard price of $28 a ton, which has prevailed for the last dozen years, for the privilege. No standard line of improvements has been adopted by the railroads generally, however.

WORSTED RATINE IN FAVOR.

Manufacturers Place Orders for Yarns Required to Make It.

Worsted ratiné will be one of the most popular dress fabrics for Fall, according to a statement made yesterday by a prominent commission man. The popularity of this fabric for the Spring season is causing manufacturers to look at it in a favorable light, and many of them are said to be placing orders with spinners for the special yarns required to make it.

It is a rather loosely woven cloth and requires the use of yarn composed of the finest and longest wool to be had. This necessarily makes the cost of yarns high and adds materially to the selling price of the finished fabric. Experience has shown that when made of inferior yarn or with a cotton warp, garments of worsted ratiné wear poorly and quickly lose their shape. The problem of the manufacturer now is to make the goods properly at a figure that will permit the quoting of prices attractive to the retail buyers.

There is a limited showing of the goods in the market for Fall suitings and cloakings. A fairly good variety of color is offered, including whites and creams. Two-tone effects in a number of pleasing combinations are also shown.

BIG DEMAND FOR HOSIERY.

Buyers in the Market for Some Grades Earlier Than Usual.

There is a heavy demand in the New York market at the present time for sheer hosiery of all kinds. Buyers apparently do not care how thin the material is, providing the places where the greatest amount of wear comes are properly reinforced.

Silk hosiery of all kinds is in high favor and a recent introduction in the market is infants' silk socks in white, pink and blue. There is a wide variety of colors offered in men's hose, in keeping with the vogue for color that will dominate men's wear during the Spring and Summer. There is less color shown in women's hosiery the chief demand being for white, with black and tan also in favor. The demand for white hosiery is particularly heavy. Buyers are said to be in the market for this line earlier than usual, and are covering their needs to the fullest extent possible with the present scarcity of desirable merchandise. Quite a few orders for white half-hose have been received, but a large call for them is not expected.

Advance orders for Fall show a tendency toward heavier weight hosiery, probably due to the severe weather experienced in the Winter.

TRADE BOARD FOR JERSEY.

Committee Named to Draft a Constitution for State Chamber.

The New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce was temporarily organized yesterday afternoon at a meeting held at the Downtown Club, Montgomery and Washington Streets, Jersey City. George H. Viehmann of New Brunswick was temporary Chairman, Charles H. C. Johnson of Passaic, temporary Secretary, and Robert D. Kent of Passaic, temporary Treasurer.

A committee was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws and appoint a Directorate of twenty-five members. The organization will promote the commercial and industrial interests of New Jersey by such methods as are employed by similar bodies.

REV. STEPHEN MERRITT FAILS

Files a Bankruptcy Petition to Stop Burial Company's Suit.

The Rev. Stephen Merritt filed a petition in bankruptcy yesterday to stop the litigation against him in the Supreme Court by the Stephen Merritt Burial and Cremation Company, of which he was formerly President, and Judge Holt granted an order restraining any further proceedings in the suit for a year. The claim in suit is for $7,148 for moneys advanced to him and to others for his account, and has been pending before a referee for several months past. Mr. Merritt's liabilities are $30,897, of which $22,948 are secured. The assets consist of a claim in litigation against the Stephen Merritt Burial and Cremation Company of $3,085 for salary as President; $200,000 stock of that company, held by John E. Hedges and Phinley W. Radcliff, which Mr. Merritt declares belongs to him, value unknown, and a block of stock of that company held by a Mrs. Clark of Chicago as collateral security for a debt of that company, balance estimated at $11,000, value unknown.

Among the creditors are Percy B. Bromfield, $17,448, for loans, of which $5,000 is secured by mortgage on real estate at Nyack, and $12,448 by life insurance policies amounting to $25,000; Mutual Life Insurance Company, $5,500, secured by mortgage on Nyack property; Stephen Merritt Burial and Cremation Company, $7,148, disputed; Manierre & Manierre, $650, for legal services, and Chelsea Division, No. 12, Sons of Temperance, amount unknown; an obligation to pay any deficiency on bond and mortgage held by the society on stable property in New York City, given by the Stephen Merritt Burial Company.

Two other creditors are lawyers, for legal services, amount unknown. Mr. Merritt was President of the Stephen Merritt Burial and Cremation Company up to Aug. 7, 1911, when he was succeeded by P. W. Radcliff.

PREDICTS 16-CENT COPPER.

Adolph Lewisohn Expects an Increased Demand Soon.

Adolph Lewisohn, President of the Miami Copper Company and a Director in other mining and smelting companies, predicted yesterday that copper would soon be selling at 16 cents.

"The copper market," he said, "is in excellent condition. Stocks of the metal everywhere have been greatly reduced and are now very moderate. The advance has been gradual on actual demand. At present the price is firm at 15 cents a pound, and only limited quantities are to be had at that figure. I am of the opinion that when the strike situation in England has clarified, demand for the metal in that country will materially increase. I believe copper will further advance and within a reasonable time reach 16 cents a pound. While it is true that most of the larger producers are making good profits at present prices, yet it must be taken into consideration that good copper mines are very scarce.

"The mill of the Miami Copper Company has about been completed, and the company is producing at the rate of approximately 3,000,000 pounds of copper a month. I am extremely optimistic in regard to the future of this property and of the metal market."

RAW SILK PRICES HOLDING UP

Fair Demand in New York Market for Nearby Deliveries.

The Yokohama raw silk market has quieted down again, according to H. L. Gwalter & Co., 470 Broadway, and while reelers are resisting concessions at present prices, quotations have been shaded about 10 yen per picul on the better grades. Shipments to America for the week total 1,400 bales.

The Canton market reports a better demand and higher prices. Stocks available for American consumption between the present time and the end of the season are very low, amounting to about 2,600 bales. The Shanghai market remains unchanged. Stocks of white silks are low, and there is a steady general demand.

Cable advices from Milan report the market active. Stocks of yellow cocoons are reduced to a minimum, which is not surprising in view of the great falling off of last year's crop of yellow Italian silks. Despite the curtailment of filature production, the supply is nearly exhausted.

The New York market continues with a fair demand for near-by deliveries. Manufacturers are holding back somewhat on forward business because of the existing labor troubles. Prices on the whole are holding their own. Japan silks have been a trifle easier the last day or two, while Canton and Italian raws have advanced.

TO TEST NEW STEPLESS CAR.

Its Interior Like a Launch, with Side Doors Ten Inches Above Street.

A stepless car designed by Frank Hedley, Vice President and General Manager of the New York Railways Company, and J. S. Doyle, Superintendent of car equipment, was put on exhibition yesterday at the company's car barn, Lexington Avenue and Ninety-ninth Street, and will be operated in the course of the next week, probably over the Fifty-ninth Street and Broadway line, by way of giving it a practical test and submitting it to the approval or disapproval of the public.

The new car is constructed with the idea of safety, sanitation and convenience. It is 40 feet 9 inches long as compared with the regular cars, which are 47 feet in length, and seats 51 passengers as against a capacity of 40 people in the present style of cars. It has two side-doors 10 inches above the ground, as compared with the 30-inch level of the cars used at present. The doors are opened automatically when the car stops, and before the car can be started must be closed for the completion of the electric circuit which propels the car. The new car is equipped with pneumatic fenders, which also act automatically in shutting off the circuit from the motor in case a person is struck. Pedestrians are protected from the wheels by a sort of skirt which reaches down within three inches of the rails.

The interior of the car resembles a launch, with large semi-circular seats at either end, in addition to 16 regular double seats. The ventilation and heating of the car are regulated automatically by the number of passengers, whose weight affects the adjustments regulating the air and temperature. The motorman is provided with a complete vestibuled compartment and a comfortable seat.

"The elimination of steps on street cars will be appreciated," said Mr. Hedley, "when it is known that more than 100,000,000 passengers climb in and out of the street cars in New York each year. The stepless car is designed with a view of alleviating the hardships of the traveling public, especially the aged and infirm and the women and children. We shall put the car to a practical test, and if it meets with the approval of the public we shall undertake to equip our lines throughout with this new type."

BERGER TO AID SIBERIANS.

Russian Refugees Appeal to the Milwaukee Congressman.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Appealing to the United States to save them from the horrors of Siberia, Vassily Lichachoff and Feital Kahan, Russian Socialists, ordered deported from Tacoma, Wash., to-day enlisted the aid of Representative Berger of Wisconsin, Socialist.

Mr. Berger took up the matter with the Commissioner of Immigration. The men escaped from the Siberian quicksilver mines, to which they say they were sentenced for political crimes. They were arrested here as dangerous Anarchists. They protest they hold no anarchistic views, but are members of the Socialist Democratic Party of Russia.

Joseph I. Berry a Tax Appraiser.

Joseph I. Berry, former Park Commissioner of the Bronx, was appointed yesterday by the State Controller an appraiser in the Transfer Tax Department of the city, in place of Harvey T. Andrews.

VIRGINIAN R. R. BONDS SOLD.

Syndicate Obtains $25,000,000 Issue Which Will Meet Notes.

A syndicate composed of the National City Bank, Lee, Higginson & Co., and Kissel, Kinnicut & Co., has bought from the Tidewater Company, which controls the Virginian Railway in the interest of the H. H. Rogers estate, $25,000,000 of first mortgage 5 per cent. fifty-year gold bonds of the Virginian company. The principal purpose of the sale is the payment of $17,000,000 of Tidewater Company 6 per cent. notes which have been called for redemption on June 1. Another $1,000,000 of the proceeds will be used for improvements.

The Virginian Railway was conceived and financed by the late H. H. Rogers to furnish a short, low-grade line from Deepwater, West Va., to Hampton Roads. It was built primarily for the haulage of bituminous coal. Except for a section over the Alleghany Mountains the maximum grade of the new line is two-tenths of 1 per cent., making it possible for a single locomotive to pull a train of eighty cars of coal. The road was opened in the Summer of 1909.

The Virginian Company has a total authorized issue of $34,800,000 of first mortgage bonds, all owned by the Tidewater Company, but $9,800,000 are to be exchanged for preferred stock and the bonds canceled, leaving the issue just sold a first mortgage on the entire property, including about $7,000,000 worth of equipment. It is estimated that for the current fiscal year the road will earn about $2,000,000 net with which to pay fixed charges of about $1,350,000. There was a deficit last year of $1,113,000.

CUT STANDARD OIL MELON.

Stock Dividend of 2,900 Per Cent. Announced by Indiana Company.

The melon cutting by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, foreshadowed several weeks ago by the increase in capital stock from $1,000,000 to $30,000,000, was formally announced yesterday in the declaration of a 2,900 per cent. stock dividend, the additional $29,000,000 of capital being thus distributed to stockholders pro rata.

The stock dividend is payable May 15 to stockholders of record April 1. The company's shares on the Curb have had the largest advance of any of those of the formed Standard Oil Company of New Jersey subsidiaries. Yesterday the bid price was $6,100 a share, compared with $3,500 early in the year.

LACE MEN FORM A CLUB.

Want a Social Organization Like the One at St. Gall.

If plans now under way can be successfully carried out, it is said that the New York lace and embroidery market will shortly have a business club similar to the Merchants' Club of St. Gall, Switzerland, which was organized a few years ago by several prominent embroidery manufacturers and importers.

"It is to be hoped that the plans suggested can be brought to a definite head," said an officer of a prominent firm yesterday in discussing the proposed club and its purpose. "There is hardly a trade that suffers more from the lack of social intercourse among its members than this trade does. There are certain factions that are continually at swords' points with one another. No trade can succeed ultimately with that spirit in evidence, and the promotion of good fellowship among us will do a great deal in alleviating difficulties that exist at present. I believe that no matter how fierce the competition may be, if your competitor is socially a good fellow you ought to know it and take every opportunity you can to cultivate his acquaintance. Trade evils will disappear more quickly through the medium of a social club than they will through any amount of argument and suggested remedies at a purely business meeting.

"I believe the majority of men connected with the industry are in favor of the movement and will support the club royally after it becomes an accomplished fact."

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Chemical Glassware Rates of Duty Are Reduced—Other Decisions.

The Board of United States General Appraisers yesterday sustained a contention raised by Theodore H. Gary & Co. Collector Loeb maintained that certain chemical glassware should stand a duty of 60 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 100 of the Tariff act of 1897. The importers claim the goods to be dutiable at 45 per cent. on the value as manufacturers of glass. At the hearing it was made apparent to Judge Sharretts that the importers' claim was well taken. The Collector is reversed and the lower rate claimed by the importers upheld.

The board denied a claim made by Y. Okamaru regarding the classification of mineral water. The importer objected to an assessment of 8 cents a gallon under Paragraph 312 of the present act, and claimed the water to be dutiable at a lower rate under Paragraph 480. In its decision the board says that no testimony has been introduced by the importer tending to substantiate his claim. The protest is accordingly overruled.

TO TRY SHOE MACHINERY MEN

Judge Putnam Denies Petition for Rehearing on Indictment.

BOSTON, March 21.—Judge Putnam of the United States District Court denied to-day the petition of the five officers of the United Shoe Machinery Company for a rehearing on the one count of the indictment charging a monopoly of the shoe machinery trade. This count is the only one of five sustained by Judge Putnam in an opinion handed down by him on March 2, last.

To-day's action of the court means that the next step will be the trial of the case. The five defendants—Sidney W. Winslow, President of the company, and Elmer P. Howe, Edward P. Hurd, George W. Brown, and William Barbour, Directors, pleaded not guilty to the indictment a few days ago, and each was held for trial in bonds of $10,000.

FOR A. O. BROWN'S DISCHARGE

Referee Also Approves Application of S. C. Brown and L. G. Young.

John J. Townsend, referee in bankruptcy, has made a report on the application for discharge from bankruptcy of A. O. Brown & Co., stock brokers, formerly at 30 Broad Street, against whom a petition in bankruptcy was filed on Aug. 27, 1908. He recommends that a discharge be granted to Albert O. Brown, Samuel C. Brown, and Lewis G. Young; that a discharge be denied to Edward F. Buchanan, who died on Dec. 31, 1910, and that Walter R. Whitman be permitted to apply in the future for his discharge.

G. Lee Stout, one of the partners, was granted a discharge on Feb. 14, 1910.

The failure of the firm caused a big sensation at the time. The firm's liabilities were $4,695,930 and nominal assets were $5,228,133.

Senate Passes New Amendment to Give Right of Excess Condemnation.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 21.—Despite that it was defeated at the polls last Fall, the proposed "excess condemnation" amendment to the Constitution was passed by the Senate to-day. Senator Pollock said the form of the amendment had been changed so as to take power out of the hands of referees and confine it to Justices of the Supreme Court. It now applies only to cities, removing the objection which was made to the proposition by rural districts. The effect of the amendment would be to give a city power to condemn more land than is required for a given improvement.

Senators Brackett and Burd thought the plan opened the way to grave abuses, and Senator Cobb held that it was a violation of the due process of law provision of the Federal Constitution. Senator Pollock said that Mayor Gaynor and the Mayors of Schenectady, Utica, and Poughkeepsie were in favor of the amendment.

THE OUTSIDE SECURITIES.

Active Market and Rising Prices in Many Curb Issues.

Heavy trading at rising prices in Lehigh Valley Coal Sales Company was the feature of the Curb market yesterday although there were active markets in a number of the other industrials, notably British American Tobacco. The mining list reported a greater volume of business than in recent weeks, but price movements there were irregular. Coal Sales after opening at 210 rose to 216 and closed at the high level, after transactions of 1,250.

ICE COMPANY CHARGES FAIL

No Proof That American Is Still Doing Business in New York.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 21.—Attorney General Carmody received a report today from Deputy Attorney General McQuaid recommending the dismissal of the charges made by Joseph A. Sheridan of New York City, who alleged that the American Ice Company was still transacting business in New York City in defiance of the court order obtained by Mr. Carmody in May, 1911, forbidding the company to transact business within the State of New York. Mr. Sheridan alleged that the Knickerbocker Ice Company had made a contract with Patrick Quinn in the name of the American Ice Company.

Mr. McQuaid reports that it was proved that this was an old blank contract form of the American Ice Company, printed in 1907, and that by carelessness the words "Knickerbocker Ice Company, successor to," had not been stamped in the contract.

"It is possible," says Mr. McQuaid, "and even probable that the Knickerbocker Ice Company, for the purpose of getting the business formerly transacted by the American Ice Company, did not take the greatest care to bring home to its customers the fact that the American Ice Company had gone out of business and that it had succeeded it."

Electric Vehicle Companies Merge.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 21.—Papers were filed with the Secretary of State at Albany this morning incorporating the Buffalo Electric Vehicle Company, with a capital of $1,000,000, of which $700,000 is common stock and $300,000 preferred. The company is a merger of five Buffalo concerns and is to manufacture electric pleasure and commercial vehicles. The Directors named are W. P. Seipp, W. C. Feuchter, Thomas B. Wheeler, Frank E. Lane, and Marcus A. Alexander.

RAILROADS SHOW DEFICIT.

Bureau Reveals Decreases in Revenue and Increases in Expense.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Heavy decreases in operating revenues from the railroads and still heavier increases in operating expenses are shown for last January in comparison with January a year ago in a bulletin compiled to-day by the Bureau of Railway Economics from data supplied the Inter-State Commerce Commission. The Bureau is an office organized by the great railroads for the collection and dessemination of railroad news.

Official returns for last January received by the Inter-State Commerce Commission up to March 14, covering about 93 per cent. of the steam railway mileage of the country, show that the total operating revenues for that month were $203,143,118, and the operating expenses were $158,911,489. In comparison with January, 1911, this is a decrease of $2,886,149 in operating revenues and an increase of $4,205,871 in operating expenses.

Net operating revenue amounted to $44,231,629, which is less than for January, 1911, by $7,092,020. This is an average decrease of $34 a mile of line for the month, or 15 per cent.; and an average decrease a mile for each day of the month of $1.11, the net operating revenues averaging $6.26 a mile per day in January, 1912, as compared with $7.37 for January, 1911.

The decrease was most serious in the South, where it amounted to 19.4 per cent.; almost as serious in the West, where it amounted to 17.7 per cent.; in the East it was 10.7 per cent. These net operating revenues are gross profits, out of which must come taxes, rentals, interest on bonds, appropriations for betterments, and dividends.

Taxes for January amounted to $9,579,337, an average of $42 a mile. These results for January summarize for all the railways a mile of line for the month as follows: Total operating revenues decreased 2.8 per cent.; operating expenses increasd 1.3 per cent.; net operating revenues decreased 15 per cent.; taxes increased 11.7 per cent.

WOMEN AS SHAREHOLDERS.

With Guardians and Trusts Have 60 Per Cent. of the New Haven Stock.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 21.—Of 22,106 stockholders of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, 13,294, or 60 per cent., are women, trusts, and guardians, according to a new classification of stockholders made public today. On Jan. 1, 1912, there were 1,789,792 shares, of which 547,387 are held in Massachusetts, 533,929 in New York State, 519,239 in Connecticut, 52,426 in Rhode Island, and 136,811 held elsewhere in various places.

There are no important changes since 1910 in the volume of State holdings, except a gain of 2 per cent. in Connecticut, where the holdings include 213,234 shares held by the New England Navigation Company, not reckoned in the percentage. There are 8,698 stockholders who hold 10 shares or less; 8,626 between 10 and 50 shares, 2,295 between 50 and 100 shares, 2,101 between 100 and 500 shares, 216 between 500 and 1,000 shares, and 170 holding 1,000 shares or more.

The average number of shares per stockholder was nearly 61 in 1909 and about 71½ shares in 1910 and 1912.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company Debenture Mortgage Thirty-Year Six Per Cent. Gold Bonds, Secured by an Indenture dated December 15, 1907, Made to The Trust Company of America, Trustee.

Notice of Election to Pay and Redeem.

TO ALL HOLDERS OF THE ABOVE BONDS: Pacific Gas and Electric Company (a corporation existing under the laws of the State of California) has elected to pay and redeem the entire issue of its debenture mortgage thirty-year six per cent. gold bonds (being an issue of bonds of said company secured by an indenture dated December 15, 1907, made by said company to The Trust Company of America, Trustee) at their face value and the accrued interest thereon, such right of redemption having been expressly reserved upon the face of each of said bonds and in said indenture; and said Pacific Gas and Electric Company hereby gives notice that it will on the 15th day of June, 1912, (said day being an interest payment day and having been fixed for such redemption by the Board of Directors of said company), at the office of The Equitable Trust Company of New York, (into which said The Trust Company of America has been merged), in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, redeem all of said bonds, and all outstanding matured coupons, including the coupon to mature June 15, 1912, at their face value respectively, and that the principal of all of said bonds then outstanding together with the interest then due thereon will become due and payable on said 15th day of June, 1912, at the said office of said The Equitable Trust Company of New York. Pacific Gas and Electric Company requires that on said 15th day of June, 1912, or as soon thereafter as may be, said bonds, together with all unmatured coupons thereto belonging, be presented for redemption upon the terms aforesaid, at said office of said The Equitable Trust Company of New York. Interest on all and every of said bonds will cease to accrue on said 15th day of June, 1912. All unpaid matured coupons belonging to any of said bonds, including the coupons maturing on said 15th day of June, 1912, will be paid upon presentation and surrender thereof at the office of said The Equitable Trust Company of New York.

New York, January 22, 1912.

TO HOLDERS OF COMMON STOCK OF THE PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC CO.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company, for the purpose of paying a portion of the cost of new property, reducing the amount of its funded debt, and for other purposes for which its capital may properly be employed, has sold to an underwriting syndicate 30,000 shares of its common stock at $60.00 per share, and has arranged that holders of its common stock will be afforded an opportunity to purchase such stock from the syndicate in the proportion of one share for each ten shares standing of record in their names on the books of the said company at the close of business April 5, 1912. As soon thereafter as possible circulars will be mailed to common stockholders of record on that day, showing the number of such shares that each of such stockholders will be entitled to purchase at the above price. The first installment of 20 per cent. of the purchase price will be payable on or before May 20, 1912, the balance being payable in four equal installments approximately three months apart. Full particulars will be stated in such circulars. All persons who hold common stock not standing of record in their own names who desire to receive such circulars should have such stock transferred in their own names on or before April 5, 1912.

ANOTHER LOAN TO NICARAGUA

Supplementary One of $725,000 Arranged—Fiscal Reform Plan.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The efforts of the United States to evolve a stable and orderly financial system out of the ruinously fluctuating currency that Nicaragua now has seems likely to meet with success. Charles A. Conant, the New York author and banker, who devised a workable financial arrangement for the Philippines, has spent several months studying fiscal conditions in Nicaragua, and, according to reports received from Minister Weitzell, has formed a plan that promises to be satisfactory.

As a temporary expendient a supplementary loan amounting to $725,000, in addition to the loan already agreed on with the American bankers for $1,500,000, has been arranged. The Nicaraguan Assembly this week adopted the plan for the reform of the currency and sanctioned the temporary loan by the American bankers. The entire temporary loan of $2,225,000 will be employed to establish the currency reform and establish a national bank on the lines of the National banking system of the United States, a purpose contemplated in arranging for the larger loan for $15,000,000 from American bankers, which awaits the sanction of the United States Senate.

The action of the Nicaraguan Congress is regarded here as a progressive effort to place the finances of the republic on a solvent and stable basis. The fluctuations of value in Nicaraguan money are such that no one there can tell what a given sum in American money may be worth from day to day.

MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS.

To the Shareholders of The National Nassau Bank of New York:

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Directors of THE NATIONAL NASSAU BANK OF NEW YORK have called a special meeting of the shareholders, to be held on Monday, April 22d, 1912, from eleven o'clock A. M. to 12 o'clock M., to vote upon the following propositions:

(a) To increase the capital stock from five hundred thousand ($500,000) dollars to one million ($1,000,000) dollars.

(b) To increase the par value of the present stock from fifty ($50) dollars to one hundred ($100) dollars.

Upon such increase of capital it is proposed to issue new stock at one hundred and fifty ($150) dollars per share to shareholders of record at the close of business April 19th, 1912, to the amount of one hundred per cent. of the par value of their present holdings. Each holder of two shares of the present stock (par value $50) will be entitled to subscribe for one share of the new stock (par value $100) at one hundred and fifty ($150) dollars per share, payment to be made on or before the 15th day of May, 1912. For the purpose of this meeting the books will be closed from the 19th to the 23d day of April, 1912.

EDWARD EARL, President.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Move Irregularly and Trading Is a Little Less Active.

SOME SHARP GAINS MADE

British Strike Situation Enters New Phase—More Tariff Proposals in Congress.

In a selling movement which followed a further rise in prices in the early trading yesterday several of the leading issues, including United States Steel, Reading, and Union Pacific, receded sufficiently to show net losses for the day, but in other parts of the list there were many issues which made net gains. There was less enthusiasm reflected in the day's movement, although in the special issues the net gains amounted in some instances to considerable figures. Thus Lehigh Valley, although it, in common with nearly all issues, shared in the afternoon's reaction, showed a net gain of 2 points. American Sugar made a similar advance, and American Smelting helped by the showing made in the company's annual report closed at a net improvement of 1½ points. Elsewhere in the list advances and declines were intermingled, the day's results as a whole showing considerable irregularity. There was apparent yesterday a feeling of more caution on the part of some recent buyers of stock than they had displayed at any earlier period of the movement, although among the commission houses there were some whose experience indicated that public interest in the market has been steadily expanding with the rise in prices.

A new phase has been given to the British coal strike situation by the determination of the Opposition in Parliament to fight the passage of the minimum wage law which was to have paved the way for a settlement of the industrial struggle which has been disorganizing the industries of Great Britain since the beginning of this month. The London market was reactionary, but thanks in part to the improved showing made in the weekly return of the Bank of England, consols, which early in the day had declined, recovered their loss. Meanwhile the delay in settling this dispute abroad is increasing the restrictive influence upon British manufacture and commerce. While temporarily, others, including ourselves, are deriving some advantage from this in the shape of increased demands for the output of our own mines the ultimate effect of a prolongation of the industrial struggle in England cannot fail to exert adverse influence, not only on those directly, but also those indirectly affected.

The day's news from Washington contributed its quota of information of interest to the financial community, including the introduction in the House of the same bill for the reduction of the tariff on wool which was the basis of the bill which was passed at the special session of Congress and vetoed by the President. The course, however, which the activities of the opposing parties in Congress have taken since they came together last December has very naturally lessened the belief in the enactment of important measures at this session. This in turn minimizes the interest which the business world and the financial community would otherwise take in such tariff proposals as that embodied in the bill laid before the House yesterday.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Buying on Reactions.

Customers who have hung eagerly over the ticker in the last few days watching the steady advance in stocks have frequently been advised, when they asked as to the advisability of buying a favorite stock, to pick it up on the first reaction. An incident which occurred in one of the brokerage offices yesterday indicates what some investors consider a reaction. After watching a stock advance for several consecutive days to a price 9 points above its selling price at the time that he first inquired as to the wisdom of "taking on" a hundred shares, this man saw it lose ¼ of a point, and at once sought out the manager to say that the reaction for which he had been waiting had made its appearance. He was advised to keep on waiting.

American Can Above Par.

Semi-official denials by interests connected with the American Can Company of any intention to increase the dividend this year have been ineffectual in checking the advances in that stock. Yesterday Can preferred sold at 100⅛, the first sale ever made at above par. The preferred is entitled to its full 7 per cent. dividend and any deficiency accumulated in past years before anything is paid on the common, but the latter also enjoyed an advance yesterday to 18⅛. In the reaction which came in the afternoon both issues receded, so that the net gain in each issue was slight. On the 1st of next month the accumulated unpaid dividends on the preferred stock will amount to 32 per cent. It is now paying 5 per cent. Brokers were pointing out that at par the preferred had discounted an increase in the dividend rate to 7 per cent., but it would be hard to say at what price the stock had also discounted the payment of part of the accumulated dividends.

Better Government Bond Prices.

Sales of United States 3 per cent. bonds of the issue put out last June sold in registered form on the Stock Exchange yesterday at 102⅝. This is a full point advance over the low price at which these bonds have sold in the interval since their issuance. It brings the price above the minimum at which the bonds were allotted on the public subscription. There has of late been a slow forward movement in these bonds, as well as in some other United States Government issues, which has been due in part to the gradual absorption by investors of the 3 per cent. bonds issued last Summer, large blocks of which went to banking syndicates. The recent improvement in part has also been due, however, to purchases made for tax purposes.

Hawley Bonds Down.

The Minneapolis & St. Louis consolidated 5s declined 3½ points yesterday, to 101½. The last previous sale was made at 105 on March 8. This decline served to emphasize the general weakness which has made itself evident in the Hawley issues since the financier's death. The Missouri, Kansas & Texas first 4s, which have been declining fractionally, sold at 95¼ yesterday, making a new low price for that issue this year. The second 4s, the refunding 4s, and the sinking fund 4½s have also made new low records this week.

Stock Market Averages.

The twenty-five leading railroad stocks averaged yesterday, at highest, within a few points of their lowest average on the same day of 1911, when the stock market was steadily declining. The railroad stocks and the industrials both went higher, and in spite of the decline at the end of the day swung, in the whole day's trading, at higher levels. The averages were:

STOCKS OUT OF TOWN

FURTHER GAIN IN COPPERS

The List at Boston Is Strong and Active, with North Butte in Lead.

On the whole, a good exhibition of strength was furnished by yesterday's markets at other cities.

Seaboard Air Line Railway common was the feature of the Baltimore market yesterday. Demand was more active than for several days and the issue sold at 24½, an advance of 1½. The preferred was fractionally higher. There was no explanation for the strength of the shares other than a suggestion that out-of-town interests were accumulating them in anticipation of wider trading in the stocks following their listing on the New York Exchange the latter part of this month.

The Boston copper list was strong and active. North Butte went up to 30½ and was one of the leaders. The other prominent mining stocks were Calumet and Arizona, Amalgamated, Indiana, United States Smelting, Old Dominion, Copper Range, and Lake. There was general easing in late dealings, but the market held active and broad. Sugar rose to 127, the preferred getting to 120⅝. American Telephone reached 148½, receding ⅝ in the afternoon; New Haven hardened to 140. A small lot of Woolen preferred sold up to 94.

American Can preferred sold at par on the Chicago Exchange, and the common, at 18¼, made a new high record for the last eleven years. Booth Fisheries common added almost 3 points to a close at 46⅝, and there was considerable gain in National Biscuit common, Booth preferred, and some others. There was a small sale of Chicago Elevated Railway common at 33, a decline of 2½ points from the last preceding sale. The movement in favor of reopening and extending the "unlisted" department for trading in the stocks of companies that will not make statements of their financial condition favored by some members of the Governing Committee of the Stock Exchange has aroused widespread criticism. Conservative members of the Exchange feel that the letting down of the bars through the revival of an "unlisted department" would be distinctly a step backward.

It was a day of narrow movements, devoid of definite trend, on the Philadelphia Exchange. The widest fluctuations were a drop of 2½ points on the sale of five shares of Westmoreland Coal and a rise of a point in Northern Central. There was a persistent demand for Electric Storage Battery at a small fractional advance. Higher prices for steel products helped sentiment in regard to Cambria Steel, as well as United States Steel, but the movement in the former was sluggish, notwithstanding that the latter reached a new high level for the present swing. A feature of the bond trading was the unusual activity in Inter-State Railways 4s. One block of $35,000 changed hands. The rest of the bond list ruled comparatively quiet.

Buoyancy in the New York market was not reflected in Pittsburgh, where the market was quiet and featureless. Although buying orders were limited, there was again absence of selling stocks. Pure Oil common was again easy. Manufacturers' Light and Heat, which was weak and heavy Wednesday was strong early, but lost the gain. Crucible Steel preferred was moderately stronger. Fireproofing common sold up to 5½ and the preferred reached 27¼.

Yesterday's transactions on the various out-of-town Exchanges as reported to THE NEW YORK TIMES were as follows:

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

The market on the Consolidated Stock Exchange closed under the influence of reactionary tendencies. Profit taking by commission houses had been heavy, and room traders were working for a setback in prices all day. Members of the exchange disposed of some stocks in London before the opening here at advantageous prices. Trading was again on a broad scale, with sales totaling 69,860 shares, distributed over a list of sixty stocks.

Americans Higher in Berlin—They Advance in London, but the Market Reacts in Late Trading.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Friday, March 22.—The London Times in its City article this morning says:

"There was a moderate demand for money yesterday, and the market slightly reduced its indebtedness to the Bank of England. Rates for day-to-day advances and short fixtures were unchanged and discount quotations were steady for most dates. There was a rather less disposition to take three months' bank bills, and the rate for them was a shade higher, owing chiefly to the reduction in private deposits, shown by the bank returns.

"The uncertainty of the labor situation, which the Minimum Wage bill has failed to relieve, tended to make every one more disposed to keep cash in hand. Leading Continental Exchanges were hardly altered, except Berlin, which moved against London. No gold has been ordered here for Argentina, but sooner or later withdrawal for both Buenos Aires and Rio Janeiro are expected.

"Operators in most departments of the Stock Exchange were waiting to see how the labor position shapes, following recent developments, and there was a pause in business. Generally speaking, the tone of the markets was surprisingly good. To some extent, this was due to the better feeling with regard to foreign politics.

"Consols, after being lower, rallied and closed without change, and although there was an all-round decline of home railway stocks, the fall was by no means heavy.

"American shares again had a good market, and the mining sections had a hard and steady appearance.

"Among the industrial securities, Marconi shares came into favor and rose rapidly, some heavy dealings being reported."

LONDON, March 21.—The uncertain political situation and the Minimum Wage bill were responsible for a dull session and a sagging in British securities on the Stock Exchange, as operators are holding off pending further developments.

Consols opened lower, but rallied on the improved Bank of England statement. Specialties continued active and dearer. Marconi, copper, and shipping shares were again leaders, and Peninsular & Oriental stock gained twelve more points. Kaffirs were easy.

American securities opened steady and about unchanged. Light covering caused a gradual advance until the late trading, when the market reacted under realizing and closed easy.

Money, 3@3¼ per cent.

The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 3⅝ per cent.

The rate of discount in the open market for three months' bills is 3½@3⅝ per cent.

Gold premium at Madrid, 7.75; at Lisbon, 10.

The rate of discount of the Bank of Bengal was reduced from 7 to 6 per cent. to-day.

PARIS, March 21.—Prices were steady on the Bourse to-day.

Three per cent. rentes, 93f. 95c. for the account.

Exchange on London, 25f. 24c. for checks.

Private rate of discount, 3¼ per cent.

BERLIN, March 21.—Trading was quiet on the Boerse to-day. Domestic shares closed at irregular price changes, but American securities finished strong and higher.

Exchange on London, 20 marks 45½ pfennigs for checks.

Money, 4¾ per cent.

VERMILYE & CO. LOSE.

Jury Holds Them Responsible for Stock Deposited in 1892.

After a two weeks' trial before Supreme Court Justice Ford a jury handed in a sealed verdict yesterday morning against the old banking firm of Vermilye & Co. whereby the estates of Thomas B. Atkins, B. E. Bates, and Uriah Herrmann were awarded the full value of certain securities deposited for sale with the old Banking House in 1892. Whether the value be fixed at $20,000 or $250,000 it remains with Justice Ford to decide.

The suit was brought by the executors of these estates, through their attorneys, Niles & Johnson of 11 Wall Street, for the alleged breaking of a contract, whereby Vermilye & Co. were to sell the mortgage bonds of the Indianapolis, Decatur & Springfield Railroad, which the plaintiff absorbed in 1892. The failure of the bankers to carry out the agreement made the bonds worthless, whereupon suit was filed for their face value—over $2,500,000.

The defendants in the suit, who were connected with the old banking house, were Donald Mackay, now dead; William A. Read, Latham A. Fish, George D. Mackay, and Edwin D. Trowbridge. Frank Tilford, John E. Risley, and Frank Collins were also mentioned as defendants.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

Walter E. Frew, President of the Corn Exchange Bank, has been elected Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Washington Trust Company.

Francis S. Page has been elected a member of the Stock Exchange. These seats have been posted for transfer: George Crocker to Paul A. H. van Daell, and Siegfried S. Hayman to Walter J. Herzfeld. The last sale of a seat on the Stock Exchange was at $60,000.

Benjamin Strong, Jr., Vice President of the Bankers' Trust Company, has been elected a Director and member of the Executive Committee of the Electric Bond and Share Company. Other members of the committee just elected are Marsden J. Perry, C. A. Coffin, A. C. Bedford, Hindsdill Parsons, and S. Z. Mitchell.

John B. Lunger has been elected Vice President of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, filling a vacancy which has existed since shortly after the death of President Paul Morton. William A. Day, who was then Vice President, was chosen to succeed Mr. Morton. Mr. Lunger has been Vice President of the Travelers' Insurance Company of Hartford.

Alaska Coal Titles Canceled.

SEATTLE, Wash., Mach 21.—Alaska coal land locations known as the Mackey, Dunn, and Kelley groups, were canceled to-day by the Land Office in Juneau, on the ground that the Federal statute requiring that application for patent be made within three years of location has not been complied with. The Dunn group was settled by William L. Dunn and Raymond Brown of Spokane, who were indicted in 1910 by the Federal Grand Jury for alleged fraud.

EUROPE'S BANANA SUPPLY.

Large Shipments to be Made from West Indies.

Bananas are soon to be shipped to Northern Europe in much larger quantities than ever, according to United States Consul S. Listoe, stationed at Rotterdam. Mr. Listoe says the Hamburg-American Steamship Line is in negotiation with the Atlantic Fruit Company of this city, the Hamburg-Kolumbien Bananen Aktien-Gesellschaft of Hamburg, and other ship companies for the establishment of a regular steamship service to carry bananas direct from the West Indies to Rotterdam and Hamburg. It is the intention, Mr. Listoe says, to commence with a monthly, later a weekly, steamer, the first to start this month.

"The fruit will be grown on Hamburg Gesellschaft plantations," Mr. Listoe continues, "the Atlantic Company furnishing no part of the supply. The profits will be divided between the two companies. From Rotterdam it is the intention to supply Holland, Belgium, and the Rhine provinces. The distribution here will be in charge of Wambersie & Zoon, ship brokers, who have established warehouses in the larger cities, whither the bananas are to be expedited by rail in heated or ventilated cars. There will also be erected in Rotterdam a refrigerator warehouse, for which certain German engineering firms have already submitted tenders. American firms wishing to bid on constructing the plants should address the ship-broking firm mentioned. The importation of bananas into the Netherlands has been insignificant, owing to their transshipment via Hull."

Packers' Case to Jury To-day.

CHICAGO, March 21.—The case of the ten Chicago meat packers who have been on trial since Dec. 6 before United States District Judge George A. Carpenter, charged with criminal violation of the Sherman law, is scheduled to go to the jury to-morrow afternoon. The defense closed its case to-day with final arguments to the jury by Attorney M. W. Borders and Attorney John Barton Payne. Special Counsel Pierce Butler will close the case to-morrow for the Government. Judge Carpenter will then instruct the jury.

COMMODITY MARKETS.

Wheat Rallies Late—Other Staples Lower on Weather News.

Wheat was dull and easier, rallying late on some export business. Corn and oats broke on liquidation and less active cash demand. Provisions were lower, with realizing general. Cotton reacts on the promise of more favorable weather conditions. The South sold, with liquidation also credited to leading holders. Nervousness over the foreign labor situation and an easing in the spot situation at some Southern points were other influences.

WHEAT.

The wheat market was narrow most of the day, selling off about midday, but rallied at the close on reports of export business in red Winter wheat for both Antwerp and London. The close was steady, with New York prices showing an advance, but Western prices showed from a slight advance to a slight decline compared with the previous night. The export sales were reported of nine loads of red Winter wheat at New York for immediate shipment and six loads of Manitoba wheat at outports. Foreign markets were very firm, particularly the near positions, and closed at an advance for the day. The strength was credited to scarcity of spot stuff and disappointing quality of the Argentine arrivals. The weather map showed general stormy conditions, accompanied by further snowfall over a greater part of the northern half of the Winter wheat belt. The weather was severe in the Missouri Valley and Northwest, but more moderate conditions are expected within a day or two. Some complaints as to crop conditions were received. The Western demand for cash wheat was rather irregular. Interior receipts of wheat are decreasing a little, in part, the result of the weather condition. While the local market was affected by the demand for export, point was made that with New York May wheat only 5¼c over Chicago, there was no opportunity for export business in Chicago wheat excepting at a further advance in foreign markets or a further decline in the Western markets. Cash wheat was quoted at No. 2 red, $1.07¼, free on board; No. 1 Northern, $1.18⅝, opening of navigation; No. 2 hard Winter, $1.12⅛; No. 1 Manitoba, $1.18¼.

OTHER GRAINS.

CORN—The market was firm at the opening, but quickly reacted, selling down ¾ to 1c per bushel, with quite heavy speculative selling. The market was influenced by reports of very slow cash trade, lower interior cash markets, and there were rumors of further effort to resell export corn at the seaboard. On the other hand, a little export business—about 80,000 bushels—were reported at outports. Western receipts were moderate, due partly to the storm which has recently prevailed through the West. The contract market closed at ⅜ to ½c net decline. Cash corn was quoted No. 2, 74½c, free on board; No. 3, 74c, elevator, export; steamer, 73⅝c.

OATS—The oats market seemed subject to pressure all day and sold down ¾ to ⅞c, rallying a little at the close. Liquidation was active and support was lacking. Weather conditions were severe, but this factor seemed to have been discounted and had very little effect. Receipts were more moderate, the result of the weather conditions. Cash oats was quiet, with standards and No. 3 white quoted at 60c elevator; No. 2 white, 60½c.

PROVISIONS.

Trading in hog products was active, the market showing a general reaction, closing at near the low point. Long stuff came out freely, and there was little support. Live hog receipts were very small, only 54,000. This was due largely to the weather conditions, and hogs were 10 to 30c higher at packing centres.

COTTONSEED OIL.

Prices moved irregularly. There was considerable pressure during the early part of the session, in sympathy with lard and cotton, but in the late afternoon March was bid up to above 5.70c by refining interests. This had a tendency to steady the remainder of the list. Crude was unchanged, quoted at 4.54@4.60c in the Southeast and Texas, and at 4.67c in the valley. Compound lard interests report demand improved for their product, and prices have been advanced the last few days in sympathy with the strength of pure lard.

COTTON.

Predictions of unsettled weather with rain in parts of the eastern belt were offset by expectations of clearing conditions and more seasonable temperatures in other sections. The forecast for rain in many parts of the belt over Wednesday night failed to materialize to an appreciable extent, and these factors served to bring out considerable liquidation yesterday. Opposition reported to the minimum wage law, which was expected to lead to a termination of the British coal dispute, was also a factor.

The South led the selling at various times with foreigners also on that side, and while there was a little buying on the setback credited to bulls, it was the consensus of opinion that these interests have been selling quite freely with the appearance of bullish news. Initial quotations yesterday were practically unchanged from Wednesday's finals, but the trend following was downward, with reactions of from 12 to 15 points, although part of this was regained before the close.

The foreign market was disappointing early probably reflecting the less hopeful labor situation abroad, but just previous to our opening a better tone developed at Liverpool. There were interests expressing the opinion, however, that the rally in the foreign market was brought about principally by energy directed from this side, and the course of values ensuing strengthened the impression that Liverpool quotations had probably been bolstered to secure a more favorable selling level on this side.

Southern spot dispatches were more conflicting and the relative weakness intermittently shown by the New Orleans market colored telegrams from that centre claiming that the spot basis had been reduced about 20 points since last week. Official Southern spot markets were generally unchanged and the local market 10c decline, with middlings 10.55c. Aggressiveness on the bear side is not concerted, however, with the gossip of the bulls to the effect that trade conditions in this country are excellent together with their reiterations that prices at the South, even though lowered slightly, would still be above a parity with the local market, still circulating.

It is the failure of outsiders to enthuse to a significant extent on the long side at present, which has led to a scattered liquidation, and traders are obsessed with the idea that weather conditions will be the overshadowing influence during most of the time, which impels caution. Into sight for to-day is estimated at about 20,000 bales under last week, when the total was 226,000 bales. A year ago there were 90,000 bales reported. Exports continue liberal, and to date aggregate to approximately 8,715,000 bales against 6,561,000 bales a year ago. New York warehouse stocks are given at 140,000 bales, against 184,000 bales at this time, 1911.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

THE HILLSON CONTRACTING COMPANY of Albany and Kinderhook, N. Y., which has two contracts on the State roads in Columbia County, has filed a petition here, with liabilities of $16,394 and nominal assets $9,087. Among the creditors are Howard Hillson, $1,750; M. W. Hillson, $3,829; Standard Oil Company, $2,274; Good Roads Machinery Company, $1,817, and Albany Belting and Supply Company, $612.

GEORGE F. GRAY of 417 West 118th Street, manager of a lumber company, has filed a petition, with liabilities of $3,272 and no assets. Among the creditors are the following hotels: Lafayette, Buffalo, $125; Iroquois, Buffalo, $95; Heublein's, Hartford, $125, and Victoria, New York, $47. He owes $242 to six doctors.

WILLIAM D. SHARPE, tailor, of 6 West Twenty-eighth Street, has filed a petition, with liabilities of $1,027 and no assets.

ATLAS HAT COMPANY.—A petition has been filed against the Atlas Hat Company, manufacturer of hats at 175 Greene Street, by these creditors: Louis Green, $405; Weiss & Sunenshine, $31, and Jacob Feldman, $65. The liabilities are $2,000 and assets $1,000.

WILLIAM W. CONSTAD.—Judge Holt has dismissed the petition filed on Feb. 2 against William W. Constad, manufacturer of furs at 150 West Twenty-fifth Street, on consent of the petitioning creditors. After the petition was filed it was asserted that he was solvent.

ABRAHAM ABRAMS.—Schedules of Abraham Abrams, manufacturer of furs at 11 East Twenty-second Street, show liabilities of $24,845 and nominal assets $27,232. Among the creditors are the Security Bank, $2,000; Katherine Vetter, $6,500; Otto Wagner, $1,796, and Joseph Steiner & Brother, $958.

M. FISHER & CO.—Schedules of M. Fisher & Co., dealers in fruit and produce at 2,011 First Avenue, Harlem Market, show liabilities of $8,082 and nominal assets $2,490. Among the creditors are the Connolly Auction Company, $1,472; New York Produce Exchange Bank, $501, and E. P. Loomis & Co., $451. Samuel Segall, one of the partners, has individual debts of $500.

SAMUEL B. FORMAN.—Schedules of Samuel B. Forman, furs, 147 West Twenty-fifth Street, show liabilities of $1,725 and assets consisting of cash $3,645 in the hands of the receiver, accounts unknown, and a claim against B. Ratkowsky, value unknown.

CHARLES C. COPELAND & CO.—Judge Holt has appointed Arthur P. McKinstry receiver for Charles C. Copeland & Co., cotton goods commission merchants of 69 Worth Street, bond $2,500. The assets consist of cash in bank, $400 and merchandise and accounts, $49,500, on which Sturzberg, Schell & Co. claimed a lien of $47,000. The liabilities are $45,000, more than the amount of the above lien.

CONSOLIDATED PROVISION COMPANY.—Judge Holt has appointed Louis Lande receiver for the Consolidated Provision Company of 80 William Street and 3 Peck Slip, bond $750. The assets are estimated at $1,500.

THE MADRID COMPANY, proprietor of the Cafe Madrid, restaurant at 1,551 and 1,553 Broadway, has been adjudicated bankrupt by Judge Holt, and the case has been sent to John J. Townsend, referee in bankruptcy, at 45 Cedar Street, to take further proceedings. Robert C. Morris, the receiver, has obtained an order from Judge Holt for the sale of the assets, which consist of the furnishings, good will, and lease, at private sale by bids or at public auction. Mr. Morris has already received an offer that will be sufficient to clear off all the encumbrances and yield a substantial sum for the estate.

Out of Town.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, March 21.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy has been filed against George A. Folsom, conducting numerous tea stores in Boston and vicinity, at the instance of three creditors whose claims amount to $634.75. An assignment was made by Folsom on Feb. 14.

A creditors' petition in bankruptcy was filed to-day against the Reid Machine Company of Beverly, by Thomas J. Edwards of Melrose, William H. Williamson of Brookline, and the Chandler, Farquhar Company of Boston. The claims amount to $633.30. It is alleged that on March 6 the company made a general assignment.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Market Shows Signs of Renewed Activity—Investor Pays $150,000 for a West Harlem Corner—Three Deals in East Sixty-second Street—Ogden Estate Sells Bronx Block for Factory Site.

A number of excellent transactions in which the auction market figured prominently lent an active tone to the realty world yesterday.

The west Harlem district, which has shown marked activity during the past couple of weeks, came in for a good share of the day's transactions, important among which was the sale of two six-story apartments on lower Lenox Avenue, the disposal by the Woods estate of the northwest corner of 115th Street and Seventh Avenue, and the announcement that a high-class hotel instead of a department store is to be erected on the site of the old Hotel Winthrop, occupying the block front on the west side of Seventh Avenue between 124th and 125th Streets. Arrangements were made over a year ago by L. M. Blumstein, who has one of the large stores on 125th Street, to lease the property from May 1 next, and plans had actually been prepared for the new building. Mr. Blumstein's views have changed lately, and he has canceled his lease.

The property is owned by Gustavus Sidenberg, and he is going to improve the plot at once with a twelve-story hotel. It will be the first big hotel in the entire Harlem district, a territory which is now without a first-class hostelry. The lower floor will be cut up for stores. Bing & Bing, the operators, have been awarded the contract to erect the building, and it was said yesterday that work in tearing down the old Winthrop, now a Harlem landmark, will begin on May 1. The new structure will have a frontage on Seventh Avenue of 210.10 feet, 64 feet on 124th Street, and 62.6 feet on 125th Street.

The two apartments which changed hands were the Fulton and Hudson Court, six-story structures on the block front on the east side of Lenox Avenue, between 113th and 114th Streets. They were sold by the Rutgers Construction Company, Adelstein & Avrutini, for about $600,000. The houses were erected about two years ago on the site of the old Hotel Balmoral, and each covers a plot 100.11 by 125. The buyer is said to have given in part payment property in the Bronx.

$150,000 for Harlem Corner.

The site of the old Woods mansion at the northwest corner of 115th Street and Seventh Avenue was purchased yesterday for immediate improvement by Albert Sokolski. The plot, which has a frontage of a hundred feet on both the street and avenue, was sold to settle the estate for about $150,000. Mr. Sokolski will break ground at once for the erection of a high-class six-story apartment house from plans by George Pelham.

This immediate section promises to become a miniature "White Way," as several theatre and business buildings are planned for the immediate vicinity. A theatre with a seating capacity of 3,000 people is now being erected on the block immediately east; another new theatre at the corner of 116th Street and Fifth Avenue. The adjoining property, at 116th Street and Seventh Avenue, was sold about a week ago by Adolph Lewisohn to a Western syndicate, which will improve it with a theatre, store, and office building. The transaction of the Woods property was negotiated by the Charles F. Noyes Company, Ronald K. Brown representing the estate.

Three Sales in East 62d Street.

Sixty-second Street figured prominently in the realty transactions yesterday, two parcels being sold at auction for satisfactory prices by Joseph P. Day, while the third deal was a private sale made by Pease & Elliman, being the small 12½-foot residence at 33 East Sixty-second Street sold for Mrs. Effie V. V. Knox to Judson S. Todd. Mr. Todd acquired through the same brokers some time ago the adjoining three houses, 27, 29, and 31, formerly owned by the late W. R. H. Martin. He now controls a frontage of 57 feet and 100.5 deep. The four houses are rented until October, 1913, and when the leases expire Mr. Todd will improve the property.

In the auction room, Pease & Elliman purchased for the 563 Park Avenue Company, owners of the twelve-story apartment on the northeast corner of Sixty-second Street, the three-story dwelling adjoining at 111 East Sixty-second Street for $21,100. The plot is 16 by 66.1. It was purchased to protect the easterly light and air. The house will be altered into small apartments.

Banker Buys $250,000 52d Street House.

One of the largest private residential sales lately made in the Fifth Avenue district below Fifty-ninth Street, where trade has made such rapid invasions, has just been effected in Fifty-second Street, in the sale of the fine residence owned by Mrs. Levi C. Weir, widow of the former President of the Adams Express Company. The house is at 12 East Fifty-second Street, occupying a thirty-foot frontage. It has been held at $250,000, and was bought by Frank B. Keech of the banking firm of Keech, Loew & Co. The property was formerly a part of the old Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum block, and when sold in 1900 to the Barney-Sheldon syndicate was cut up by them and restricted to private dwellings until 1925. The restricted clause led Mr. Keech to acquire the house for his occupancy. Pease & Elliman were the brokers in the transaction.

Astor Estate Leases Big Plot.

The Twenty-Four West Thirty-Third Street Company, composed of Daniel W. Richman, Joseph Ravitch, and Gustavus A. Beyers, has leased from the William Astor estate the plot 150 by 98.9, located at 18 to 28 West Thirty-third Street for a term of twenty years, with renewals.

The lessees will erect on the site a twelve-story and basement fireproof store and loft building, covering the plot, 20 to 28, having a frontage of 125 feet. They will also erect at No. 18 a six-story and basement fireproof building, having a frontage of 25 feet, thus insuring perpetual light on the easterly side of the twelve-story structure on the upper floors.

The building will be completed about Dec. 1 next. Negotiations are pending to lease the twelve-story building to Bawo & Dotter, dealers in glassware at 30 Barclay Street, who contemplate moving uptown. The bond guaranteeing the erection of the buildings was arranged for by the National Surety Company.

The aggregate rental of the property for the first term of twenty years amounts to about $1,300,000. George B. Corsa negotiated the transaction.

Sale on Charles Street.

The Van Alen Chemical Company has purchased from Eleanor Oberender 15 Charles Street, a four-story building, on a lot 22 by 95. The buyers will alter the premises for business purposes. J. Irving Walsh negotiated the sale.

Buys Factory Site in West Bronx.

A large deal in the West Bronx, which will result in the establishment of a big industrial plant, has just been concluded by W. P. Sickley, who sold for the Ogden Estate Company a block of 27 city lots bounded by Commerce Avenue on the south and East 171st Street on the north, and the New York Central tracks on the west. The buyer is Van G. Macomber of Brooklyn. A large factory will be erected at once on the property. The realty transaction represents an investment of about $75,000. The property is just north of High Bridge.

Bronx Sales.

The Normandie Park Company has purchased from Dr. M. Osnato 781 Allerton Avenue, a four-story flat, on a plot 33 by 100, between Wallace and Barnes Avenues. The seller took in exchange a plot at Cranford, N. J.

Matilda Kraft has resold through Alexander Selkin and Nicholas Lopard 1,160 West Farms Road, southeast corner of Bryant Avenue, a two-family house, on plot 36.2 by 78.3 by irregular.

Smith & Phelps have sold for cash the two-story frame dwelling on lot 25 by 118, known as 811 East 180th Street. The purchaser will raise the building one story, and build a store for his own use and occupancy.

Brooklyn.

George Reubel, Jr., has sold for Michael J. and Ellen McGuire 1,444 Pacific Street, between Brooklyn and Kingston Avenues, a four-story apartment house, on a lot 25 by 107. The same broker also sold for the Raddy estate the Towne Theatre, on Illinois Avenue and Court Street, between Cabot and Palmer Avenues, Chicago, Ill. The buyer gives in exchange twelve lots on Albany Avenue and Avenues J, K, and L, Brooklyn; also twenty lots on New Lots Road, Hegeman and Pennsylvania Avenues, and Sheffield Street.

Louis Cowan has sold for Eugene C. Stahn 23, 25, 27, and 29 Grafton Street, near Eastern Parkway, four four-story double flats, each on a lot 20 by 100.

Joseph P. Day has sold for Manhattan Beach Estates a plot, 40 by 100, on the west side of West End Avenue, 180 feet south of Oriental Boulevard; also, a plot of seven lots on the west side of West End Avenue, 280 feet south of Oriental Boulevard. Both of these sales were made to M. Devevos, who will improve the site with a dwelling.

Long Island Sales.

The West Twenty-eighth Street Company has sold to John T. Watson of Flushing a parcel 81 by 127 on the south side of Sanford Avenue, Flushing.

Caroline Henry has sold to William Scheer of Arverne a parcel 100 feet on the south side of Cherry Street and 100 feet on the west side of Wyckoff Avenue, Brooklyn Hills.

George Reubel, Jr., has sold for a client at Hollis, two hollow tile stucco houses on plot 115 by 165 on the west side of Carpenter Avenue, 70 feet south of Hiawatha Street.

Suburban.

The Stripe-Hodges Company has sold the dwelling at 125 Glenwood Avenue, Yonkers, N. Y., to George W. Northridge of Brooklyn for $26,000. The same company has sold a fourteen-acre farm at Darien Conn., to Mrs. Guy Phillips for $14,000.

$110,000 Times Square Lease.

Landay Brothers have leased from the plans a store and basement in the building at the northeast corner of Broadway and Forty-second Street, now being constructed by the Longacre Realty Company, for a term of ten years at an aggregate rental of $110,000. The store is 56 feet from the corner of Broadway. The Taylor-Sherman Company were the brokers in the transaction. This is the third store the same brokers have rented in this building within the past month.

$1,150,000 Fourth Avenue Loft.

Plans have been filed with Building Superintendent Miller for the construction of a twelve-story loft building on the block front on the east side of Fourth Avenue between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth Streets, in the rear of the Sixty-ninth Regiment Armory. It will have a frontage of 197.6 feet on the avenue, 90 feet on Twenty-fifth Sareet, and 120 feet on Twenty-sixth Street.

The façade will be limestone, brick, and terra cotta, in the Gothic style of architecture, and will be equipped with fourteen elevators, seven for passengers and seven for freight. The Armory Holding Company, of which H. S. Robertson is President, is the owner of record. William H. Whittal, architect, has estimated the cost at $1,150,000.

Country Dwellings Leased.

Pease & Elliman have rented for Mrs. Thomas F. White her country place, known as "Hickory Hall," at Cedarhurst, L. I., to Charles Elliot Warren, the Vice President of the Lincoln National Bank; also for Judson Gilbert Hopkins his country house off Highland Road, near the Apawamis Club, at Rye, N. Y., to Livingston Platt for the coming Summer season.

Post & Reese have leased to Joseph W. Harriman for Julius A. Stursberg for a term of years the stone and shingle residence, stable, &c., on about twenty-five acres of land, at Bernardsville, N. J.

Leases.

REFEREES' NOTICES.

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW York.—HATTIE MOSSLER, Plaintiff, against JAMES A. CUNNINGHAM, Defendant.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action and bearing date the 27th day of November, 1911, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the Exchange Salesroom, Nos. 14-16 Vesey Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 27th day of March, 1912, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by Bryan L. Kennelly, auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows: All that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land, with the buildings thereon erected, situate, lying, and being in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, (formerly the Twelfth Ward of the City of New York,) bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point on the southerly side of One Hundred and Sixteenth Street, distant three hundred and thirty-five (335) feet westerly from the corner formed by the intersection of the westerly side of First Avenue and the southerly side of One Hundred and Sixteenth Street; running thence southerly, and partly through the centre of a party wall, one hundred (100) feet and ten (10) inches; thence westerly, and parallel with One Hundred and Sixteenth Street, twenty (20) feet; thence northerly, and parallel again with First Avenue, and partly through the centre of a party wall, One Hundred (100) feet and ten (10) inches to the southerly side of One Hundred and Sixteenth Street, and thence easterly along said last mentioned street, twenty (20) feet to the place of beginning.

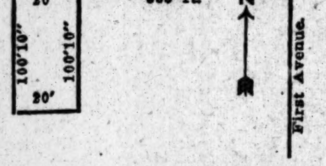
PETER GATENS, Referee.

FIXMAN, LEWIS & SELIGSBERG, Attorneys for Plaintiff, 55 Liberty Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold; its street number is 324 East 116th Street.



The approximate amount of the lien or charge, to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold, is two thousand one hundred sixty-seven and 50-100 ($2,167.50) dollars, with interest thereon from the 27th day of November, 1911, together with costs and allowance amounting to two hundred sixty-one and 45-100 dollars with interest from November 27, 1911, together with the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of the taxes, assessments and water rates, or other liens, which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money, or paid by the referee, is four hundred five and 83-100 dollars and interest. Said premises will be sold subject to a first mortgage for eight thousand dollars and interest from July 1, 1911, at 5% per annum, which mortgage is past due.

Dated New York, March 2, 1912.
PETER GATENS, Referee.

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW York.—FANNIE M. WALLACE, Plaintiff, against JAMES FANTO and others, Defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action and bearing date the 10th day of October, 1911, I, the undersigned, the Referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the Exchange Salesroom, No. 3,156 Third Avenue, in the Borough of the Bronx, City of New York, on the 28th day of March, 1912, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by JOSEPH P. DAY, Auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

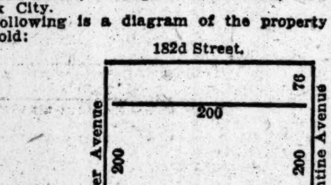
ALL that certain lot, piece or parcel of ground, situate, lying and being in the Borough of the Bronx, City of New York, County and State of New York, being lots numbers Twenty-eight and Twenty-nine, as the same are laid down on a Map, entitled "Map of the south part of the farm belonging to Peter Valentine," situated in the Village of Fordham, Town of West Farms, County of Westchester, New York, made by R. Henwood, Surveyor, dated April 24th, 1852, and filed in the Office of the Register of Westchester County as Map 315, excepting from said lots so much thereof as has been taken by the City of New York for the opening and widening of Ryer and Valentine Avenues, said plot being bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING at a point in the Westerly side of Valentine Avenue as the same now exists where the same intersects the Northerly line of Lot Twenty-eight on said Map, which point is 76 feet more or less south of the Southerly side of 182nd Street; running thence Westerly along the Northerly side of Lot Twenty-eight, two hundred feet to the Easterly side of Ryer Avenue as the same now exists, thence Southerly along the Easterly side of Ryer Avenue two hundred feet to the Southerly side of lot No. Twenty-nine on said Map; thence Easterly along the Southerly side of Lot Twenty-nine two hundred feet to the Westerly side of Valentine Avenue, thence Northerly along the same two hundred feet to the point or place of beginning.

Dated New York, March 5, 1912.
M. JAMES WRIGHT, Referee.

JOHN H. ROGAN, Attorney for Plaintiff, 145 Nassau Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold:



The approximate amount of the lien or charge, to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold, is Twenty-six thousand one hundred and eleven 78-100 ($26,111.78) Dollars, with interest thereon from the 5th day of October, 1911, together with costs and allowance, amounting to Three hundred and forty-five 40-100 ($345.40) Dollars, with interest from October 10th, 1911, together with the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of the taxes, assesments and water rates, or other liens, which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money, or paid by the Referee, is $7,110.28 and interest.

Dated New York, March 5th, 1912.
M. JAMES WRIGHT, Referee.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The Western storm of Wednesday moved rapidly to Southern Pennsylvania during Wednesday night, but all that remained of it Thursday night was along the Middle Atlantic Coast, with much diminished intensity.

General rains and snows continued over the interior East, extending through New England and the Middle Atlantic States. In the West the weather was generally fair.

It is decidedly colder from Texas northeastward, and it continued cold in the northwest, temperatures being very low for the season over this entire area. In the South Atlantic and East Gulf States high temperatures continue.

Snows will continue Friday along the New England Coast, and there will be rains in the South Atlantic States, accompanied by a decided fall in temperature during Friday and Friday night.

Over the remainder of the country the weather will be generally fair Friday, with rising temperature in the West. For Saturday generally fair weather is indicated for all sections, except the Southwest, where it probably will be unsettled.

It will be generally warmer Saturday over the interior.

Winds along the New England and Middle Atlantic Coasts will be moderate north and northwest; South Atlantic Coast, moderate to brisk west and northwest.

Steamships departing Friday for European ports will have moderate north and northwest winds, with snow, followed by clearing weather to the Grand Banks.

FORECASTS FOR TO-DAY AND SATURDAY.

Eastern New York—Cloudy Friday; probably snow in morning in southeast portion. Saturday, fair; moderate north to northwest winds.

Southern New England—Snow Friday morning, followed by fair. Saturday, fair; moderate north and northwest winds.

New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania—Clearing and continued cold Friday. Saturday, fair; moderate north and northwest winds.

Northern New England—Local snows Friday. Saturday, fair; moderate, variable winds.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

| | 1911. | 1912. | | 1911. | 1912. |

Supreme Court Justice Gerard.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

A clerk from the Department of Education went to Albany yesterday as a representative of the Association of Civil Employes of the State of New York to attend the hearing on the compromise bill, which protects civil service employes from unjust removal. This measure, which was agreed upon after many conferences, amends the civil service law of the State. It is known as Assembly Bill 37, and was introduced by Assemblyman James J. Walker. It has been reported favorably by the Committee on Judiciary and placed on the order of second reading. The same bill has been introduced in the Senate by Senator Anthony J. Griffin and is on the order of third reading. It is known as Senate Bill 1,149.

Word was received at the Department of Education Building yesterday that Bill 222, introduced by Assemblyman Colne, had passed the Assembly. It is known as the Teachers' Pension bill. It has been amended so that the contributions shall be 1 per cent. for all persons receiving salaries up to $3,000, and 2 per cent. for all those receiving more than $3,000. These are only two of the changes in the bill which the Brooklyn Class Teachers' Organization is advocating. That organization also wants the following amendments:

Salaries over $5,000 to be taxed 3 per cent.

Where deductions from the annuitants' salary since June 1, 1895, for the maintenance of the retirement fund has been less than 1 per cent. of his salary, a deduction may be made from the payment of his annuity of an amount sufficient to make the total deductions equal to 1 per cent. of the annuitant's salary from May 31, 1895, or, if the annuitant began service after May 31, 1895, from the date of the beginning of service to date upon which retirement takes place.

All persons in the public school system retired under this law are to be treated alike; the Normal College and the City College to be placed on the same basis with the public schools of the city—as to annuities and fines for absences.

The representation on the Board of Retirement for more than 17,000 teachers to be increased from three to five members.

No pension to be greater than half the present salary of the highest paid official.

President Egerton L. Winthrop, Jr., of the Board of Education, and Lyman A. Best, Principal of Public School 108, Linwood Street and Arlington Avenue, Brooklyn, have been reelected Chairman and Secretary, respectively, of the Board of Retirement.

Interview some of the workers who offer their services through The Times advertisements. Write to-day if you need help and make your choice to-morrow.

The High School Men Teachers' Association, at its meeting to-morrow morning at Terrace Garden, 145 East Fifty-eighth Street, will discuss plans to abolish the "Superior Merit" system now enforced by the Board of Examiners.

Raymond L. Ditmars, Curator of the Bronx Zoological Gardens, will talk this evening about snakes at Public School 90, 147th Street, west of Seventh Avenue. He will illustrate his remarks by living specimens of reptiles.

The Board of Superintendents at its meeting yesterday nominated 170 women and 50 men as teachers in the elementary schools. It also nominated 70 teachers in the high schools.

The Kinemacolor Company of America will give before the Arista League of the Sturyvesant High School this afternoon, moving pictures of the coronation of George V. and Queen Mary of Great Britain and of the Durbar. It will also show the birth and evolution of various flowers, and present views of Niagara Falls.

Sealed bids or estimates will be received by the Superintendent of School Buildings at the Department of Education Building until 11 A. M., on March 25, for installing electric equipment, heating, and ventilating apparatus and temperature regulation in new Public School 47, at the southerly side of Randolph Avenue, between St. Lawrence and Beach Avenues, the Bronx. The installation of the heating and ventilating apparatus will cost $46,000, and the installation of temperature regulation $4,600. These expenditures have received the approval of the Board of Estimate.

JUROR'S ACT ENDS HOTEL ASTOR SUIT

FAVISHES WILL GET $3,000

Husband and Wife Who Were Ejected from the Hotel Say Verdict Satisfies Them.

The crowd which gathered in Supreme Court Justice Erlanger's court room yesterday afternoon to hear the end of the suit brought by Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Favish of Birmingham, Alabama, against the Hotel Astor for forcible eviction, soon became aware that something was wrong. Justice Erlanger had called the counsel and Mr. Favish to his side and was engaged in consultation with them, while the jury sat in the box, waiting for Nathan A. Levy, counsel for Mr. Favish, to continue his summing-up.

Great interest had been aroused by the complaint of the Favishes that they had been put out of the hotel at 2 o'clock in the morning of May 8, 1910, on the charge that they were not man and wife, in spite of the fact that Mrs. Favish was ill and had come North especially for medical treatment. As soon as Justice Erlanger had finished his consultation with the lawyers yesterday, he instructed the jury to return a verdict of $3,000 for the plaintiffs, by consent of both sides. Justice Erlanger, after a pause, spoke again.

"Will juryman 6 please rise?" he asked. Fritz Wendell, an old man, who had said he was a real estate dealer, rose from his seat and was ordered to the bar before the Justice.

"Mr. Wendell," said the Justice, "it is on your account that this case has been discontinued. You are accused of having had a conversation during the lunch hour with one of the witnesses for the defense. Is that true?"

"Yes, your Honor," the juror said. "I noticed that one of the witnesses was an old friend of mine whom I hadn't seen in twenty years. I just went up to him and asked him if he didn't recognize me. As soon as he had, I went away."

"But you are accused," continued the Court, "of having asked this witness, who is an employe of the Hotel Astor, what there would be in it for you, if you held out against any judgment for the plaintiff."

"Oh, that is not true,—I only wanted him to recognize me. There was no such proposal!" the juror exclaimed nervously.

"Is Frederick Berghard in the room?" asked the Justice, and in a minute Berghard, who is a night clerk at the Hotel Astor, was at Wendell's side before the court.

"Tell your story," Justice Erlanger said.

"This man followed me," Berghard said, "into an empty room and then came up to me and asked me if I didn't recognize him. I said I did, but told him not to shake hands with me as I was a witness in the case where he was sitting as a juror. 'Oh, that is all right,' he answered me and then, speaking in German, he asked me: 'What is there in it for me, if I hold out against a judgment?'"

When Berghard had finished his story, Wendell turned to him and said: "How can you say such a thing?"

"Because, I must tell the truth," replied the witness.

"And I believe implicitly that this accusation is the truth," put in Justice Erlanger. "I have not the least doubt as to your guilt, and by rights I should send you to prison for what you have done. But I am the most lenient Justice in this County, I know, and I confess I haven't the heart to punish an old man like yourself. You may rest assured, however, that any other Judge would have had you summarily punished for what you have done. In view of your age, I shall only ask you to apologize to me and to the jury for your act and I shall order the clerk to strike your name off from further jury duty in my court."

Mr. Levy, counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Favish, thereupon expressed his thanks to Jabish Holmes, counsel for the Hotel Astor, for having brought the matter to the Court's attention when he might have remained silent.

It developed that Mr. Favish, the plaintiff, had seen Wendell accost Berghard in the hall and had immediately informed his counsel and Mr. Holmes. Mr. Holmes thereupon sought out Berghard and learned from him exactly what the German conversation had been. Not knowing how to act in the matter, he had called upon Justices Dugro and Hotchkiss in their chambers and asked for their advice.

"Call in the counsel for the other side and then present the case to Justice Erlanger," they had said, so that when court convened again at 2 o'clock, the matter was immediately brought to the Court's attention.

"I wish to compliment the counsel for the defense in this matter," said the Justice in conclusion. "They might easily have waited for the end of the trial and, if the verdict had been adverse, declared a mistrial, thereby costing the county another week of time and many more thousands of dollars in money."

Mr. Favish and his wife, who came North for the trial, said they were well satisfied with the result.

DEFINES MARITAL DUTY.

Husbands and Wives Should Not Make Bickerings Cause of a Suit.

Justice Blackmar of the Supreme Court of Brooklyn, spoke his mind yesterday on the duties of husbands and wives to each other, even under trying circumstances, when an application for alimony and counsel fees was made to him by Mrs. Madeline J. Hobbs of 265 Union Street, pending the disposition of her separation suit against her husband, R. A. Mansfield Hobbs, a lawyer of 52 Wall Street, Manhattan. Justice Blackmar reluctantly granted the woman $20 a week alimony and $250 counsel fees. He said he did so because she was in ill health.

The Justice said that ordinary bickerings and quarrels should not be made the basis of a separation suit between life partners, "who take each other for better or worse."

"The cruel treatment which justifies separation is usually physical violence or such words or conduct as to outrage the feelings and humiliate and degrade," said the Court.

"Her complaint," he continued, referring to Mrs. Hobbs, "against her husband, charges him with neglect, unkindness of speech and manner and failure to provide as she thinks he should. Usually the law will not act on such charges as grounds for a separation. If the wife is ill and suffering from physical ailment it is the duty of the husband to be more kind, forbearing and considerate. Conduct which would be only thoughtless or unkind to a wife in good health may be cruel to one who is ill."

Mr. and Mrs. Hobbs lived at Freeport, L. I., last Summer. She is suffering from partial paralysis. From her story it appears that her sister, Mrs. Irene Peterson, is responsible for her unhappy relations with her husband. Mrs. Peterson went to Freeport to take care of her. Soon afterward, Mrs. Hobbs said that her husband ceased his attentions to her and turned them to her sister. He bought an automobile, she says, and "tuned up" his motor boat and devoted a great deal of his spare time to Mrs. Peterson. She is married, the plaintiff said, but has not lived with her husband for the last few years. She has two children of her own.

Mr. Hobbs replied to the charges of his wife, stating that his mother-in-law caused the disruption of his home, and Mrs. Peterson joins in an affidavit, in which she complains of the quarrelsome disposition of her mother.

HURT DODGING DREAM AUTO.

Pittsburgh Railroad Man Jumps from Window in Sleep to Escape It.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, March 21.—A dream of his narrow escape from death several hours previously may prove fatal to John H. McAdoo, aged 50, General Agent of the Hawley Railroad lines in this city. He lies in a critical condition to-night in the South Side Hospital with a lacerated scalp and broken hip and leg sustained in falling to the pavement from his bedroom window while asleep.

Mr. McAdoo, who is one of the most widely known railroad men in Pittsburgh, was crossing Fifth Avenue yesterday afternoon when an automobile warning behind him caused him to jump suddenly. His activity saved him, the machine merely grazing his coat, but when he reached his office he was suffering from severe nervous shock.

He retired at his usual hour, but arose once from a troubled sleep. This is the last he remembers beyond dreaming that a big touring car was bearing down upon him. In his nightmare he remembers jumping in a desperate effort to save his life. Physicians suppose that Mr. McAdoo was walking in his sleep while dreaming, and unconsciously raised his window and jumped out. He was picked up by a policeman who heard his fall, and was hastened to the hospital.

Mr. McAdoo was formerly General Agent of the Chicago & Alton and the Toledo, St. Louis & Western Railroads in this territory.

WHY THE WATER LOOKS DIRTY

Fine Silt Settles in Reservoirs, Says Commissioner Thompson.

Commissioner Thompson explained yesterday the reason for the muddy appearance of the city's water. He said:

"On the Croton Watershed there are large areas in which the soil has been broken up and pulverized into fine silt or topsoil by cultivation. This fine material, settled in the bottom of the reservoirs, is exposed to the action of the water when the reservoirs are low, and, carried in suspension, gives to the water its muddy appearance. It makes it offensive to the eye and unsatisfactory for domestic use. This has been the case for the last few months, and the condition has been aggravated by the extreme cold weather, which froze the ground.

"The warm, heavy rain loosened the surface of the soil, but could not soak into the ground, owing to the frost, and rapidly flowed to the streams, carrying with it the fine topsoil. The extent of this heavy deposit may be explained by stating that as the result of the heavy rains on Tuesday and Thursday of last week nearly 15,000,000,000 gallons of water reached the Croton Reservoir, or enough to supply Manhattan and the Bronx for about two months."

Even in its present condition, he said, it is no worse than the water which for many years has been regularly supplied to many large cities of the country. It is actually superior to that supplied to New York in previous years, he said, owing to regular, systematic treatment with hypochlorite of lime. The new filtration plant, he added, would be completed within three years, and then the city would have one of the finest water supplies in the world.

Call Former New York Rector.

LOWELL, Mass., March 21.—The Rev. Appleton Grannis of New York has accepted a call to St. Anne's Episcopal Church, this city, to succeed the late rector, the Rev. Dr. A. St. John Chambre. The Rev. Mr. Grannis was formerly rector of the Church of the Holy Apostles, New York, and assistant at Trinity Church, Boston.

To Dine Alderman Folks.

A beefsteak dinner will be tendered to Alderman Folks by friends and taxpayers in Yorkville at Turn Hall, on Saturday evening, March 30. The subject of local improvements will be discussed, and among the speakers expected are Park Commissioner Stover, Charles H. Schmelle, President of the Eighty-sixth Street Crosstown Association, and Borough President McAneny.

TRUCE AGREED TO BY FURNISS HEIRS

Amicable Settlement of Dispute Over $40,000,000 Estate Will Probably Be Reached.

LAWYERS GETTING TOGETHER

Reversionary Heirs to be Provided For at Once—Trust Co. as Temporary Administrator.

Steps toward the compromise of conflicting claims over the estate of William Ponsonby Furniss were taken yesterday and will probably prevent the $40,000,000 estate of the West Indian merchant from being the subject of lengthy litigation.

A motion on the calendar of the Surrogates' Court for to-day on behalf of the reversionary heirs, calling for the appointment of a temporary administrator, will not be argued. The motion has been adjourned for one week by consent of Davies, Auerbach, Cornell & Barry, attorneys for the reversionary heirs, and Lord, Day & Lord, attorneys for Miss Clementina Furniss and Mrs. Margaret E. Zimmerman, the surviving beneficiaries of trusts created by Mr. Furniss for his children.

The week's delay is expected to result in some amicable agreement, by which Mrs. Zimmerman and Miss Clementina Furniss, who occupy the house at 280 Madison Avenue, will approve the trustee appointed to succeed their sister, Miss Sophia R. C. Furniss, whose death, leaving the trusteeship of the great estate unfilled, precipitated the present dispute.

One of the terms of this agreement, it is said, will be a provision that Miss Grace Livingston Furniss, the authoress and granddaughter of Mr. Furniss; William P. Furniss, 2d, her brother, and Clinton Challet Furniss, a great-grandson, shall receive either lump sums to be deducted later from their reversionary share in the estate, or else an allowance of income from it. It is urged in behalf of such an arrangement that they will ultimately receive the whole estate, and that Mrs. Zimmerman, who is eighty years old, and Miss Clementina Furniss, who is 75 years old, cannot possibly use the entire income of the great estate.

The agreement of the attorneys for the two trust beneficiaries to enter into compromise negotiations as indicated by the agreement to postpone argument on the motion is a change from their previous attitude. For a month after the death of Miss Sophia R. C. Furniss, the last trustee under her father's will, no information was forthcoming as to whether or not she had left a will or whether it would be filed here or at Lenox, Mass., where the three women had a Summer home.

Mrs. Zimmerman is bedridden, according to a statement made at her home yesterday, and Miss Clementina Furniss also had to be served by substitution in the proceedings for the appointment of a temporary administrator. The temporary administrator of the trust estate will probably be some trust company. The Knickerbocker Trust Company was originally suggested by the reversionary heirs, but now that a compromise is about to be consummated it is considered possible that some other trust company may be agreed upon.

The Furniss fortune was amassed originally in the West Indian trade by sailing vessels out of Portsmouth, N. H. It amounted to but $1,000,000 when Mr. Furniss, its founder, died in 1871. Its great increase was due to the inflation of New York realty values by augmentation of population. Mr. Furniss bought New York realty for investment. One of his holdings was six blocks in Riverside Drive, now built up with apartment houses.

DIX PARDONS C. H. WRIGHT.

He Was Sentenced a Year Ago for Killing Bruno in Subway Station.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 21.—Gov. Dix to-day granted a pardon to Charles H. Wright of Elizabeth, N. J., who shot and killed Luigi Bruno in New York on Sept. 30, 1910. He pleaded guilty on March 23, 1911, to the charge of manslaughter in the second degree, and was sentenced by Judge Joseph F. Mulqueen of the Court of General Sessions to serve not less than two years nor more than seven years and six months.

Wright said he shot Luigi in self-defense, alleging that Bruno and four fellow-countrymen attempted to assault him in the Forty-second Street Subway station.

Judge Mulqueen and District Attorney Whitman joined in the request for the pardon.

MISS GOULD MAKES DENIAL.

Not Making a Tour of Inspection Over the Gould Railways.

On behalf of Miss Helen Gould there was issued yesterday a formal denial of the report telegraphed from St. Louis and San Francisco to the effect that she was making a tour of inspection of the Missouri Pacific and Western Pacific for the purpose of ascertaining if the roads are being operated and financed according to her own liking, and with a view to putting her personal fortune into the development of these properties.

Miss Gould is traveling over some of these roads and expects to go to the coast. Her one object, however, is said to be in the interest of the Y. M. C. A. work in which she is engaged. Her Y. M. C. A. secretary is with her.

GIRL STUDENT TELLS STORY.

Takes Witness Stand in Suit Against Chicago University Dean.

CHICAGO, March 21.—For several hours to-day in Judge Pomeroy's court Miss Esther Mercy, a former student of the University of Chicago, who is suing Dean Marion Talbot for $100,000 for alleged defamation of character, underwent a severe cross-examination. She will resume her testimony to-morrow.

At times to-day Miss Mercy's answers to questions were heated, especially when reference was made to her fiancé, Warren E. Reynolds, who gave her a hat that was worth $250. The alleged theft of a pompom from this hat started a quarrel that ended in Miss Mercy's expulsion from the university. Miss Mercy said she learned shortly after she met Reynolds that he was a married man.

"We expect to prove," said the attorney representing Dean Talbot, "that her veracity is worth nothing and that because of this she was discharged from the university. We will attempt to show that her general character was such that she was unfit for the university. We are not trying to prove she was immoral."

A letter from President Harry Pratt Judson to the registrar of Northwestern University, where Miss Mercy was refused admittance after she left the University of Chicago, was introduced. It read:

> Dear Sir—Miss Esther Mercy is a regularly matriculated student in the University of Chicago. She has not been permitted to register in the university for reasons that have no direct bearing on her scholastic standing, but her truthfulness has been seriously called into question. Yours very truly,
>
> HARRY PRATT JUDSON.

Miss Mercy told of her visit to the office of President Judson after charges had been made against her by Miss Talbot.

"I said, for God's sake can't you help me out?" she testified.

"What did the President say?" was asked.

"He told me he was too busy to listen to me."

CRIMINAL COURTS NOW SAFE.

Steel Arches Now in Place and Wooden Props Are Removed.

Workmen who for the last two months have been putting steel arches in the Criminal Court Building, which started to collapse several years ago and has been gradually sinking ever since, removed the last timbers which were put in to prop up the building yesterday.

All the stone arches which cracked are now supported by heavy steel arches which are so placed as to escape a casual glance. E. P. Goodrich, the consulting engineer in charge of the work, said yesterday:

"Cracks will probably appear from time to time on the outside walls of the building or in the inner walls of the courtrooms. This is unavoidable on account of the gradual settling of the building, but it does not mean that it is unsafe or in danger of falling. There is only one way to have a really satisfactory Criminal Court Building, and that is to tear down the one we have now and build a new one."

Borough President McAneny has already presented a plan for a new building to the Board of Estimate.

THAW AGAIN SEEKS FREEDOM.

Renewed Legal Action to be Taken for His Release from Matteawan.

Preparations are going on for a renewed effort to procure the release of Harry K. Thaw from the State Hospital of the Criminal Insane at Matteawan. Clarence J. Shearn of 140 Nassau Street, attorney for Thaw, said yesterday that he would soon be ready to begin the fight for his client's liberty, but would not say just when the move was to be made.

Thaw has been examined by three alienists, and their report is now in the hands of Mr. Shearn. They are Dr. Adolph Meyer of Johns Hopkins University, who testified in the proceedings before Justice Mills at White Plains in 1909, when Thaw failed to obtain his release; Dr. Charles K. Mills, Professor of Neurology at the University of Pennsylvania, and Dr. Frederick Peterson of this city.

Dr. Meyer testified that he had seen Thaw five times and made a scientific study of him. He says he believes Thaw to be of sound mind.

DEATH IN HIS WINE, THEY SAY

Authorities Accuse Milanese of Substituting Wood Alcohol.

Deputy United States Marshals Gilday and McAneny started out yesterday to arrest Albert Milanese on a charge of violating the Federal pure food laws in his business as the Lucca Importing Company, which he carried on at 58 Leroy Street. They found him in a saloon at 171 Thompson Street and served the warrant on him. As they did so a crowd of Italians, who were drinking in the place, closed around them. In a minute the Marshals were fighting against heavy odds, but they clung to their prisoner and got out.

The complaint against Milanese was made by John M. Boteler, President of the Trademark Company. He charges that Milanese and his partner in the Lucca Importing Company conspired to ship from the Leroy Street store to 7 Monroe Street, Hoboken, bottles supposed to contain wines and liquors, but really holding wood alcohol. The bottles had originally held good wines, but the liquor substituted for these was poisonous.

Milanese was arraigned before Commissioner Gilchrist, and there Assistant District Attorney Boyle and Mr. Boteler said that the Government had its attention called to the Lucca Importing Company by the Coroner's office relative to a woman named Maccagni, who died recently at her home, 118 Thompson Street. She had been drinking some of the Lucca Importing Company's liquors, they asserted, shortly before she died, and it was supposed that the wood alcohol had killed her. A man at Horton, West Va., they said, had also died after drinking the same stuff, and two other men at Horton are dangerously ill in a hospital.

Milanese was committed to the Tombs in default of $5,000 bail for examination on April 1.

"Beautiful $25 Spring Suits at $15"—Moe Levy

My Spring showing of these wonderful $15 clothes surpasses my previous best efforts. I'll show you a variety of styles and patterns such as could only be seen in a wholesale manufacturer's show room, and I'll guarantee you a value such as can't be duplicated by the regular retailer for less than $25. My unique position in the clothing trade as a manufacturer selling clothes at retail—my unusual facilities with workshops and store combined—my very low rental, because of my location on Walker Street, permits me to sell you a single suit at the actual wholesale price. I save you the regular retailer's profit, or at least one-third of your clothes money.

If you are going to buy a Spring suit, as you no doubt will, don't decide before you see my unusual showing of garments. When you come here you'll say, like thousands of others—"It pays to come to Walker Street for your clothes."

Some $20, $25 and $30 Overcoats at $12.50

For the man who doesn't buy clothes by seasons, but must be guided by the greatest economy in his purchases, I offer a very good choice of medium and heavy weight Overcoats and Suits at $12.50 that represent double value at the price. There is a great selection of patterns and styles.

Light Weight Apparel
Popular Because It Has Many Advantages
Browning, King & Co
Men who are buying light-weight attire earlier than usual this season are doing so partly because they want to be the first to appear in the new clothes and more particularly because light-weight clothing in the early Spring gives one such a sense of ease and comfort. Wear as light a suit as you please and meet the weather conditions from day to day with a light-weight top coat. We have various styles and weights to meet every requirement.
